Senate Told River Will Be A 'Cesspool' In Six Years

Six Million Dollars Necessary to Check Pollution, Sewage, Plant Head Warns

By Thomas Winship
Post Reporter

In six years the Potomac River from Hains Point to Fort Foote will become a "cesspool" unless more than a million dollars is spent annually on antipollution measures, a Senate Appropriations Subcommittee was warned late yesterday.

Ralph E. Fuhrman, superintendent of the District's overworked Sewage Treatment Plant, said failure to launch immediately a plan to lessen the pollution in the river also will mean "even casual contact with the river water will be dangerous to human beings."

The river's filth downstream from Hains Point, he said, is presently "so serious" that higher forms of aquatic life are destroyed during the summer and "its waters are a serious threat to the health and welfare of our people."

Six Millions Needed

Fuhrman estimated at least a six-million-dollar outlay is required to "stop the present degradation of sanitary conditions."

"Unless we are allowed a rate of expenditure of greater than one million a year," he stressed, "it will take at least six years to stop the pollution. And I'm afraid by that time the river will become a cesspool."

The testimony was offered in support of a $700,000 item to equip the sewage plant for converting moist sludge to salable dry fertilizer.

Construction of these facilities were described as "the first step of a comprehensive plan to lighten the river's pollution load."

The requested sewage item was strongly pushed because it has been reported the House Appropriations Subcommittee last month made deep slashes into the District's proposed spending program for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Fuhrman was one of the last District officials testifying before the Senate group on the city's 119-million dollar budget for the 1951 fiscal year.

Citizen witnesses will be heard today, starting at 10 a. m. in room F-82 at the Capitol.

Fuhrman explained further treatment to remove pollution cannot be considered until sludge can be dried and readily disposed of. Sludge is now sent to the Lorton Reformatory where a 200,000 pile of it has become a 'nuisance and menace" to the Virginia community, he said.

The subcommittee, headed by Senator Lister Hill (D., Ala.), also

Mitsue Bows to Emancipator, Likens Monument to Fujiyama

By Bill Brinkley
Post Reporter

Mitsue Shigeno, just in from Japan to marry the American who battled a special bill through Congress to get her here, went sightseeing in her kimono here yesterday. Washington has seldom been sight-seen as she sight-saw it.

Cameramen who had taken Mitsue to the Lincoln Memorial for the Form 1-A shot were startled suddenly to see her execute a bow toward the great shrine.

A lovely thing it was to see, done with a grace past telling—the traditional sign of respect given shrines in Japan.

"Fuji! Like . . . a . . . Fuji."

Mitsue, 24, who left Tokyo this week, put on ten layers of silk to see the town with the American she'll marry Sunday, 49-year-old Carrol Klotzbach.

Before they left the house at 1455 Belmont st. nw., the phone was flooded with offers of saki for the Japanese ceremony which will be held in the home following the Christian one at All Souls' Church.

Flood of Saki in Prospect

Carroll had combed the town for the Japanese wine, found none, was in despair—what is such a ceremony without saki?

The newspaper mentioned this sad state of affairs. The number of responding calls guaranteed that Belmont st. will virtually flow with saki Sunday.

Brightened by the saki news,

Neely Bill Would Raise Jobless Pay

By Edward F. Ryan
Post Reporter

A bill to boost District unemployment compensation benefits was filed in the Senate yesterday by District Committee Chairman Matthew M. Neely (D., W. Va.).

Present benefits range from $6 to $20.

Neely's bill would make them $8 to $33.

Present law continues payments for 20 weeks.

Neely's bill would provide payments for 26 weeks.

There is now a one-week waiting period.

This would be eliminated by the Neely bill.

Numerous other changes, many of them technical language amendments, were included in the 16-page double-spaced typewritten bill. It was drafted by officials of the District Unemployment Compensation Commission. Local AFL officials asked Neely's support for it earlier this week.

The bill includes some notes of increased strictness. A five-week period of being ineligible to get unemployment benefits—the period is now less—would be imposed for persons who: (1) leave a job voluntarily without good cause; (2) get fired for misconduct, or (3) fail to seek or refuse to accept suitable new jobs. For the first and third types of cases, the disqualification period is now three weeks; and for getting fired for misconduct, the waiting period can be fixed at from one to four weeks by decision of the UC Board.

Penalties in the present law for fraud would also be strengthened.

Another section sets a penalty of $5 to $25 for failure to file reports and make payments to the fund on time, but this could be waived by the UC Board with approval of the District Auditor.

Sheriff Denies U. S. Tax Fraud; Trial April 4

Baltimore, March 17 (AP).—R. Earle Sheriff, former sheriff and deputy sheriff of Prince Georges County, was arraigned in Federal Court today for income tax evasion, and he pleaded innocent.

Sheriff, who lives at Landover, Md., is accused of cheating the Government out of $10,430 by understating his income for the years 1943 through 1946 by about $35,000.

He is free under $1000 bond. Trial was set for April 4.

Information Lag Held Up Service Case

By Alfred Friendly
Post Reporter

There is a commonplace and somewhat anticlimactic explanation in the two alleged delays in the handling of the loyalty case of diplomat John S. Service, it was learned yesterday.

The delays were the subject of a sharp letter sent Thursday from Senator McCarthy (R., Wis.) to Seth W. Richardson, chairman of the Civil Service Loyalty Review Board.

Meantime, McCarthy yesterday blasted the State Department for a statement it issued Thursday. The statement, he implied, was equivalent to directing the Department's loyalty board to return a verdict of not guilty when it rehears the Service case.

McCarthy said the statement was an order for a "whitewash" of the diplomat.

In the course of his charges of Communist infiltration in the State Department, McCarthy accused Service of pro-Communist sympathies and consorting with "admitted espionage agents."

McCarthy said that on March 3, the Loyalty Review Board, making a post-audit of previous State Department clearance of Service, ordered the Department to conduct another hearing on the Service case, this time with Service called on to appear personally.

McCarthy Assails Delay

Later disclosures from the State Department revealed that the Review Board's recommendation did not arrive at the Department's mail room until March 14, about five hours after McCarthy testified, and that the State Deparment's clearance of Service took place in mid-January, 1949.

Whereupon, McCarthy wrote Richardson demanding to know why he and his Review Board took 13 months to post-audit the Service clearing, and why it took another 11 days for the recommendation of a re-hearing to travel the few blocks between the Civil Service Commission and the State Department.

Richardson, under general secrecy instructions from the executive order creating his board, may be foreclosed from giving McCarthy a reply. But here is the answer, from other sources, informed but necessarily anonymous:

1. As the State Department said, Service's clearance was handed down by the State Department loyalty board on January 18, 1949.

2. But the State Department did not send notice of this action to the Review Board until late September, 1949, more than nine months later. The reason was that the clearance was based, in part, on telegraphic reports from China regarding certain of Service's memoranda and documents.

Waited for Complete Data

The Department loyalty board wished to withhold final notification until it should have received the complete, written reports. These were considerably longer than the telegraphic summaries.

But during last year, mail communication from embattled China and the hemmed-in American diplomats there was inordinately slow. Almost all communication was by radio. It took, therefore, almost nine months for the full

Cities Insist On A-Bomb Defense Data

By John G. Norris
Post Reporter

The Federal Government was accused yesterday of withholding information needed by American cities for effective civil defense planning against atomic attack.

This critical comment on the national handling of civil defense came from Mayor Fletcher Bowron of Los Angeles, as the Congressional Atomic Energy Committee opened long-planned public hearings on the subject.

Bowron, who said he represented the "thinking of the cities," complained that the "secrecy" policies of Federal agencies have kept even key State and municipal officials in the dark about A-bomb effects and defenses. He also charged that there is divided responsibility on civil defense in Washington and that local authorities don't know whom to contact.

Information Sent to Governors

Chairman Brien McMahon (D., Conn.) said that the National Security Resources Board, which is responsible for over-all civil defense planning, recently sent out information to State Governors and that it should soon reach the cities.

He said one major reason for scheduling open hearings was to get more information to the people and secure their cooperation. This was done, McMahon added, only after careful screening of data disclosed in closed sessions.

"We've got to inform the people in a way that will bring cooperation without causing uncertainty or panic," the Senator added.

Another factor of "this complex problem," he added, is screening information so as "to help ourselves and not aid anyone else."

Information Culled Over

Bowron was an unexpected witness at a hearing during which experts of the Atomic Energy Commission gave out such carefully culled-over data.

Dr. Shields Warren, director of the AEC division of biology and medicine, testified that persons who survive the "acute effects" of radiation following an A-bomb attack can expect "a reasonably normal life thereafter."

He qualified this with a few exceptions. A small portion of radiation victims can expect cataracts and possible blindness, and a few leukemia, said Warren.

Based on the aftermath of the bombing of Hiroshima and Nagasaki, only a very few cases of sterility may be expected — not enough to affect the birthrate, Warren declared. Nor is there any evidence of exposure producing deformed children, though there is no evidence as yet, of course, of possible genetic changes in the second or third generation, he said.

John A. Derry, also of the AEC, showed the Congressman a new Geiger counter, which can be mass-produced to sell at $10 to $15. Designed for civil defense use, it looks something like a pair of binoculars and operates on storage batteries.

The cost compares with about $200 for the present Geiger counter used in laboratories. It indicates safety or shows danger of

Cadet, 21, Missing From West Point Is Believed Slain

West Point, N. Y., March 17 (U.P.)—Officers at the Military Academy said today that a cadet, who has been missing for two months, apparently has been murdered.

A helicopter will join the hunt Tuesday for the body of Cadet Richard Colvin Cox, 21, of Mansfield, O.

"We have no clew as to why anybody would want to do him in," said Lieut. Col. William Proctor, public information officer. "But we are forced now to the belief that he met with foul play."

Sons of St. Patrick Bestow Gold Medal Award on Vinson

Chief Justice Fred M. Vinson last night said the world needs the traits of character for which the Irish are known.

Speaking before 350 members of the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick, the Chief Justice declared the world needs the natural loyalty, the character and the honesty of purpose of the Irish.

"But in all the fine character of us Irish," he said, "the one outstanding trait is courage. And in this nervous world of today, it is dangerous to be afraid."

Chief Justice Vinson had just been presented with the gold medal of the Friendly Sons at the society's twenty-second annual St. Patrick's Day banquet, which was complete with green-hued dinner rolls. The affair was held in the Mayflower Hotel's Sapphire Room, which was bedecked with natural greenery for the occasion.

Partition Denounced

Speaking at a similar banquet, one given by the Commodore Barry Division, Ancient Order of Hibernians, Representative Harry J. Davenport (D., Pa.) denounced the partition of Ireland, which he termed "part of classic British policy."

"Ireland cannot join the Atlantic Pact, no reasonable man can expect her to, while a foreign power occupies, by military force, six of her counties," declared Representative Davenport.

He told the several hundred Hibernians that "wherever you find British control, sooner or later you find partition—in India, in Palestine and in Ireland."

Martin A. Cook, president of the Ancient Order of Hibernians, presided at the banquet, which was followed by musical entertainment and a ball.

Gave Much to U. S.

At the Friendly Sons banquet, Representative Edward J. Hart (D., N. J.) said America has given much to the Irish immigrants—but the Irish immigrants have brought much to America with them, too, he added.

"They have carried with them the steadfastness and the idea of religion that St. Patrick had," he said, "and their poetic and mystic nature."

John A. Reilly, president of the Second National Bank, who is president of the society, paid a tribute to Sean Nunan, retiring Irish Minister, who responded by thanking Americans for their hospitality and friendliness.

Archbishop Patrick A. O'Boyle gave the invocation, while the benediction was pronounced by the Rev. Dr. E. F. Kloman of St. Albans Protestant Episcopal Church.

In his opening remarks, Chief Justice Vinson referred to himself as "O'Vinson," and said facetiously that 'if anything happens to me because of my appearance among ye, for j'ining up with ye, there will be an order, a mandate, for the Irish Brigade to come to my assistance."

In the morning, more than 1000 persons attended the 156th annual

Possum Killed on Friendly Visit To Rest in Cemetery of Pets

After a couple of assists from police of the 7th precinct, Piggy, the 'possum, will receive a decent burial in the Aspen Hill animal cemetery.

The playful pet came to grief Thursday night when he got too friendly for his own good. It cost him his life. Yesterday, though Piggy was dead, he got attention of police for the second and third times in less than 24 hours.

Piggy was the pet of Mr. and Mrs. Bascom N. Timmons. The Washington correspondent of Texas newspapers, Timmons has ten cat pets. Ten months ago, Piggy wandered into the Timmons yard for several days in succession, was fed each time. Then he came back with two other 'possums and settled down in a box the Timmonses prepared.

Thursday night, Piggy wandered from the Timmons home at 1316 30th st. nw., and followed Congressman Dolla C. McMillen, (R., Ill.), to his home at 3038 Dumbarton st. nw. When the animal settled down on the porch, McMillen notified police.

Before Pvt. Patrick Smith arrived, a boy, whose name was not learned, whopped Piggy with a snow shovel. Pvt. Smith found the little animal unconscious, took it to a woman member of the Tailwaggers Club, who recommended that it be dispatched because it was too seriously injured to recover. Pvt. Smith obliged.

Then, Nathaniel Johnson, 1006 Lamont st. nw., asked for Piggy's body for a 'possum stew. Johnson is a handyman at the Westchester Garage. He was given the body.

Yesterday morning, Timmons learned of what had happened. He was grieved. He told police he wanted Piggy's body for decent burial in the Timmons plot in the animal cemetery. Police hunted up Johnson at his home, got Piggy's body from the icebox, and took it back to the Westchester garage. Later, they went and got it again, and took it to the Timmons home.

Now, Mr. and Mrs. Timmons will watch the two remaining 'possoms more closely.

Air Forces Vice Chief

Gen. Muir Fairchild, 55, Dies Of Heart Attack at Ft. Myer

General Muir Stephen Fairchild, 55, vice chief of staff of the Air Force, died of a heart attack at his quarters at Fort Myer last night.

A hard-working airman who came up the hard way from enlistment in the National Guard, he was made a full genera' when he was promoted to his last post.

His wife was with him at the time of his death. Associates said he had undergone a checkup, ending two weeks ago, at the Army-Navy Hospital at Hot Springs, Ark., and was told then he was in good condition.

Brig. Gen. Dan C. Ogle, deputy Air Force Surgeon General, was called to Gen. Fairchild's bedside, but was unable to revive him.

General Fairchild, who had graduated from the Army's top schools, and commanded the Air Force University, was rated one of the top brains in the service. He was promoted when Gen. Hoyt Vandenberg became Air Force Chief of Staff, and was known as the "manager of the Air Force."

Belgian Cabinet May Resign Over Leopold's Restoration

Brussels, Belgium, March 17 (U.P.)—More than 300,000 Belgian workers quit their jobs today in a 24-hour "warning strike" against the possible return to the throne of exiled King Leopold III.

The walkout paralyzed anti-Leopold areas in the industrial south, as the royal issue threatened to topple the Belgian coalition government and cause a national crisis.

The strike of coal miners and steelworkers was taken as a clear warning to the government—if it decided to bring back the King. Socialist and Communist-led unions would call a general strike which would stifle all Belgian industry.

Catholic Premier Gaston Eyskens met with his cabinet today. But it was admitted officially that they had reached no decision on whether to recall Leopold.

The threat of a crisis was made clear today when Eyskens told reporters a joint session of Parliament would be called to decide the issue "sometime next week" and added ominously, "providing we have a government."

He had returned from Geneva, where Leopold told him that the final decision on his return was up to Parliament.

$250,000 Psalter, Recovered in N. Y., Back in Germany

A 500-year-old psalm book, valued at $250,000 and looted from a library in Dresden, Germany, in wartime, has been recovered in New York and returned to Germany, the State Department disclosed yesterday. It is the so-called Mainz psalter, the earliest known example of color printing, printed in Mainz, Germany, in 1457, by two colleagues of Johann Gutenberg.

State Department officials said emphatically the psalter could not have been "taken by an American GI," but did not suggest who might have stolen it. Dresden was occupied by Russian troops.

After passing through unknown trade channels in mysterious fashion, the precious book was illegally imported into the United States.

Sailors Perilled By Saigon Bomb

Saigon, French Indo-China, March 17 (U.P.)—Sailors of the visiting United States Seventh Fleet narrowly escaped injury or death today when Indo-Chinese terrorists threw a bomb into a crowded downtown cafe.

Soviet Zone Gripped by Money Panic

Berlin, March 17 (AP).—The greatest money panic since the war gripped the Soviet zone of Germany today, sinking the East mark to an all-time low.

Fearful of a sudden currency reform, holders of millions of East marks swamped the licensed exchanges in West Berlin with offers. Although the exchanges had posted a rate of 7.6 East marks for one West mark today, huge lots of East marks were put on the market as cheaply as 8.75 to 1.

The East German bank of Emission tonight said all reports of impending curency reform were "completely unfounded." The bank said categorically that no monetary reform will be made.

The bank claimed that the present money panic was "deliberately plotted" by the West Berlin money changers "to confuse the population and divert public attention from the steadily mounting capitalistic economy crisis in western Germany and West Berlin."

Private bankers reported they were flooded with calls from frantic East German companies to help unload their East mark reserves. West German exporters also joined the rush to convert accrued East marks into western cash. To deal with the "tense situation," West Berlin's money changers held a long secret session tonight preparatory to announcing Saturday's official rate.

Laborite's Death Cuts Majority in Commons to Five

London, March 17 (AP).—Adam S. McKinlay, a Labor Party member of the House of Commons, died of a heart attack today at his home in Dumbartonshire, Scotland.

His death cut to five the overall majority of the Attlee government in the house elected February 23. It will force the first by-election—election to fill a vacancy—of the new session of Parliament.

More Babies Soon to Require Larger Houses, Clague Warns

By Sam Stavisky
Post Reporter

What the country needs—or will soon be needing—is bigger houses to make room for more children.

That's the solemn opinion of Ewan Clague, head of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Sure, remarked Statistician Clague yesterday at a press conference, the country is presently enjoying its greatest inter home building boom in the Nation's history. Sure, it will be another great year for the builders, with around 900,000 new housing units.

But don't overlook the vital statistics, warns Calculator Clague. The birth rate's up, way up, and staying up. That means, explains the Commissioner of Labor Statistics, that since the end of the war Americans are expanding their families—with two, three, even four babies each.

The birth rate — 3,730,000 for 1949—is staying way up despite the fact that the marriage rate has declined since the postwar rush to the altar hit a high in 1946. Nuptials have dropped from 2,300,000 in 1946 to 1,600,000 in 1949.

This means, says Clague, that home buyers are—or soon will be—seeking more rooms per house.

Last year was the greatest ever for home construction, according to Clague, with 1,025,800 new units started.

In February, 80,000 new non-farm homes were started, which is terrific for winter. Clague figures the unexpectedly large volume of housing so far this year reflects a feeling that housing costs will change very little this year. Besides, there's been the favorable weather statistics on housing in the Nation's metropolitan areas.

Among other things, these statistics show that Washington ranks only below Miami, Fla., and Los Angeles, in the number of new housing units built since 1946 in ratio to its population. Between 1946 and 1949, local builders put up 82,300 housing units, mainly in apartments.

Others Seen On Tender Disabled By Fire, Blast

USS Elder Sighted By Search Plane After Removal of 26 From Rafts

Pearl Harbor, March 17 (AP). — A rescue ship today picked up 26 men from the Navy tender Elder, blasted by an explosion and fire, and shortly thereafter the tender was sighted by a search plane.

A flash from the search plane said "an undetermined number of survivors" were aboard the Elder.

The Hawaiian Sea Frontier said the plane sighted the drifting Elder east of the Eniwetok atomic proving grounds, in the area where the tender turned up missing Monday.

The location of the drifting net tender, which was en route to the proving grounds with some buoys, was not given specifically.

A short time previously, the dock landing ship Comstock picked up 26 men who had put to sea in boats after the Elder took fire March 10. They had been adrift a week.

The Elder carried 40 men, but 14 stayed aboard to fight the fires.

The Comstock radioed:

"Twenty-six men abandoned ship following fire and explosion in engine room of Elder."

There was no further explanation of the sea accident.

Were On 6 Life Craft

The exhausted survivors were picked up off six bobbing life craft about 2000 miles southwest of Hawaii.

The first report of the rescue, made by a circling plane to the Hawaiian Sea Frontier, said the mission was "accomplished" at 3:15 (8:15 p. m., EST.)

The report said:

"As dusk settles and mist closes in, the Comstock moved into the area, colored with vivid yellow dye marker, to take aboard survivors. As the Comstock drew nearer the five small rafts and one life boat, crowded with weary seamen, overhead two patrol planes from Patrol Squadron 22 circled tirelessly as their task nears accomplishment.

Cheers, Feeble Handwaving

"The exact number and position of survivors will follow. As the Navy patrol planes retire from the area, the Comstock draws alongside a raft. Amid cheers and feeble handwaving, the mission is accomplished at 1515 (3:15 Hawaii time)."

Earlier a Navy search plane had radioed sighting the rafts and a life boat and said "condition of survivors exhausted."

These reports did not make clear if the 163-foot Elder, overdue since Monday at Eniwetok on a 2600-mile trip from Hawaii, with a load of buoys, had sunk.

The sighting report was handed to Rear Admiral C. H. McMorris, commander of the Hawaiian Sea Frontier.

The position was given as 660 miles east of Eniwetok and 500 miles northeast of Kwajalein.

Motorist Found Dead of Rifle Blast In Auto

Police from the Eighth Precinct last night found a man tentatively identified as D. E. Dillon, about 50, in an automobile at 32d and Dogwood sts. nw., dead from a bullet wound in the head.

The body was found in the back seat of a car with District tags A-252 parked at the intersection. A 30-30 calibre hunting rifle was still grasped in his hands on his lap.

The bullet took off the top of the man's head, and then went through the roof.

The tentative identification was made by tracing the automobile's license number. The address was listed as 4801 14th st. nw.

Reds Cut Traffic Bound Into Berlin

Berlin, March 17 (U.P.)—The Russians cut truck traffic to Berlin to four an hour tonight in a new blockade tactic.

Eighty German trucks bound for the capital were queued up at Helmstedt, western check point on the main superhighway from Western Germany to Berlin.

West bound traffic was normal.

Brannan Plan Trial For 1951 Cast Aside

By John W. Ball
Post Reporter

A Senate Agriculture Subcommittee virtually tossed a proposed trial of the Brannan plan on next year's potato crop into the waste basket yesterday.

Instead, it indicated it would continue the present program, with strict controls over production.

It then turned to a request by Agriculture Secretary Charles F. Brannan that it withdraw an amendment to the Commodity Credit Corporation charter offered by Senator Edward J. Thye (R., Minn.). Brannan had said the proposal, which would order CCC to conduct all grain dealings through the established grain trade, would increase the cost of the price support program. The committee indicated it would grant this request.

Meantime, the Senate put off a vote on a conference committee bill that would increase both cotton and peanut acreages until Monday. This added land, former Secretary of Agriculture Clinton P. Anderson told the Senate, would produce probably 75 million dollars' worth more cotton at a time when the Government has more than a billion dollars' worth on hand. Chairman Elmer Thomas (D., Okla.) of the Agriculture Committee asked the postponement because several interested Senators were absent.

Aiken Attacks Brannan

Senator George D. Aiken (R., Vt.) broke into testimony by J. T. Sanders of the National Grange on what the Grange recommends for potatoes next year, to attack the Brannan Plan.

He criticized Brannan's statement of Thursday that the Brannan Plan applied to potatoes would cost only slightly more than a plan proposed by Senator Scott W. Lucas (D., Ill.) and would bring much lower spud prices in the retail stores.

Aiken said Brannan figured his plan on a basis of giving potato growers only 60 percent of parity, the same as the Lucas Plan. Aiken declared that Brannan promises farmers "100 percent parity in the field, and then comes before Congress and suggests the outrageously low figure of 60 percent of parity."

Aiken's remark about "outrageously low" figures was a sarcastic reference to attacks made upon the now repealed Aiken Agriculture Act of 1948. The Aiken bill provided for price supports ranging from 60 to 90 percent of parity.

"I have been accused of being a 60 percenter so long," he commented, with a grin.

Senator Allen J. Ellender (D., La.) interrupted to defend Brannan. Ellender revealed that Aiken's attack had been instigated by the American Farm Bureau Federation, a bitter foe of Brannan.

"The Bureau telephoned me, too," he said. Ellender said the argument was unfair—that he had asked Brennan to compare the cost of his bill under the same conditions as the Lucas proposal, and that was what Brannan had done.

The Lucas bill would continue the same supports as at present, but would provide strict, Government-enforced planting and marketing rules to reduce production. Every member of the subcommittee indicated opposition to a trial of the Brannan Plan.

See PRICES, Page 2, Column 6.

Grain commission merchants of Minneapolis testified in favor of the Thye amendment. They charged that the operation of Government purchases under the price support program was heading the country towards "socialized agriculture."

Harry I. Rand, counsel of the National Burlap Bag Dealers, an association of used-bag dealers, urged an amendment to the CCC charter providing for greater use of second-hand bags for packaging purchases under the price support program. He said the Government is selling potatoes in 100-pound bags now for as low as one cent a bag. Buyers, he alleged, are selling these bags empty, for eight to ten cents apiece.

Sanders outlined to the group the Grange farm program that provides a double price system—one for export and one for domestic use. He was told to put the program into a bill and submit it to the committee.

Some 5 Million

Public Gets Letters of Roosevelt

Hyde Park, N. Y., March 17 (AP). President Franklin D. Roosevelt kept a copy of almost every letter he wrote, and almost every letter he received after he began his political climb.

Today more than five million of these letters became public property—a mirror to one of the vital eras of world history.

Brief ceremonies marked the event at the Franklin D. Roosevelt library here. It took 2½ years to index the papers.

There are letters to kings and to high and low-born men whose names are marked forever in history. And there are humble letters, the voice of the average American as he took pen in hand and wrote to the White House during Mr. Roosevelt's 12 years in office.

About 85 percent of all the letters became public property. The rest were withheld for another 25 years. They might embarrass persons still alive, or might affect our relations with other nations.

The letters are in boxes which fill the shelves lining four rooms of the Federal Library. Confidential letters are marked by red folders.

Said Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt at the ceremony:

"With the tremendous public thirst for the facts concerning the stirring events of the past two decades, it will be a useful and healthy thing for important segments of the story of these years to be available here to all who are seriously concerned with learning the truth. It will be a real pleasure to see this room filled with students."

The papers will not be available to the general public. Only accredited scholars and researchers will have access to them.

President Truman said the Roosevelt letters would furnish rich source material for an interpretation of one of the most momentous periods in American history. In a message read by Jeff Larson, administrator of the General Services Administration which has supervision of the collection, Mr. Truman said:

"President Roosevelt himself frequently voiced the hope that he would be here to help arrange and interpret his papers but we are carrying out his wishes that these papers be opened for free examination consistent with the principles of private confidence and national security.

"Some other officials of the period have contributed their papers to augment this collection; I trust that many others will come forward and add their papers to this collection in order that we may have the means for a fuller understanding of these years."

Firkusny Cancels Appearance Here

Rudolf Firkusny, who had been scheduled to appear with the National Symphony Orchestra Sunday has had to cancel his concert because of an infected hand, J. Erwyn Mutch, orchestra manager, said yesterday.

Mutch said word was received from Firkusny's manager yesterday, too late to find a substitute. The orchestra therefore will play an all-Tschaikovsky program.

Iranian Princess Victim of Thieves

Associated Press WIREPHOTO

PRINCESS KIA, descendant of Persian nobility, has reported to New York City police that burglars stole furs and jewels valued at more than $50,000 from her apartment Monday. Some of the gems were over five centuries old. The Princess is the wife of the former Iranian consul in New York.

Pigeon's Eggs Are Gone From Nest

Parent pigeon was still protecting them yesterday morning. The modernistic nest was on a warm-air duct. By yesterday afternoon the eggs were gone. So was Mama Pigeon.

Budget Cuts Of $3 Billions Goal of GOP

By the United Press

House Republicans disclosed yesterday they plan a drive to pare at least three billion dollars from President Truman's spending plans for fiscal 1951.

A House Appropriations Subcommittee already has tentatively trimmed $1,200,000,000 from a "single package" money bill due to be taken up in the chamber in 10 days.

Representative John Taber (R., N. Y.) ranking Republican on the committee and leader in the economy drive, said he has little hope for more cuts in the committee but feels there is a "good chance" on the floor.

Any cuts the House makes must be approved by the Senate before they become final.

Taber Not Specific

President Truman submitted a budget of $43,438,757,000 for the fiscal year beginning July 1. The tentative cut of $1,200,000,000 has been made in a bill to allow $29,113,000,000 on presidential requests that totaled $30,326,000,000.

The bill covers appropriations for all the Government departments and agencies, but money requests for some programs—including foreign aid—will be handled separately.

Taber declined to specify where the Republicans would try for further reductions.

The biggest item in the forthcoming bill is an appropriation of $12,839,000,000 for the Defense Department, for which Mr. Truman asked $13,028,000,000.

Defense Cuts Opposed

Attempts to slice the Defense budget will run into a stiff fight. Defense Secretary Louis Johnson has told Congress he wants the full budget figure—not a cent less nor a cent more.

The bill due up in the House ten days hence is about the only place the Republicans have any chance of cutting spending plans materially.

Some attempts will be made to cut forthcoming bills for the three billion dollars in foreign economic aid and $1,100,000,000 in overseas military assistance.

Virtually all the rest of the 1951 budget comprises fixed charges which cannot be cut in any way. The largest of them is the interest on the national debt, which now exceeds 250 billion dollars.

Phone Talk

President Calls Parley On Fair Deal

Key West, Fla., March 17 (AP).—President Truman today reviewed his troubled legislative situation with his top legal adviser.

He decided to get a first-hand report on the outlook for key measures in his "Fair Deal" program in a telephone conversation Monday with his congressional "Big Four."

Presidential Secretary Charles C. Ross said Mr. Truman will telephone Vice President Barkley, Speaker Rayburn, Senate Majority Leader Lucas and House Majority Leader McCormack, whom he usually consults every Monday at the White House. Ross didn't know whether there will be four separate calls or a four-way hookup.

The decision to call the "Big Four" was made after Mr. Truman conferred for 45 minutes with Charles S. Murphy, his new special counsel, in the "Winter White House" on the legislative situation.

There was no word from Ross as to what steps the President may undertake to dislodge the Federal aid-to-education bill from the House Education Committee pigeonhole.

Ross told a news conference he has not heard any discussion of the name of Dr. Arthur Compton, president of Washington University, St. Louis, who has been linked in some published speculation among those under consideration for the vacant chairmanship of the Atomic Energy Commission.

NCPPC Ends Meeting

National Capital Park and Planning Commission yesterday wound up its three-day monthly meeting with another session on the agency's comprehensive plan for the Washington area.

Committee Gives Byrd Vote of Confidence

The Senate-House Committee on reduction of Federal Expenditures gave Chairman Byrd (D., Va.) a unanimous vote of confidence yesterday.

After a closed meeting, members told reporters that the committee rejected a move by Byrd to resign in favor of Representative Doughton (D. N. C.).

Byrd noted that the chairmanship of joint committees usually is alternated between Senate and House members and urged that Dougton be named to replace him. The Virginian has served as chairman since the committee was formed in 1941 to police Federal spending.

The committee's action was regarded by members as an answer to a proposa by Senator Humphrey (D., Minn.) to abolish the group, which Humphrey called "extravagant and wasteful."

Humphrey's move was applauded in some Administration circles and won the public backing of Senator Lucas of Illinois, the Democratic leader.

Byrd has been at odds with the Administration and several months ago President Truman told a White House caller he thinks there are "too many Byrds" in Congress. The Virginian is the only one of that name in Congress.

Reds Seen Facing Resistance in China

Strength in Work

Blaisdell Opposes Big Asiatic Aid

Wholesale American economic aid is not the way to strengthen the newly-independent nations of Asia, Thomas C. Blaisdell, jr., Assistant Secretary of Commerce, said yesterday.

"Some money, both public and private, can be constructive," Blaisdell told a University of California audience at Berkeley. "But large funds made available in the Far East carry some possibility of doing harm.

"Instead of creating strength, they might create weakness. Strength comes from work, self-dependence, aid discreetly accepted, wisely handled and strategically applied."

Blaisdell saw evidence that the new republics of Asia were "blessed with some men of great capacity."

"They have already demonstrated some of that capacity in leading the establishment of independent states," he said. "They have shown wisdom in utilizing the strength which had been built into their societies by the colonial powers of a bygone day."

He expressed the hope that foreign investors would "have the wisdom to deal with the difficult social relationships" in the new nations of Asia, and not take advantage of their power.

"We need not be pessimistic about the fate of the new republics," he declared, "for they have needs and goals in common with western Europe, with the United States and with Latin America."

Blaisdell was also optimistic over the prospects of relaxing trade barriers and making currencies more freely convertible in Europe and other areas. He said much progress had already been made in Europe, and he found the possibilities of further relaxation "better than they have been for many years."

The Chinese Communists already are meeting resistance from the Chinese people but there is no prospect of large-scale opposition to the Red regime in the "foreseeable future," the Foreign Policy Association reported yesterday.

The report was written by A. Doak Barnett, an associate of the Institute of Current World Affairs, New York, recently returned from a two-year stay in China. The FPA published it in cooperation with the American Institute of Pacific Affairs.

Barnett said the Communists "are having difficulty selling their strongly pro-Russian line to the Chinese public, and Chinese nationalism in time may well boomerang and direct its force against the Communists and the Soviet Union."

He said the Reds are meeting increased peasant opposition to the heavy grain levies needed to support an expanding army and bureaucracy, and isolated peasant uprisings have taken place in "many scattered places" during the last year.

"In cities, too, a slow process of disillusionment and passive resistance already had begun . . . The general slump in business and trade is one reason. The Communists constant interference in people's ordinary lives is another."

But Barnett predicted that in the foreseeable future, "the Communists are the only ones who can rule China." He said there is no organized opposition and "the Communist Party is the one efficient, effective political machine with a positive program in China.

"The only alternative to the Communists today in China is breakup, disunity and chaos—and these are not inspiring prospects for the tired Chinese people," he said.

"An opposition may develop in time, as the growth of disillusionment at present indicates."

Barnett recommended a revaluation of American Far Eastern policy "based on an adequate understanding of what has occurred and what is currently taking place in China.

"United States support and aid have delayed the Kuomingtang's (Nationalist) decline, and Soviet inspiration and assistance have helped the Communists' development. But neither the United States nor the Soviet Union has determined the course of events in China."

Finland Gets Coalition Rule

Helsinki, March 17 (AP).—The formation of a center coalition government excluding both Socialists and Communists and headed by Dr. Urho Kekkonnen as Premier was announced tonight.

Kekkonen is head of the strong Agrarian Party. His cabinet includes 10 Agrarians, three members of the Swedish People's Party, one Liberal and one nonparty expert. All key posts save the foreign ministry went to Agrarians.

The Agrarians were founded to promote the interests of the rural population on the line of individual enterprise. Many of its leaders have emphasized, however, the need for friendly relations with the Soviet Union.

Two Soldiers Found Guilty Of Kidnaping

Salzburg, Austria, March 17 (AP).—A 12-man United States Army court-martial sentenced two military policemen today to long prison terms for kidnaping a Romanian-born Austrian and delivering him to Soviet agents for a total of $560.

Corpl. Paul Abel of Bolivar, Mo., was sentenced to 20 years at hard labor and Sergt. John Frankey of New York City to 15 years.

Both also were ordered dishonorably discharged from the Army and to forfeit all pay and allowances.

The court deliberated for 2 hours and 10 minutes. The conviction and sentences were announced by Col. M. Tharr of San Antonio, president of the court.

The corporal and sergeant were found guilty of abducting Oswald Eder and handing him over to the Russians last November 11. The prosecution described Eder as a mysterious former soldier in the German army who has been suspected by several nations of spying.

Both were convicted of common-law kidnaping, false imprisonment and illegal use of an Army jeep. Abel was also convicted of stealing an Army radio transmitter. The court dismissed a charge of communicating with a foreign power.

The sentences are subject to review, first by Lieut. Gen. Geoffrey Keyes, United States high commissioner in Austria, and then by the Judge Advocate General's Office in Washington.

Army Making Berlin Wires Tap-Proof

Berlin, March 17 (AP).—United States Army engineers are building a radio-telephone network to guarantee Berlin's link with the West against Soviet interference or wiretapping.

Army men said today the system is already partly in operation and will be completed by April 1. From that time on the system will be able to handle any amount of communications traffic desired, they said.

A giant tower is going up within the walled compound of the United States High Commission headquarters to beam the flow. It is 275 feet high now and probably will exceed 300 feet when finished.

The system will enable Maj. Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, United States commander in Berlin, to pick up a telephone in his office and speak by radio to Frankfurt and other selected key points in Western Germany. The equipment scrambles the words and receiving equipment on the other end unscrambles them.

Troops Out After Riots Shake Turin

Rome, March 17. (U.P.).—Troops were called out in the northern industrial city of Turin as new labor clashes were reported.

Six persons were injured in Turin when Communist-led workers attacked the headquarters of the Neo-Fascist Italian Social Movement (MSI) nd then fought off police with sticks and stones. Police used tear gas and fired warning shots to clear the streets.

The incident was the latest in a series of Communist clashes with MSI elements. In answer to government warnings that any attempt to rebuild fascism would be met with all-out measures, MSI leaders have called the government too weak to protect Italians from communism.

Turin police asked for army aid when workers of the Fiat, Laucia and Saviglia factories quit work at 10 a. m. and paraded into the center of town. While several thousand demonstrated in front of government offices, other workers marched to MSI headquarters. They wrecked the offices and threw furniture into the streets.

The outbreak followed a midnight street brawl between MSI and Communists.

A 15-minute general strike in Rome went off without outward effect today. It was called to protest violence in Venice earlier this week brought a 36-hour strike in that area.

East German Reds Present Single List of Candidates

Berlin, March 17 (U.P.).—East German Communists have opened a campaign to retain control of the Soviet zone state for four more years by presenting a single list of candidates in the October 15 elections.

The new campaign is designed to unite all parties in the "German Democratic Republic" into a Communist-dominated bloc which voters may accept or reject. No opposition candidates will be allowed.

The campaign coincides with a decision of the West German government to order drafting a plan for national elections for all four zones of occupied Germany. Jakob Kaiser, Minister for all-German questions, is charged with the job of putting the plan on paper.

In the Eastern zone, not one Soviet Party has yet proposed a candidate or slogan although elections are only seven months away. They will be the first elections held in the new state.

The present campaign hopes to prepare the overwhelmingly anti-Communist electorate for the news that it will not choose among Communists, Christian Democrats or Liberal Democrats, but either will indorse or reject a single list of candidates nominated by the "national front."

"Spontaneous" resolutions are pouring into the East German government headquarters in Berlin from trade unions, factories, social groups and even local political parties. All the resolutions ask for a single list of candidates.

In Bonn, the West German cabinet headed by Chancellor Konrad Adenauer decided on the four-zone elections after United States High Commissioner John J. McCloy made the suggestion.

Scientists Announce Element Number 98

'Terrible Weapons'

New Arms Being Pushed, Johnson Says

Chicago, March 17 (U.P.).—Defense Secretary Louis Johnson said tonight that American scientists are developing terrible new weapons of war that may make all present ones obsolete.

In a prepared address for a St. Patrick's Day banquet of the Irish Fellowship Club, he said that military research and development now dictate what the generals and admirals do with their armies, navies and air forces.

He gave assurances that Defense officials are "relentlessly" pursuing a scientific research program "to keep abreast of all developments" in military weapons.

As an example he cited President Truman's order to proceed with production of a hydrogen bomb.

"I assure you that we are equally alert to possibilities inherent in the biological and chemical fields as well as in the radiological," Johnson said.

"The most modern of planes, tanks, guns or submarines today may become obsolete by . . . introduction of more capable substitutes tomorrow," he said.

But he saw no subsitute for man himself to handle the wapons.

The Defense Secretary noted that the United States cannot match the military manpower of Russia.

"Hence," he said, "what we lack in number we therefore must make up in superiority in weapons, in thoroughness in training and use of these weapons, in utilizing to best strategic and tactical advantage the men we do have . . . and in resourceful inspiring leadership."

Johnson also declared that the outcome of the cold-war struggle with Russia depends in large part on rebuilding the military strength of America's allies through the North Atlantic Pact.

Johnson said Britain now is "ready to help." He called Canada's position "sound," and said France's military condition is "improving." He said the Dutch, Norwegians and Belgians are "again proving their capabilities to assume their duties and responsibilities . . ."

Noting that actual shipments of arms have started under the military aid program, Johnson reported "substantial progress in our efforts to increase the total defensive strength of our peacetime allies."

By N. S. Haseltine
Post Reporter

Atomic scientists at the University of California, Berkeley, have banged out another new element, No. 98, a heavy but primary form of physical matter.

They've named it californium, to honor both the university and the State, and described its nature as so fleeting its never before been observed on earth.

Announcement of the planned discovery was made here yesterday by the United States Atomic Energy Commission, for whom the California scientists have been working under contract.

Element 98, its discoverers declared, probably doesn't exist naturally. Once created, it breaks itself down by its own radioactivity to a lighter element in its 45-minute half-life.

Bombarded Curium

Californium was formed, in invisible quantity, the scientists reported, by bombarding curium, Element 96, with 35-million electron volt alpha particles at the university's 60-inch Crocker cyclotron.

Atomic Energy Commission officials said the new element has no practical place in atomic energy, either for atom bombs or power. It is, however, of fundamental importance in expanding man's understanding of matter.

Researchers who reported the discovery are Dr. Stanley G. Thompson, Kenneth Street, jr., Albert Ghiorso, research chemist, and Dr. Glen T. Seaborg, professor of chemistry, all of the university's radiation laboratory and department of chemistry.

The discovery of californium wasn't as accidental as the uncovering of another element in California, that of gold in 1849. Scientists had already suspected such an element existed, at least at the beginning of the universe's formation. They even predicted some of its properties.

Related to 66

They figured it bore some relation to Element 66 in the Periodic Table, a rare earth given the Greek word for hard-to-get dysprosium. And, knowing what they were looking for, they confirmed it quickly with chemical procedures.

The atomic scientists involved, with the exception of Street, is the same group which in January announced the discovery of Element 97, named Berkelium. Dr. Seaborg has led the groups of scientists responsible for the discovery of all synthetic elements heavier than uranium (92), excepting nepthunium (93).

Dr. Seaborg explained the near-simultaneous discovery of the two new elements in the similarity of problems of marking them. Earlier discoveries followed a similar pattern, he said.

Since scientists seriously began work with uranium and atomic power, 93 or neptunium was discovered in 1940, and then plutonium, 94. Later in 1944, Americium, 95, and curium, 96 were discovered.

Atomic scientists, in recent meetings, agreed that though some few more elements may be found, it's unlikely that many more will be added to the Periodic Table for primary forms of matter.

French Deny Entry Permit To Ehrenburg

Paris, March 17 (AP).—The French Foreign Office today confirmed that it has refused a visit to Soviet journalist Ilya Ahrenburg because his "personal activities might be inimical to France."

Ehrenburg, Russia's best known contemporary newspaperman and author, apparently wanted to come to Paris for a meeting of the International Organization of Journalists which meets here for three days starting March 27.

Ehrenburg visited the United States in 1946.

The IOJ membership is composed mostly of newspapermen from Soviet satellite countries and writers on Communist or leftwing newspapers and magazines in the west.

Gold Improves Cancer Victim

Cali, Colombia, March 17 (U.P.).—The wife of a former Colombian delegate to the United Nations ate solid food today for the first time in weeks after governments and airlines on two continents cooperated to bring her radioactive gold to treat her cancer.

The medicine, radioactive colloidal gold baked in the atomic furnace at Oak Ridge, Tenn., and treated at laboratories in Chicago, was injected into Mrs. Rosa Zamorano Iragorri after a record-breaking flight from the United States.

Dr. Mario Gaitan Yanguas, director of the National Radium Institute, who supervised the two-hour operation, said Mrs. Iragorri reacted "magnificently." Suffering from intestinal cancer, she had been fed for months with serum only. Today, she ate a sandwich without suffering the usual nausea.

Police in Search For $90,000

Baltimore, March 17 (U.P.).—Maryland and Virginia police today faced a treasure hunt for $90,000 worth of stolen jewels.

Disclosure of the cache was made by George Abt, state witness at the burglary trial of Kennet Cave, 22; his brother, Donald Cave, 21, and Raymond Wilhelm, also 21.

Abt, currently free under bond pending trial on bad-check charges, told police he learned of the hidden gems while a cellmate of Kenneth Cave.

He said Cave asked him to raise bond for his release and mentioned the caches as security. Later, after he had been freed on bond, Abt said he was approached by Claude Martin, a relative of the Cave brothers, who offered him a $6000 bracelet as security for their bond.

Abt turned the bracelet over to police. The bracelet, containing more than 300 diamonds and sapphires, was reported among more than $20,000 worth of jewelry stolen last year from the home of Joseph La Pides in Baltimore.

The Washington Post
An eager Mike Rector, with Rosalie outside theater

The Rector familly went to the movies yesterday. Mr. and Mrs. Rosalie, Marian, Eddie, Billie—and Mike.

It was five-year old Mike's first public outing since he was burned from ankles to armpits on November 12, 1948, more than 16 months ago.

The family, excepting Tommy, 2½, were guests of Keith's Theater, at the regular matinee showing of Walt Disney's "Cinderella."

Load Up at Candy Bar

All the youngsters, ranging from Mike to 12-year old Rosalie, got free loadings at the theater's candy bar. Mike was given a new Cinderella book by the theater management, and the Hecht Company presented him with an album of Cinderella records.

Excepting a slight forward hunch in his walk, and some impatience, Mike showed no effects from his injuries and hospital ordeal of skingrafts, transfusions and other lifesaving attention. The flames which seared some 70 percent of his body spared his face and arms, and normal clothing now covers the body scars.

He showed no pain, and has none, his mother said.

The burned boy's brothers and sisters sat fascinated by the antics of Gus, Lucifer, the birds and other cartoon characters. Mike, when he watched, watched soberly, but intently. But he left for a drink of water. Then he left for the Little Boy's Room, and finally the sun lured him outside.

Mike walked around the block with his Daddy, while inside the theater lobby one James Carbery paced about, a harried public relations man. Mike finally came back. He looked wise for his years, like maybe he knew what the fuss was all about.

After the show, the parents; Rosalie; Marian, 10; Eddie, 8; Billie, 6—and Mike, all went home to 613 Elliott st. ne. About 6 p. m., after dinner at home, Mike went back to Casualty Hospital. He is expected to return home for good in about two weeks.

radiation by green, yellow and red zones on the dial of the instrument.

Radiological monitoring teams are being organized at 12 AEC installations—including one here—it was disclosed. Their main object is to handle accidental radiation exposures in atomic plants or laboratories, but would be available for "stop-gap" use in case of atomic attack.

Dr. Warren summarized measures which have been found effective for treatment of radiation victims. They are: (1) several weeks rest; (2) penicillin and other antibioties; (3) blood transfusions; (4) use of antiheparin substances to combat hemorrhage.

Large doses of female sex hormones taken 10 days before exposure have been found to increase the survival rate of animals, Warren testified. Cystein, an amino acid, taken just before hand, also helps, he said.

The AEC medical chief also disclosed:

1. Water and food in an atom-bombed city should not be drunk or eaten until checked for radiation. Much of the food stored in a warehouse or home, however, would be edible.

2. Flash burns should be treated like ordinary burns, and the best projection against them is shielding or clothing.

Harry L. Bowman, an AEC engineering consultant, presented a study of construction requirements for protective shelters, given only in terms of the Nagasaki bomb, however.

Solid, poured walls of reinforced concrete are much stronger than brick. Additional steel bracing is advisable, and corrugated asbestos roofs rather than corrugated iron roofs are preferable in one-story factories.

"It is reasonably certain," he stated, "that persons who had the overhead protection of 4 to 5 stories of a modern building or who were in a subway would have a fair chance to survive a bomb of the Nagasaki type detonated at the height of that bomb."

Present information, Bowman added, is that there would be no fatalities from radiation for persons behind 32 inches of concrete shelter 1000 feet from the detonation. Seven inches of concrete would be sufficient at 4000 feet and none beyond a mile.

Don't Invade Our Neighbors, Nehru Warns

New Delhi, March 17 (U.P.).—Indian Prime Minister Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru said today that India, despite a policy of neutrality, will not tolerate foreign invasion anywhere on the Indian subcontinent.

"Any invasion of Nepal, for example, would necessarily involve India," he told Parliament. "Such an invasion is not easily possible or at all likely.

"But I wish to make our policy clear. It would be impossible for India to tolerate invasion of any foreign country in any part of the subcontinent."

Nehru, who returned last night from Bengal, said there have been no major incidents of communal violence on either side of the Indo-Pakistan border for the last two weeks although refugees still are moving both ways by the thousands.

He said 150,000 Hindus had arrived in India from East Bengal since mid-February and that 100,000 Moslems had crossed the border the other way during the same period.

Nehru devoted most of his foreign policy statement to relations with Pakistan and said both nations must take the strongest steps to guarantee the safety of religious minorities in the future.

He disclosed he had been negotiating with Pakistan Premier Liaquat Ali Khan about a joint declaration providing such guarantees.

"It is not feasible to try to move all Moslems to Pakistan and Hindus to India because the transportation process, even if at top speed, would take more than five years," he said.

Nehru criticized talk of an Indo-Pakistan war and charged the Indian press with a "lack of restraint" in coverage of the Bengal atrocities.

The premier described the hydrogen bomb as an "odd cure" for the world's ills—"like curing a headache by cutting off the patient's head."

He restated India's determination not to become entangled with foreign power blocs although anxious to promote world peace actively. He pointed out that the United States followed a policy of nonentanglement during its rise to power.

Gen. Fairchild Dies of Attack

Force in May, 1948, was a native of Bellingham, Wash. He first entered military service in the Washington National Guard in 1916, and saw service as a buck sergeant on the Mexican border expedition.

The following year, he became a flying cadet in the Aviation section of the Signal Corps, and was made a second lieutenant on January 11, 1918.

After World War I, he was discharged as a 1st lieutenant, on October 31, 1919, but re-entered as a 1st lieutenant in the regular Army on July 1, 1920. Promotions came slowly until World War II when he rose from temporary rank of lieutenant colonel directly to brigadier general.

His service in World War I took him overseas and he flew several types of night bombers, including night bombers over the Rhine with the French forces. He was stationed in Italy for a time in 1918.

In September, 1920, he was given command of the 11th Aero Squadron at Kelly Field, Tex. Subsequently he was a test pilot at McCook Field, Ohio, later took special engineering training and was an engineering officer.

Between December 21, 1926, and May 2, 1927, he participated in a Pan-American goodwill flight and after this, was one of the first 10 officers to receive the newly created Distinguished Flying Cross.

In succeeding years he served at a number of Army Air Force posts in the United States, and also attended a number of Army advanced schools. In 1940 he was made assistant executive in the plans division, chief of Air Corps, and in June, 1941, became first secretary of the newly formed Air Staff. He became assistant chief of the Air Corps on August 4, 1941.

In March, 1942, he became director of military requirements at the Air Force Headquarters here, and from November, 1942, to January, 1946, was a member of the Joint Strategic Survey Committee of the Combined Chiefs of Staff.

In January, 1946, he was made commandant of the Air University at Maxwell Field, Ala., which post he held until becoming vice chief of staff of the Air Force nearly two years ago.

Besides his wife, the former Florence Alice Rossiter, he is survived by one daughter, Mrs. Ross Hamilton Calvert, jr. She is the wife of an infantry captain stationed in Tokyo.

Funeral arrangements had not been completed last night.

Spencer Named To Utility Board

Kenneth W. Spencer yesterday won unanimous Senate confirmation to be a member of the District Public Utilities Commission until June 30.

Spencer has been a member of the District Board of Real Estate Assessors for the past eight years, and for the eight preceding years had done valuation work for the PUC.

He will serve the rest of the term of James W. Lauderdale who has resigned.

Brooklyn Teacher Dismissed As Lying About Link to Reds

New York, March 17 (AP).—A Brooklyn grammar school teacher, accused of lying when she denied affiliation with a subversive organization, was dropped from the board of education payroll today.

The board voted unanimously last night to oust the 37-year-old probationary teacher, Mrs. Sylvia M. Schneiderman.

The school superintendent, Dr. William Jansen, reported:

"As early as last December 28, I wrote to Mrs. Schneiderman and asked her to come in to see me about her membership in the Communist Party."

Jansen said one of his assistants then tried three days last week to get the teacher to appear, but she refused.

Jansen, who recommended the woman be fired, charged that she had lied when she answered "no" to this question in her teaching license application:

"Are you now or have you ever been affiliated with any organization or group indorsing the Communist, Fascist or Nazi movement?"

Jansen's formal charge was that Mrs. Schneiderman made "a false statement under oath."

The nine-member board's decision was issued at the end of a stormy hearing, during which 250 persons jammed its meeting hall.

About 300 pickets paraded outside protesting the ouster. Some of the pickets were identified as members of the Teachers Union, of which Mrs. Schneiderman is a member.

12,000 Subversive Cases Tied to Trial

In Spy Case

U. N. Cuts Off Gubitchev's $6050 Pay

Lake Success, March 17 (AP).—Secretary-General Trygve Lie announced today that Valentin Gubitchev, convicted Russian spy, has been cut off the payroll of the United Nations, where he formerly worked as an engineer.

Lie also said Gubitchev and his wife have been paid their passage home in accordance with the U. N. practice for departing employes.

Gubitchev was convicted in New York Federal Court March 7 with Judith Coplon. He was given the option of returning to Russia or serving a 15-year prison sentence, and has chosen to sail Monday in the Polish liner Batory.

Gubitchev had been suspended by the U. N. but kept on the payroll since his arrest a year ago. Lie said the Russian had been paid up to the day he was convicted.

Gubitchev drew $6050 a year from the U. N. in salary and living allowance.

The Justice Department has 12,000 subversive prosecutions hanging on the final outcome of the New York Communist trial and could prosecute thousands more except that it must protect its confidential informants.

The information was given to the House Appropriations Committee by Raymond P. Whearty, chief of the agency's criminal division, to reinforce a request for additional help in the department.

Whearty, acting Assistant Attorney General, said he has only 11 lawyers and seven clerks assigned to his internal security section. He wants to add four lawyers and two clerks to handle the subversive cases.

All told, Whearty said there are 21,105 such cases pending. Of these, 12,000 depend upon final court interpretations of the law in the prosecution of 11 convicted Communist leaders who now are appealing.

"There are a number of cases in the department which are perfectly good trial cases," Whearty told the committee, "but can't be proven for the reason that the sole witnesses to the cases are confidential informants and cannot be used as witnesses."

He said there also are cases where Communists have applied for employment with the Atomic Energy Commission but failed to report their party membership, a technical violation.

Plea Spurned To Reargue Anti-Red Law

Annapolis, Md., March 17 (AP).—The State Court of Appeals has declined to hear the Communist Party arguments again on why Maryland's antisubversive act should be declared unconstitutional, attaches of the bench said today.

Attaches said a Communist motion to reargue the so-called Ober law has been denied. Attorneys for Philip Frankfeld, State party chairman, made the motion last week. They maintained the Court of Appeals was wrong in not ruling on the validity of the law.

The court reinstated the law in February. But in rejecting suits by a Citizens Committee and the Communist Party of Maryland, it said the question of constitutionality was not properly raised at the time. Since then the Citizens Committee has filed an appeal with the Supreme Court of the United States.

Meanwhile in Baltimore, Attorney General Hall Hammond said today the 850 employes of the Washington Suburban Sanitary Commission must sign the loyalty pledge required by the law.

Hammond said that while the Sanitary Commission is not responsible to the governing bodies of Prince Georges and Montgomery counties it is in effect a municipality—a creation of the General Assembly and therefore a governmental agency.

written documents to come from China to Washington.

3. The Loyalty Review Board did not take action of the notification until about five months later. On February 24, this year, it requested that the case be transmitted to it for post audit.

4. This was done. Four days later, the Review Board sent the case back to the Department, noting that the clearance had been given on the basis of the telegraphed summaries. Now that the full documents were available, it said, the loyalty body should make a finding based on them as well.

Decision the Same

5. The Department board acted promptly, sending the file back to the Review Board about March 1 or 2, declaring that the written documents had been reviewed and that the decision was the same—clearance for Service.

6. The Review Board sent the case back, with a recommendation for a rehearing, under a letter of transmittal dated March 14.

Questions that this chronology still leave unanswered are:

Who informed McCarthy of the Review Board's action before notice of it was sent to the State Department.

2. Where did McCarthy get the "March 3" date?

3. Where did McCarthy get the word, subsequently flatly denied by the State Department, that the Review Board considered Service a "bad security risk" and demanded a different panel from the previous one sit in the Department's re-hearing?

4. Was it just coincidence, or more, that explains the transmittal of the Review Board's recommendation on the same day McCarthy made his charges?

"Whitewash" Charge

McCarthy's accusation of yesterday was that the Department had prejudged the Service case and ordered its loyalty board to give him a "complete and thorough whitewash."

McCarthy said that was the effect of a statement about Service by Deputy Undersecretary of State John E. Peurifoy, issued Thursday. Peurifoy made an unqualified declaration of Service's loyalty and blasted McCarthy for resurrecting "dead, discredited, disproven" charges.

Service, now en route to a new job as American consul general in Calcutta, was recalled on Thursday to face a rehearing before the department's loyalty board and also to answer McCarthy's charges in person.

McCarthy said it should be remembered that the members of the State Department's board are all employes of the State Department "subject to summary dismissal by Secretary Acheson or by Acheson's spokesman (Peurifoy)."

Told Ahead of Time

He added:

"Thus the boss of the State Department's own loyalty board tells the board ahead of time: 'you were right in the first place in clearing Service—the Civil Service Loyalty Board was wrong in disapproving your action.'

"Can there be any doubt as to what action will be taken by the State Department's own loyalty board after this mandate from their boss that they give Service a complete and thorough whitewash?"

Before McCarthy got out his statement, Senator Mundt (R., S. D.) had criticized the department for publicly defending Service at a time when a hearing before its board was coming up. He said that came "with poor grace."

Yesterday, speaking from Milwaukee, a retired chief of Naval Intelligence said he would personally vouch for the "patriotism and integrity" of Service.

The defense came from Rear Admiral Ellis M. Zacharias. He said the same thing applied also to another person named by McCarthy, U. S. Ambassador-at-Large Philip C. Jessup.

In the interview, Zacharias said he knew Jessup personally and that he knew Service's work well.

Jessup, accused by McCarthy of an "unusual affinity for Communist causes," will appear in answer to the charge on Monday morning before a special Senate subcomittee investigating McCarthy's allegations.

Poison Alcohol Kills 2 Patuxent Sailors

Patuxent River Naval Air Test Center, Md., March 17 (Spl.).—Two sailors died here early today of methyl alcohol poisoning, and four others are hospitalized, one in critical and one in serious condition.

Capt. F. M. Trapnell of the Naval Air Station here, to which the six were attached, convoked a board of inquiry to investigate the case.

The sailors who died were Harold E. Franklin, Westminster, S. C., and Charles E. Smith of Carlisle, Ark.

D. C. Man Included

The others in the hospital are: Robert A. Wilson, Hammond, Ind., in critical condition; Alvin E. Genske, Madison, Wis., in serious condition; Floyd R. Hack, Mansfield Ohio and James R. Burton 76 Darrington st. sw., Washington, D. C., held for medical observation.

Methyl alcohol, which authorities here said poisoned the men, is of the same chemical composition as wood alcohol, though some is produced synthetically and not distilled from wood. All of it is poisonous.

Authorities said the six men were found in their barracks about midnight, Thursday suffering from drinking the alcohol.

They were taken to the dispensary hospital where Franklin died within a few minutes, and Smith about an hour later.

Await Board's Findings

Officers were reluctant to discuss details of the case until after the board of inquiry has completed its work.

"It has not yet been learned," one officer said, "where the men got the methyl alcohol or where they drank it."

Officers also declined to say whether the alcohol would be available to anyone of the men in course of his work here. One officer said, however, that "I suppose there is methyl alcohol around any industrial plant or installation."

Questioning Expected

Indications were that the board of inquiry has not yet questioned any of the men, but probably will question at least the two merely under observation on Saturday.

In Washington tonight, Mrs. J. L. Burton, mother of one of the men, said her son spent a night at home earlier this week and seemed to be coming down with a heavy cold. She told him to report to a Navy doctor, she said. He is 19 years old and has been in the Navy two years.

2d to Be Tried

Man Is Given Life Term for Massacre

Kosciusko, Miss., March 17 (AP).—One white man is under sentence of life imprisonment and another faces trial Monday in the massacre of a Negro family here.

Windol Whitt, 25-year-old bricklayer, was given life imprisonment yesterday. A jury convicted him of the murder of 4-year-old Ruby Nell Harris shortly before midnight January 8. Whitt is seeking a new trial.

Slated for trial Monday on a similar charge is a 48-year-old former convict, Leon Turner.

Windol Whitt and his 27-year-old brother, Malcolm, testified that Turner was the trigger-man in the pistol slaying of the Harris child and of Mary Burnside, 8, and Frankie Thurman, 12.

Malcolm Whitt also is awaiting trial, set for March 27.

A Negro tenant farmer, Thomas Harris, 27, told the all-white jury that it was Turner who fired the shot that paralyzed him. Harris was the father of the Harris child and the stepfather of the two other slain children.

Malcolm Whitt surrendered the next day. Two days after the shooting, Windol Whitt and Turner were brought to bay by bloodhounds handled by a prison trusty, Clarence (Hojak) Mullins.

Officers Sentenced In Civil Rights Case

Atlanta, March 17 (AP).—Sheriff John W. Lynch and Deputy William Hartline were sentenced to 12 months in prison and fined $1000 each today for depriving seven Negroes of their civil rights.

Federal Judge Frank A. Hooper gave the two north Georgia officers the maximum sentence allowed by law after denying a motion for a new trial.

Lynch and Hartline were convicted in Federal Court in Rome March 9 of depriving the Negroes of their civil rights by delivering them to a Ku Klux Klan mob for beating.

Their attorney, Frank Gleason, announced he would appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals and on the Supreme Court if necessary.

Judge Hooper permitted the two Dade County officers to remain free in bond pending appeal.

Eight other defendants were acquitted. The 10 men first were tried last year, but the case ended in a mistrial.

Ditch Yields Severed Body Of Slain Man

Chicago, March 17 (AP).—Carpenters found two "bundles" in a snow-flecked ditch today that turned out to be the severed sections of a man clubbed, shot and cut in two.

Sheriff's police reported relatives identified the body as that of George Willis Baldwin, 54, of Terre Haute, Ind. Baldwin, operator of a one-man window washing service, had been missing since Monday. He usually carried large sums of money.

The killing and mutilation appeared to be one of the most brutal in the city's history.

The victim's hands were bound in front with rope. A bullet had passed through his chest. There was a bruise on the head, indicating he had been blackjacked. The body was severed above the waist.

The upper part of the body was bundled up in a quilt tied over the head with hopes and wire. The belt on the lower half of the body was pulled so tight the trousers were closed, sack-like.

Police believed the victim had been slugged and shot and that his body had been severed with a cleaver or a bolo knife.

Mrs. Fred Wilkie, operator of a sided, said she feared for Baldwin's safety because he carBaldwin's safety because he carried large sums of money with him, usually in two pouches. She said she did not know the source of his money. She reported he had no visitors at his room recently except a salesman who called about two weeks ago.

Two carpenters on the way to work noticed the body. They notified a utility company which called in police.

Michigan Family Of 6 Killed in Fire

Port Huron, Mich., March 17 (AP).—A fire that destroyed their concrete block home in a matter of minutes claimed the lives of a family of six here today.

The fire which swept the home of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Chase is believed to have started in the living room, where the Chases had been playing cards.

Undersheriff A. J. Foster identified the dead as Chase, 42; his wife, Phyllis, 32, an expectant mother, and their four children, Judith, 6; Nancy, 4; Ralph, 3; and Rebecca, 2.

Working Man Sentenced for Fraud

Fred C. Farrell, 30, of 2210 H st. ne., yesterday in Municipal Court was sentenced to a total of $250 fine or 150 days on 15 counts of violating the District Unemployment Compensation law.

According to police, Farrell falsely alleged he was jobless March through July, 1948.

Actually, they said, he was employed at various jobs making up to $50 a week.

Ex-Klansman Stephenson Wins Parole

Michigan City, Ind., March 17 (U.P.).—David C. (Doc) Stephenson, 56, former Ku Klux Klan leader who once boasted "I am the law" in Indiana, was paroled today after serving 25 years in prison for murdering a pretty Indiana Statehouse worker.

Stephenson had tried 46 times to gain freedom from the State Penitentiary where he was sentenced for life in 1925 for the kidnap, rape and murder of a pretty, 28-year-old State employe. This was the first time he had gotten as far as appearing before the parole board.

Gov. Henry F. Schricker opened the way for Stephenson's successful appeal when he commuted his sentence from life to "time served to life."

Schricker said the former Indiana grand dragon had served "a pretty long span of his life," and he thought "the Stephenson case is a page in Indiana history that ought to be closed." The balding Klan leader in previous appeals had called himself "a political prisoner."

Stephenson, accompanied by three Klan bodyguards, kidnaped Madge Oberholtzer in Indianapolis, forced her aboard a Chicago-bound train and raped her, leaving her severely injured.

Miss Oberholtzer slipped away from the Hammond, Ind., hotel where the party registered, ran to a drug store, bought some poison and swallowed it.

Stephenson sent his bodyguards with the girl back to her Indianapolis home, where she died three weeks later. Before dying, she signed a sttaement accusing Stephenson.

At the trial Stephenson once shouted "I am the law!" At the height of his power he lived in a mansion, owned a yacht and a string of high-powered automobiles.

His "political prisoner" cry was aimed at the politicians with whom he and his once powerful Indiana Klan had worked. He claimed they kept him prisoner because of documented evidence he had against them.

Teen-Age Vice Raids Result In 14 Arrests

Milwaukee, March 17 (U.P.).—Fourteen teen-agers indulging in drinking, narcotic and sex parties have been arrested in Milwaukee's underprivileged Sixth Ward, police announced today.

Police said they learned of the orgies after finding two teen-age couples living together.

Of the 14 arrested, two of the boys are in their alte teens. Police sought warrants charging one with carnal knowledge and abuse and the other with contributing to the delinquency of a minor.

The others are seven girls and five boys, aged from 14 to 18.

Police expected to arrest at least six more teen-agers in the next few days.

They said most of those arrested admitted taking part in the parties. One girl, they added, said that at the parties boys and girls drank wine and beer "spiked" with benzedrine, then participated in sex orgies.

The girl said she had attended marijuana-smoking and sex parties in Milwaukee and at a tavern in Racine County, to the south.

Lynch Victim's Mother Is Paid

Greenville, S. C., March 16 (AP). Greenville County has issued a check for $2000 to the estate of Willie Earle, mob victim, whose body was found in Greenville County more than three years ago, it was learned late tonight.

The check was sent this week to Tessie Earle, mother of the victim and administratrix of his estate. She lives in Pickens County.

State provisions provide for payment of not less than $2000 by a county to the personal representative of a victim of a fatal lynching.

Kefauver Submits Bill to Continue Day Care Program

Senator Estes Kefauver (D., Tenn.), yesterday introduced a bill to provide for another year of the District child day care center program.

The bill would authorize continuance of the existing program at the present level of financing—a $100,000 District appropriation plus amounts paid by parents in fees.

One feature would let the District Commissioners contract with one or more private agencies to operate the day care centers.

Efforts are under way to form a privately sponsored organization to take over the program. The bill was referred to the Senate District Committee.

Arabs Reject Bid

Arab diplomats have turned down an invitation to speak before the annual conference of the Middle East Institute.

An informed official said yesterday the Arabs declined because they would have to sit on the same speakers' platform with Israeli embassy officials.

The Arabs felt this might be misinterpreted to imply they now recognize the new Jewish state as a sovereign nation.

Synthetic Ohio Cat Emerges Intact From 900-Degree Kiln

Minerva, Ohio, March 17 (AP).—A synthetic cat came out of a brick kiln today with its rear-end scorched, but still a bundle of flesh and fur.

It thereby, experimenters said, proved the greatest hot-foot story in the history of Minerva: The tale of Miracle, a real calico cat which survived 36 hours in a kiln heated to 900 degrees.

Miracle's prefabricated counterpart—a sirloin steak wrapped in a sealskin hat—was submitted to a similar ordeal. At the end of 36 hours, the steak still was juicy and the hat fur soft.

One end was charred. That was the end farthest in the furnace, where the tail of the real cat presumably once lay. An inch and a half of Miracle's tail was burned off.

"Now," the brick plant superintendent exclaimed as the test was concluded, "maybe they'll believe we're not a bunch of liars."

The superintendent, Joe Bucola, was the first person to relate the tale of Minerva's fire-resistant cat. He was there, he said, when she staggered out of the kiln March 5 after being locked in accidentally.

Miracle, minus part of her tail, also had singed fur, and her paws were badly burned.

Bucola and Dr. William Orr, a Minerva veterinarian, both stoutly defended the story of Miracle. Dr. Walter R. Krill, dean of the veterinary college at Ohio State University, ridiculed it.

The doubting Thomases inspired Mrs. Twila Carman to devise the prefabricated cat. She is the Minerva correspondent for the Canton Repository, who relayed the tale to the world.

Said Mrs. Carman after examining the steak-and-fur cat today: "I think this shows that the real cat could have lived.

"I think this was a very severe test, for the cat is living tissue and living tissue would withstand the heat much better than the materials used in the test."

"Besides, I put the synthetic cat a good six inches into the kiln. The real cat could have hovered beside the door and acquired fresh air by bumping the door. This time, we had the door sealed."

At 3d Precinct

Policeman Accused of Beating Man

The Civilian Police Trial Board last night took under advisement charges by a laborer that a police private had struck and kicked him, while a fellow policeman stood by.

The complaint was made by Bill Ward, 46, of 320 15th st. ne., who said he was maltreated in a second-floor room at the Third Precinct station house January 29.

Pvt. Paul L. McEwen kicked him at least three times on the shins and struck him in the stomach four or five times, while Pvt. John W. Harrison looked on, Ward said.

Both policemen, who were charged with willfully maltreating and using unnecessary force toward a prisoner, pleaded not guilty to the charges.

They said they arrested Ward for investigation around 1 a. m. January 29 after they found him in the Watergate Inn, 2700 F st. nw. He was taken to the police station house for further questioning, they said, after he told them he had dropped into the restaurant to see a friend who was supposed to work there at night, but who was not there.

Ward was released a short while later, they said, when they checked with the owner of the Watergate Inn and found Ward had been employed there until recently.

A doctor from Emergency Hospital testified he treated Ward for abrasions to the shins and found he had mild diffused tenderness in the abdomen, early on the morning of January 29.

Several policemen from the Third Precinct said Ward complained of stomach pains after he was questioned by McEwen and Harrison but added that he told them at the time that he had suffered such pains off and on ever since he had been operated on several months earlier.

County Group Plans to Study Tax Values

The Montgomery County League of Women Voters yesterday voted to look into the money value of governmental services in the county.

The league, at its annual meeting in the Woodside Methodist Church, Silver Spring, adopted the topic, "Evaluation of Services to the County with a View Toward Getting the Most for Our Tax Dollar," for its program for the coming year.

As a long-range program, it will seek to obtain "a more representative government" and "a central structural plan of government for the county."

The program was presented by Mrs. John Scharf, chairman of the local government study group.

In its annual elections, the league named Mrs. Thomas Lee Smith, Chevy Chase, second vice president; Mrs: Dean Almy, Chevy Chase, treasurer; Mrs. Merrill Murray, Chevy Chase, recording secretary; Mrs. Chester Page, Silver Spring, corresponding secretary; Mrs. William B. Murphy, Bethesda, nominating committee chairman, and Mrs. Robert Ladd, Rockville, and Mrs. Elizabeth Rohr, Bethesda, members of the board.

Mrs. James V. Bennett, Chevy Chase, league president, has another year to serve.

Defendant Cleared in Assault Case

Leon Miskin, 21, of 509 Nicholson st. nw., yesterday was cleared of assault charges after a defense witness testified that he and not Miskin was the suspect involved.

The witness, Nick Carrigan, 22, of the same general build and appearance as Miskin declared that he was the one who beat up Marine Corporal Clyde Swann, Quantico, in the 1300 block of E st. nw., early January 22.

Miskin had been charged with assault with a dangerous weapon —a blackjack.

Carrigan testified that he, Carrigan, hit Swann only with his fists.

Swann, who was attacked in the street, shortly after he had left the Stagecrafters'—an after-hours club —at 3rd and E sts. nw., identified Miskin as his attacker.

Police said a blackjack was found concealed in a pair of shoes in Miskin's car.

Casey dismissed the charges against Miskin on the grounds of insufficient identification, noting that Swann had been drinking and had got only a glimpse of his assailant through bloodied eyes.

50 Germans See, Give to Junior Police

A group of 50 German officials and experts in various fields who are looking over American democracy yesterday dropped in at the Junior Police and Citizens Corps headquarters, 8th st. and Barry pl. nw.

They heard Police Pvt. Oliver A. Cowan tell why and how he started the organization for Negro youngsters a few years ago.

They heard young leaders of the group tell how they run the center themselves, and try to turn street-corner gang leaders into "inspectors" and other ranking members of the organization.

They heard the pledge taken by some 13,000 Negro youngsters when they join: "I promise to keep myself and my friends out of trouble at all times, so help me God."

The Germans, whose visit is sponsored by the State Department and whose total expense allowances are limited to $10 a day, were so impressed with the work of the Junior Police that they spontaneously took up a collection among themselves.

"Not so much for what you are actually doing," said their spokesman, Helmuth Pencel of Bavaria, as he presented the proceeds to Private Cowan, "but more because we are impressed by the fact that you did this on your own, without help from the District or other officials."

The German group is being taken on an "orientation tour" this week by officials of the American Council on Education, headed by Dr. Harry Wann of the New York State Department of Education.

Judge Refuses Abortion Death Case Delay

Judge Alexander Holtzoff refused yesterday to delay the Ralph W. Myers' abortion-death trial beyond Monday despite the plea of Defense Lawyer James J. Laughlin that he doesn't wish to court a "thrombosis" by trying the case at this time.

Myers, 44, of 2110 N. Lincoln st., Arlington, is charged with attempting an abortion with fatal results to Mrs. Nina C. Campbell, 20, on January 4. Myers is in jail in lieu of $20,000 bond, which sub Laughlin has repeatedly tried to have reduced.

In a petition to District Court for a delay yesterday, Laughlin said that he has been busily trying strenuous cases since January 17 and needs a rest.

He said he is "not going to risk thrombosis for the sake of any defendant or for the sake of facilitating the criminal docket."

Judge Holtzoff said that since Laughlin was engaged in a trial law practice, he must assume that at times one important case may follow another.

Laughlin added that he did not believe he could be ready to try the case on the date scheduled, but Judge Holtzoff said that he would neither delay it nor would he allow the lawyer to exit from the case.

Jail Fire Kills Six Held for Drunkenness

Spray, N. C., March 17 (AP).—Smoke from a burning mattress on a cell bunk suffocated six prisoners in the township jail here today.

The one woman and five men all had been arrested on charges of public drunkenness. Three of the men were Negroes.

Officers who unlocked the second floor jail to imprison another man were choked off by smoke waves. They called firemen who donned masks and groped into the cell block and found the corpses.

A coroner's jury empaneled by Dr. M. P. Cummings decided there was no evidence of negligence. Officers said they were unable to suggest how the mattress caught fire. They said no match or cigarette remnants were found about the partly burned mattress. It was in the cell occupied by Junior Yarborough, 21, and Marion Morrison, 21. They were booked last night along with Lucille Wimbish, 29, who was in a cell to herself. The three Negroes, Harvey Cole, 23; Joe W. Willis, 30, and Bonie Martin, 45, were in a single cell on the opposite side.

Hollywood Doctor Weds Joan Leslie

Santa Barbara, Calif., March 17 (U.P.).—Film Star Joan Leslie, redhaired and Irish, chose St. Patricks' Day to marry Dr. William Caldwell, a Hollywood physician.

Peron's Press

Salute to La Prensa and La Nacion, those good and gallant newspapers in Buenos Aires, which are still holding on to life by the skin of their teeth. Peron's antipress campaign is fast condemning Argentina to total darkness. The few remaining independent newspapers that have managed to survive Peron's hostility are gradually being harried to death. All in all, the so-called Visca committee of the Argentine Congress investigating anti-Argentine activity has closed more than 100 opposition papers, though a few captives have been permitted to resume publication.

The most tragic cases are those of La Prensa and La Nacion, for these once great Buenos Aires dailies are famed all over Latin America, and are highly esteemed throughout the newspaper world. Ever since Peron came to power the war has been on, and they have been harassed by a multitude of petty objections on such matters as the condition of their washrooms. Within the last six months relations have become measurably worse. In the middle of February the Peron government took over all stocks of newsprint and, constituting itself the only distributor, cut down the rations severely. For a time La Prensa and La Nacion were allocated only enough paper to continue until March 15. They have since been reprieved, but they are now mere shadows, and their existence is strictly a day-to-day affair.

We hope we shall never have to write their obituaries. But the struggle against the dictator has become desperate, and deserves the applause of all believers in free institutions. If these newspapers are killed, Peron's niche in history will be assured, but solely as their assassin.

Polarized World

Sharper and sharper grows the distinction that Secretary Acheson is making between the United States and the Soviet Union. In his speech at Berkeley the Secretary of State saw the world issue in terms of good versus evil in which evil is trying to impose upon good with "any method or stratagem including subversion, threats, and even military force." It seems to be his feeling that unless this is understood, the cause of the free world is lost—that the people of this country must realize the dichotomy as the precondition even of throwing the accent upon constructive statesmanship..

This is not to say that Mr. Acheson has no program which would insure the "coexistence" of the Communist and the free worlds. He has. In his speech he called upon Moscow to show good faith in defining the terms of peace with our former enemies, withdrawing troops from the satellite areas, cooperating in the United Nations, controlling atomic energy by international agreement, abandoning coercion of other governments by indirect aggression, restoring some standards of civilized treatment to diplomatic officials, refraining from the distortion of other countries' motives to its own people. This is an admirable program. However, Mr. Acheson is quick to add that there is not the slightest chance that Moscow will accept it. In the circumstances the United States must face the perils of nonagreement with a "total diplomacy" aimed at strengthening the free world.

It is unnecessary, in our opinion, to ask the American people whether they agree with this program of peace or even with Mr. Acheson's pessimism over the Russian response. In our opinion, they do agree, and their unanimity furnishes a strength to this Nation's diplomacy such as no other Foreign Minister in the world possesses. What other of the Foreign Ministers at the last conference of them, for instance, could elicit the popular support back of Secretary Acheson at the conference table? This is a fund on which to draw for a program for Americans in coping with the cold war.

Now the seven-point program that Mr. Acheson announced was for Russians. In 1942 President Roosevelt himself announced a seven-point program—for Americans. He prefaced it by saying, "Every loyal American is aware of his individual responsibility. When I hear anyone saying 'The American people are complacent'—they need to be aroused, I feel like asking him to come to Washington to read the mail that floods into the White House and into all departments of this Government. The one question that recurs through all these thousands of letters and messages is: What more can I do to help my country in winning this war?" Here was faith. The same faith in the people on the part of the present leadership is needed today. They will regard the seven-point program as a long-term objective and look for a more immediate alternative in the "building of a free world." But here they do not get either the same accent or a similar bill of particulars. They need something that will unite them dynamically and activate their energies in consolidating the free world as the preface to influencing the Communist world.

Access To Files

Senator Tydings says that his committee has obtained free and unlimited access to the loyalty files in the State Department concerning the 81 cases, now grown to over a hundred, that Senator McCarthy is itching to expose. The announcement was made as if it were the merest routine. But everybody with any relation to confidential papers on personnel knows otherwise. It is a decision of great consequence. Let us skip this time over the irretrievable damage to innocent reputations arising from the parading of hearsay by overt or covert publicity. Think of the precedent that revelation would set in furnishing a handle to other Senators who might see in this type of politiking a ready access to the headlines at election time. Or ponder the harrowed feelings of the FBI. The FBI is not only afraid of the danger to its information system consequent upon exposure, it is worried over the constant pressure that it should evaluate all the tidbits and idle gossip that under its system go into loyalty records.

So there should be second thoughts, in our opinion, on this question of opening the relevant files. A dilemma, to be sure, is involved. The State Department has offered free and unreserved cooperation to the committee, Senator Tydings insists on a fair hearing, and there is the challenge to be met from Senator McCarthy. Surely a compromise could be found that would satisfy all parties this side of dishonorable conduct and dangerous procedure. We suggest there is such a compromise. All parties in the present instance seem to have justified confidence in the chairman of the over-all Loyalty Review Board, Mr. Seth W. Richardson, who made a national reputation as counsel to the Senate's Pearl Harbor inquiry. He is a distinguished lawyer, an upright citizen—and he happens to be a Republican. We should imagine that he is just as much averse to opening files as any other public-spirited person. Why not let him take time out to study the hundred or so files affected by the McCarthy charges in a kind of special post-audit, submit a report to both the President and Senator Tydings, and then stand prepared to answer questions on his findings before the Tydings Committee? Surely, if this were done, the Tydings Committee would be in a position to evaluate the McCarthy charges, and so discharge its obligations under the Senate resolution.

On Distinction

The Langer bill (S. 1847) would prohibit any kind of liquor advertising in any kind of medium traversing State boundaries and so would include most newspapers, magazines, radio and television. A couple of months ago there were hearings on the bill which demonstrated that it has the very ardent support of the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, the Methodist Board of Temperance and Public Morals and most of the other organized enemies of spirituous drink.

The advertising that seems to have most outraged the sensibilities of the dry brethren is the Man of Distinction series, wherein some eminent representative of some highly regarded trade or vocation, with a fine taste in barbers and haberdashers, is portrayed with a well-iced highball in hand, against some background redolent of culture, comfort and general savoir faire.

The dry brethren, however, say that the basic suggestion in these advertisements is emulation, and that it has a bad effect on youth; because it may give a boy the notion that the way to become a famous Washington correspondent like Mr. Ernest Lindley, or a celebrated novelist like Mr. James Warner Bellah, or a distinguished explorer like Sir Hubert Wilkins, or a great architect and engineer like Mr. Wyatt C. Hedrick, is to have a whisky highball always within reach. In the same way, it is argued, many a small boy has developed an incurable taste for spinach in trying to be like Popeye, and many another in trying to be like Joe DiMaggio or Stan Musial has become an inveterate breakfast-food fiend.

This line of attack may not be psychologically sound, but there is some evidence that it has distillers and the advertising folk worried. The current issue of The Advertiser contains a spirited defense of high moral purpose of the Man of Distinction series by Mr. W. W. Watchel, head of the Calvert Distillers Corp. All the persons recognized by the corporation as Men of Distinction, Mr. Watchel says in an interview with Mr. Murray Davis > are temperate and God-fearing. Generally they are church members who worship regularly. All are gentlemen. They prefer to drink in their own homes with their families about them and in the presence of their children but sometimes take a drink at their clubs or with fellow Men of Distinction in well-run taverns. Wherever they are, they are gentlemen and men of distinction . . . It might be pointed out, and significantly, that not one of these Men of Distinction hangs his head in shame—each is looking right at the camera and at the world . . .

> If our Men of Distinction had not been so respectable and distinctive they would not have been commented on so frequently . . . Who ever heard of decent people objecting to too much gentility or refinement in anything?

Well, that seems to acquit the Men of Distinction of setting any example that might encourage American youth to frequent low dives and disreputable company. But it strikes us from Mr. Watchel's description that the Men of Distinction rather overdo their attitude of haughty and genteel exclusiveness. It might do them good now and then to get away from the company of their own sort and bend a democratic elbow with some members of the humble and obscure mass, like Mr. Whoosis out in Watchacallitt, Wis., who only gets his picture in the streetcars and sports pages. After all, a Man of Distinction ought, as Kipling says, to be able to "walk with kings and keep the common touch." And didn't Mr. Wallace say this is the century of the Common Man?

Mr. Spender's Initiative

Soon after Mr. Spender became Australia's Minister for External Affairs, he went to Colombo for the first meeting of the revised Commonwealth of Nations, and sponsored what is known as the Spender plan. The plan aims at mobilizing Commonwealth resources for the economic stabilization of southeast Asian countries. The first step was to set up in Canberra a committee of Commonwealth experts. Whether words will be backed up by action, whether even the experts have already foregathered, cannot be gleaned from the fresh initiative of Mr. Spender. This time he calls for a relationship with the United States similar to that existing within the Commonwealth. Every overture for the drawing together of like-minded nations is to be welcomed, and the United States and Australia have much in common, apart from the need of both to collaborate closely in protecting and assisting the non-Communist successor regimes to the age of empire in Asia.

What Australia could best do at this juncture, however, is to encourage the British to attempt a fundamental solution of their European and debt problems. Both problems are impeding the political consolidation of the free world. At Colombo the Commonwealth Ministers seemed well content with Mr. Bevin's exposition of his arms-length policy toward European union and of the unadjusted situation in respect of the unfunded balances which Britain's wartime associates accumulated in London as proceeds from war trade. But on both problems there is more than a bit of the dog-in-the-manger in the British attitude. Latest reports, even though for a change they are couched in positive phraseology, show there will be no British move into a payments union without guarantees against a European drain on London which would make the union meaningless. It is held in London that these guarantees are needed because of the obligations to keep up repayments of the sterling balances. Yet any effort to tackle the sterling balances and so open the way to eventual convertibility of Europe's currencies is getting lodged in a merry-go-round of argument.

Issues, however, cannot be settled by process of allowing arguments to cancel themselves out in nonaction. And too much is at stake in this matter to let the paralysis go on. That is why the United States might well take advantage of Australia's proffer and enlist her cooperation in overcoming the main economic stumbling block in the economic mobilization of the free world.

What Is A Minority?

Representative W. Kingsland Macy takes exception to our editorial of March 8 about the Lodge-Gossett resolution in which we said:

> We can think of few worse political disasters that may befall the country under the present system than to have a minority President. For that matter, the election of a man to this position without a popular majority behind him would be a calamity for the President himself and for the party which sponsored him.

Mr. Macy's contention is:

> "Political disaster" has already befallen us. "Calamity" has already been visited upon the White House. We have a minority President in the White House at this very moment.
>
> If The Washington Post editorial writers will take out their pencils and make a simple calculation, they will discover that Harry S. Truman received only 49.5 percent of the 1948 vote which elected him to office. Despite the elements of "disaster" and "calamity" which every thinking American knows exist in the President's neo-socialist policies, The Washington Post supports 95 percent of them, minority President or not.

There are, of course, several definitions of "minority President." Webster defines "minority" as "the smaller number." In a limited sense Mr. Truman is a "minority President" because he did not receive a majority of the total vote cast, although the customary usage of the term is to designate a President who has fewer popular votes than his nearest rival but wins the office because the strategic location of his popular support gives him a majority of electoral votes. In this sense, of course, Mr. Truman is not a minority President. It seems plain from the context of the editorial that we were using the term in this sense. If Mr. Truman were to be regarded as a minority President, moreover, where would one find the man with the majority? While we never profess to be infallible, we cannot help thinking that Mr. Macy would make more progress toward converting his party into a majority if he gave more attention to building a constructive program and less to quibbling over a word.

"Montgomery Streets"

Your March 10 editorial entitled "Montgomery Streets" was read with a great deal of interest, particularly that part "more important than revised standards for Montgomery County alone, it seems to us is the move for uniform street codes covering the whole Metropolitan area. If county officials would show the same enthusiasm for this that they have for the Montgomery County code, they might perform a real service in standardizing construction practices. More important still, a uniform street code would give a much needed impetus to a common set of building regulations."

A great deal of good could come out of a meeting of the officials of Prince Georges, Montgomery, Arlington, Fairfax and Alexandria counties as you suggest For instance, experiences in planning, traffic, street specifications and maintenance could be exchanged and should be helpful to all concerned. Studies toward a standard modern development code might result.

Certainly a conference of those interested in the orderly expansion of the metropolitan area would be a step forward.

"Lewis As A Bargainer"

You have made an excellent point in your March 12 editorial, "Lewis as a Bargainer," when you state that from a long range viewpoint the sick coal industry will go from bad to worse unless steps are taken to deal with the problem of overproduction constructively. However, I do not agree that the coal industry finds itself in this plight because of the insatiable demands of the miners.

It is true that John L. Lewis, who according to The Washington Post Columnist Drew Pearson has done more for any one great segment of labor than any other individual in history, has faced the anomalous situation of decreasing the demand for coal while increasing the returns the miners received for their labors. But, even if the tremendous advantages which the UMW has allegedly extorted from the mine operators because of the failure of Judge Keech to find the miners in contempt of court are considered, the annual wage of a coal miner based on a five day week is far short of excessive.

To accuse men of making insatiable demands because they refuse to keep the demand for coal high by maintaining a substandard of living for themselves and their families is unfair.

McCarthy's Point

The dear folks and gentle people in our home towns are wondering why some of our important folks don't stop heckling and begin helping people like the Senator from Wisconsin.

The herrings were red, you know—in America, in Britain, in Canada. Regular judicial processes established the facts. Add that to the known Communist plan—lie, spy, steal, sabotage, and if caught, re-lie—and we come to the reasonable conclusion that a denial isn't worth a what do you call it.

If and when a political party gets in such straits that it can be saved only at the risk of selling out or giving away one's country, it is high time to begin a bipartisan demonstration of loyalty.

It is nothing to me whether anyone still loves Hiss or wants to keep Senator McCarthy from having his way. But I'm still part of this Government, and nobody has the right to tell me he's part of an Administration whose policies differ from those I subscribe to, and therefore he can misrepresent me.

I reiterate: A Communist will lie, spy, steal, sabotage, and if caught will re-lie, so let's help, not hinder those who have the will and the energy to clean up the rat's nest. ALLEN DALE.

Asphyxiation Danger

The case reported in your March 13 issue of what might have resulted in death by asphyxiation of a whole family should have received more attention.

The fact that natural gas is nearly odorless makes it dangerous as a household fuel. Faulty connections allowing a continuous leak, or a burner accidentally opened can bring into a room a fatal amount of gas.

Distributors of natural gas for domestic use should be required to add enough of a highly odorous gas that it could be quickly detected in a room. This is the only way an odorless gas can be made safe for home use.

F. T. VORIS.

Editor's Note: Both the Washington Gas Light Co. and the Rosslyn Gas Co. report that captan, an odorous substance, is added to natural gas used in this area.

Lattimore Impugned

George Santayana once said, "If it were given to me to look into the depths of a man's heart, and I did not find good-will at the bottom, I should say without any hesitation, you are not an American."

Since Senator McCarthy made his charges against the State Department, many others besides myself gave the Senator the benefit of the doubt. "He might have something," was a current sentence in the last few days. We wanted to believe that Mr. McCarthy's charges were honestly intended to clear the Department of State of Communists, despite all the evidence that the Department is clear. We thought he had good-will. Then came his charge against Prof. Owen Lattimore.

I happen to be familiar with Mr. Lattimore's books and ideas. Branding him as a Communist reveals to me the yardstick which the Senator has been using in his accusations. Professor Lattimore's formula on Asia is that the backing of reactionary and colonial systems is not the means of combating the rise of communism. Not taking this advice from a man who has a thorough knowledge of the Far East "might well have already done this nation incalculable and irreparable harm." (Senator McCarthy's words.)

I submit that it is in the interest of the United States and its reputation that if further disclosures are going to be of this same brand, that Senator McCarthy be limited in his senseless utterances—for heaven's sake! CLOVIS McSOUD.

Breakdown Of Kennan's Blueprint

I have followed with keen interest the opinion of Walter Lippmann and the Alsop brothers on the cold war.

For some years Mr. Lippmann has been very outspoken in his criticism of the State Department's blueprint for a cold war policy. As early as 1947 Mr. Lippmann counseled against George Kennan, then the State Department director of policy planning, that our program for a containment policy "is fundamentally unsound, that it cannot be made to work, and that the attempt to make it work will cause us to squander our substance and our prestige." Subsequent events have proven Mr. Lippmann's analysis the correct one.

There is a widespread feeling that our cold war policy has failed. We suffered a painful setback in Asia; we have deep-rooted differences with France and England, and there are many signs that, ultimately, western Germany will also side with the East. Stewart Alsop, in his column of March 3, admits that "at this dark turning point in the cold war, a sense of defeatism and impotence is spreading like a fungus throughout the Government, the Congress and the country." Yet, it does not occur to the Alsops that something might be basically wrong in our "containment" policy.

Praising George Kennan as "the brilliant State Department planner," Mr. Alsop ascribes to him the formula that we must create "a situation of fact which will cause the Kremlin to reverse its policy." The "situation of fact," as Mr. Kennan outlined in great detail, is to deny Russia any opportunity for a settlement, to frustrate her efforts everywhere and to stir up discontent inside her borders until the Soviet regime collapses and Russia changes "overnight from one of the strongest to one of the weakest and most pitiable of national societies."

Mr. Lippmann has questioned the effectiveness of a long-range policy based on such over-optimistic predictions. Yet, the Alsop brothers still believe in the cold war blueprint and declare that the "whole job" can be done if we add to our armament outlay "a further burden of two billion dollars or a little more per year."

Here is the great lack of logic in the Alsop argument. The formula of the "brilliant policy planner" George Kennan has not brought about the expected results. Instead of "mellowing" under our tough policy, Russia has hardened her attitude and is answering with a rough policy. The whole economy of the Soviet Union, says the Alsops, "is now dedicated to preparing for war." To deter by a show of force such gigantic military strength would require far greater efforts on our part than adding only a further burden of two billion dollars to our armament bill. We have either to scrap our peacetime economy entirely and to launch all-out war preparation, or we have to pursue a policy of mutual adjustment and understanding in order to arrive at a realistic settlement with Russia.

It seems to me that Senators McMahon and Tydings are right with their suggestions that we must make another attempt for a general settlement of all issues which divide East and West. There is little time left to indulge in wishful thinking or to continue to pursue naive power politics, which events have already discredited. A realistic diplomatic approach to the Russians, as advocated during the last few years by Mr. Lippmann, is the order of the day. Those who have been associated with the present policy of containment should be replaced by the President with a new group of planners and top diplomats, flexible enough to challenge the Russian "peace offensive" with a positive approach.

Block In The Science Bill

A Communication

THE BILL for a Science Foundation which recently came to a vote in the House (H.R. 4846) had tacked onto it a stringent provision for FBI investigation and evaluation of the loyalty of anyone in any way employed by, or receiving scholarship benefits from, the proposed science foundation. The constitutional dynamite involved in setting up the FBI not only to investigate, but also to evaluate, the loyalty of those in any way connected with the Science agency, has been ably presented in these columns.

This amendment is a symptom of steadily increasing shackling of the Nation's scientific efforts by increasing subjection of all scientists and scientific activities to loyalty probes, checks, and investigations. Admittedly, much scientific work is involved in highly secret national defense work; and such work connected with scientific military developments should unquestionably be entrusted only to personnel about whose loyalty there cannot be the slightest doubt. But by extending loyalty investigations to all phases of science, even those far removed from scientific military development, we are slowly strangling the Nation's scientific productivity and thereby undermining the Nation's security.

To produce the high scientific productive capacity required for national security in an atomic age, more than mere numbers of capable scientists is required. It is also vital to be able to pick out the exceptionally able in science and assign them to spearhead our scientific advance. Here lies concealed a vital factor hardly ever glimpsed by people outside of the scientific fraternity. This is the fact that the handful of scientists of Nobel Prize caliber determine the direction and the speed of scientific advance. The others, though they also do essential work, merely increase the momentum of the procession.

THE GRANTING by the science foundation of scholarships to graduate students would promote the increased production of major-league material in science. But let us suppose that restrictions are imposed upon all recipients of these fellowships, such as subjecting them to FBI investigation.

The Scientists' Committee on Loyalty Problems, after a study of a number of contested cases of clearance of scientists for work in agencies where secrecy is required, reported that, if an error in evaluation is made, the person affected has great difficulty finding who was responsible and getting it corrected. Furthermore, people turned down for a job after FBI investigation, have that fact in their records, and it often acts as a deterrent to employment elsewhere, even where security is not involved. Yet the evidence on which they were turned down is entirely unchallenged and may be completely erroneous. In short, by merely subjecting himself to investigation, the applicant for a fellowship leaves himself open to being maimed, for life, in his good name and in his ability to earn a living, on what may well have been an entirely erroneous basis.

THE OBJECT of the scholarship is to develop and funnel to the top the most gifted of our scientifically endowed people. Such people, experience shows, not only have the insight to realize the hazards involved in these procedures, but are the first to protest and to refuse to submit to the undemocratic character of the procedures required. Moreover, because of their unusual ability, they will have many other roads open to distinction and high earning capacity.

Why should a student skimp and scrape to develop into a mathematical physicist and, on top of that, subject himself to possible crippling of his earning capacity or reputation by some misdirected investigator?

This phenomenon, already pervading the highest levels of scientific effort, has given rise to the Atomic Energy Commission's complaint that it can get plenty of scientists, but suffers from an acute shortage of top-notch ones.

This means that the exceptional and alert will shy away from science foundation scholarships, while moderate or mediocre talent would be attracted, because the scholarship would be a far better deal than they could realize elsewhere. In time, these two effects—the turning away from science of the most talented, and turning to it of the moderately able or mediocre—will reduce the level of the Nation's scientific activity below the brilliance it attained during World War II. Our defense establishment will then have to depend on scientific personnel able only to add minute refinements to existing methods of defense and to existing types of armaments. But in an atomic age, this is not an adequate basis for national security. Preparedness for war in an atomic age requires a scientific manpower able to open new frontiers in methods of defense against submarines, atom bombs, biological warfare, and new types of armaments—and to perform these miracles at high speed. A scientific manpower led by men of Nobel Prize caliber can do this. A scientific manpower led by a lower level of scientists cannot.

Greek Democracy

By Marquis Childs

American Links With Reaction

Childs

FROM the tone of some of the comment and some of the news reports it would be assumed that democracy had suffered a setback in the recent elections in Greece. The fact is, exactly the opposite is true.

The Greek people have shown that in spite of all the horrors of war, the Nazi-Fascist occupation and then civil war in the past decade, the democratic spirit is still strong. It is a small candle against the dark sky of world gloom.

Here, moreover, is the answer to the defeatists and the old-time isolationists who go on demanding to know why America is wasting its substance in foreign aid. Without American aid, both economic and military, Greece would today be walled off behind the iron curtain and any elections would be solely of the "yes, or else" variety for purely propaganda purposes.

Perhaps this victory could not have happened if it had not been for an assist from Marshal Tito who sealed off the border between Greece and Yugoslavia. Thereby the Greek rebels were prevented from retreating beyond the reach of the Greek armies and recouping their strength. But, nevertheless, it is a victory for American policy.

The greatest number of votes in the Greek elections went to center and somewhat left-of-center parties. Except for the Socialists, these parties are mildly liberal in character.

Equally significant is what the Greek people voted against. They were repudiating the regime of Constantin Tsaldaris and his Populist Party under which so much corruption has been reported. The Populists represent the most narrow and reactionary forces.

DURING the election campaign, according to reliable reports from Greece, leaders of the center and left-of-center parties got the impression that American economic and diplomatic representatives in Athens were throwing their weight behind Tsaldaris. They came to believe that American representatives in Greece wanted the Populist regime perpetuated.

They may have been mistaken. But this points up a weakness of Americans executing policy not alone in Greece but throughout Europe where American aid is being distributed. Too often our diplomats tie themselves up with the tired remnants of a discredited past. They get out of touch with the real aspirations of the people.

Behind the Populist regime in Greece wily financial operators pulled some awfully funny business. They succeeded in getting their capital out of Greece and then they worked to undermine the Greek economy by deals that contributed to the serious Greek inflation.

At the same time Greek ship owners were operating without benefit of taxes paid to any country. A ship owner of another nationality with world-wide sources of information told me the other day about one Greek operator who in the past 10 to 15 years has put away free of taxes 130 million dollars. According to my source, this operator has Argentine citizenship, he lives in New York and he operates a Greek fleet of merchant ships. Nice work if you can get it, as the old saying goes.

AMERICANS in Athens have been too eager to cozy up to the politicians who have tolerated and even encouraged corruption. American officials have been too timid about attempting to stop the cruder forms of piracy.

This is, of course, easier said than done. But it is not too much to ask that our representatives abroad at least know and understand those who speak for true democracy in the present-day world.

In Greece there is a link between the two nations that should make this task easier. That is Athens College, which I visited and wrote about when I was in Greece in 1947.

The college is one of those fine examples of American goodwill toward and interest in other peoples. Supported in considerable part by voluntary contribution from this country, it has been giving young Greeks the kind of challenging high-school education that represents the best American ideal. Its success owes a great deal to its founder and present head, Homer Davis.

In the contest between East and West this sort of thing is one of the major assets on which we can build. Freely and without any ulterior motives Americans have again and again shown a genuine and a practical interest in the democratic aspirations of free peoples. Surely it is not too much to expect our officials abroad to realize the importance of this asset and to make the best possible use of it.

Joseph Fox stands watch over son, 6, burned in fire

Woman Dead, Boy Burned In 2 Fires

A 37-year-old housewife was burned to death and a 6-year-old boy suffered first and second degree burns in separate fires in nearby Maryland yesterday.

The housewife, Mrs. Pearl R. Johnson, apparently had set fire to her bed while smoking, according to her husband, Guy Johnson, paving contractor. Johnson discovered the blaze on returning from a neighbor's home shortly after midnight. The Johnsons live at 5528 Gallatin st., Rogers Heights.

The Johnsons' son, Richard, a student at Stuyvesant School, Warrenton, Va., was to return home yesterday for a visit with his family to celebrate his fifteenth birthday. Word of the tragedy was sent to school authorities with instructions to keep him at the school.

Johnson said he and his wife were visiting with neighbors Thursday night. At about 10:30 p. m., he said, Mrs. Johnson complained of fatigue and went home alone. Her husband followed her shortly after midnight to discover the front bedroom in their one-story brick bungalow ablaze.

He was driven back by smoke and flame as he tried to fight his way into the room, he said. He ran to his neighbors' and called firemen.

Firefighters from Bladensburg, Cottage City, and Riverdale Heights extinguished the flames before they could spread beyond the bedroom.

Johnson said his wife frequently smoked in bed. A certificate of accidental death caused by burns was issued by Prince George County Coroner John T. Maloney.

The injured boy was Joseph Fox, 4th, of 6608 47th Place, Riverdale. He was admitted to Leland Memorial Hospital where his condition was described as "good."

Joseph, according to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Fox, apparently had been playing with matches when the nightgown he wore burst into flame shortly before 7 a. m.

"We ran out of our bedroom. Joseph was a mass of flames running toward us," Fox told reporters.

Both parents suffered burned hands as they tore off the burning clothing. The three were driven by neighbors to the hospital where the parents were treated for minor burns of the hands and the lad admitted.

The nightgown actually belonged to Joseph's 4-year-old sister, Anita. The parents surmised that the children were playing some game and that Joseph had garbed himself in the younger child's nightclothes.

Besides Joseph and Anita, the Foxes have two other children, Elaine, 2½, and Dennis, 2 weeks. Fox is an auto glazier.

10 Cities Assail Natural Gas Control Bill

A bill to limit Government control over natural gas was attacked by officials of 10 cities yesterday as a "billion-dollar windfall for oil millionaires."

They spoke out as Republicans and Northern Democrats in the Senate teamed up in an effort to defeat the bill.

Mayors of Los Angeles, Pittsburgh, Baltimore, St. Louis, Denver and Birmingham joined with officials from Chicago, New York, Detroit and Lynchburg, Va., in the assault on the legislation.

The measure, sponsored by Senator Kerr (D., Okla.), would prohibit the Federal Power Commission from regulating the operations of so-called independent natural gas gatherers.

The city ofoficials charged in a statement the bill will increase the cost of natural gas to consumers by from 200 million dollars to 500 million dollars per year. They said that the big oil companies now produce about 75 percent of the natural gas going into interstate commerce.

Asserting that gas producers already profit from "loopholes" in the tax laws, the city officials said that Kerr "now proposes to give these oil millionaires an additional amount at the expense of the users of natural gas."

Kerr has denied that his bill would increase natural gas prices.

Those who joined in the statement attacking the bill included:

W. Cooper Green, mayor of Birmingham, Ala.; Quigg Newton, mayor of Denver; Robert D. Morrison, city attorney of Lynchburg, Va.; Fletcher Bowron, mayor of Los Angeles; David L. Lawrence, mayor of Pittsburgh; Thomas D'Alessandro, jr., mayor of Baltimore; Joseph M. Darst, mayor of St. Louis; Benjamin S. Adamowski, corporation counsel of Chicago; John P. McGrath, corporation counsel of New York City, and James H. Lee, principal assistant corporation counsel of Detroit.

At Hearing

Insure All Workers, NAM Urges

NYHT News Service

Extension of the tax-paid, old-age insurance phase of the Federal Social Security Program to all persons, gainfully employed was advocated by the NAM yesterday before the Senate Finance Committee.

Ira Mosher, chairman of the employe benefits committee of the National Association of Manufacturers, also urged that private pension plans be removed from the area of "mandatory collective bargaining." He does not believe private pension plans should be prohibited, or wholly replaced by Federal benefits. Rather, he said, "we should concern ourselves with the means for protecting and encouraging sound, private pension plans."

The committee is holding hearings on a House-Approval bill to broaden coverage and increase benefits of the Social Security Act.

Mosher suggested the present annual income base of $3000 for taxation and benefit schedules be retained. He said the present tax of 1½-percent on employes and employers should not be increased "until such time as the outgo from the OASI trust fund approaches the income from the present tax."

Mosher differed sharply from provisions of the House-approved bill which increase the taxation base to earnings of $3600, and provides for stepping-up the tax to 2 percent, and then to 3 percent.

"Except for the inevitable building up of the fund during the early years resulting from even the minimum rate of 1 percent and continuing at a greater rate in view of the present 1½-percent tax," Mosher said, "It is our view that the OASI program should be financed on a pay-as-you-go basis. We think the committee may well reconsider the ascending tax scale of the House bill."

The NAM spokesman proposed steps be taken to bring "under control" the Federal grants-in-aid for old age assistance, which he termed the "charity approach" to the problem.

"Already in some States 80 percent of citizens over 65 receive old age assistance, presumably on the basis of need," he said.

Sanford Bates, New Jersey Commissioner of Institutions and Agencies, declared: "The man who is thrifty and saving and provides for his own future receives just about half as much in monthly benefits after reaching 65 as the man who neglects to make such provisions."

Lewis Secretly Set Strike, Ousted Aide Says

Canton, Ill., March 17 (AP).—An ousted local official of the United Mine Workers asserted today that John L. Lewis secretly ordered his miners to ignore the February 11 court order to end their Nation-wide coal strike.

Lloyd H. Sidener, 44, said Lewis passed the word down through his chain of command until it reached him.

Sidener said he received the order by telephone from Bernard Beasley of Canton, chairman of sub-district 2 of the Illinois UMW district. Beasley denied this.

Sidener was removed March 7 as president of Local 7445, Canton. He charged in a complaint to the National Labor Relations Board that the union fined him $50,000 and in effect barred him from working. He said this was punishment for his efforts to get other miners to obey the court's no-strike injunction.

Sidener said in an interview that Lewis directed his 380,000 striking miners to disregard not only the court injunction but Lewis' own telegraphed plea for a resumption of coal digging. Lewis sent telegrams ordering the miners back to work after he was served with the court injunction.

Federal Judge Richmond B. Keech found the union innocent of contempt of court March 2. He said the Government failed to present evidence to support its charge that the union was responsible for the strike of its members.

Sidener said Lewis secretly passed a continue-strike order to state UMW presidents, who in turn notified sub-district board members, who passed it on to mine local presidents for the rank and file.

Beasley, he said, telephoned him at 2 p. m. February 11 and said:

"John L. Lewis said the whistle blew once for Monday (Feb. 13). Pull everybody. There'll be no maintenance and pumping crews at the mines."

Sidener said it was the policy of his mine that one blast of the whistle meant no work the next day and that three blasts meant the mine would operate.

Beasley denied he received or passed along any secret orders from Lewis or other union officials or urged a continuation of the strike. He said:

"I appeared at a mass meeting as well as before individual meetings at which time the financial secretaries of the various locals read the (Lewis) telegrams. I addressed these assemblages and told them these were orders of the international union and that the men should go back to work. They in turn told me they wouldn't do so without a contract."

Changes in Bank Holding Bill Accepted by Federal Reserve

By The Associated Press

To meet complaints about an invasion of States' rights, the Federal Reserve Board agreed yesterday to some changes in legislation it has recommended to regulate bank holding companies.

Chairman Thomas McCabe said the board feels that with these amendments "every conceivable avenue of objection on the score of alleged violation of States' rights has been fully and adequately closed."

McCabe reiterated before the Senate Banking Committee his support of the bill's requirement that bank holding companies divorce themselves from non-banking activities.

This provision came under fire Thursday from W. L. Andrews, vice president of Transamerica Corp., which has extensive holdings in insurance, mortgage, real estate, seafood, metalworking and other companies.

McCabe said banking is "a profession with a public trust" and added:

"The moment you mix private business with banking, and that private business is already in competition with other businesses, you thereby create the possibilities of favoritism of one business over another."

Andrews had testified that Transamerica's investments were a "source of strength" for the banks in which the corporation is interested, adding it makes available to them "more than 20 times the required reserve."

Among the amendments which McCabe submitted to the committee was one which would prevent the Reserve Board, the Comptroller, or the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation from allowing any expansion within a bank holding company contrary to State law.

He described this as "probably the one most likely to insure the fullest possible protection against the invasion of States' rights in the bank holding company field."

Under another amendment he proposed, a state bank which is a bank holding company would be permitted to invest its funds in conformity with a State's law on the subject.

Another amendment related to examinations of bank holding companies and banks controlled by such companies.

McCabe said it would require the Reserve Board, before it examined any State nonmember bank, first to secure the approval of the FDIC in the case of insured banks or the State supervisor in the case of a non-insured bank.

Opposition to the bill voiced Thursday by Arthur Morris, founder and chairman of the Morris Plan Banks, was reiterated by Ellery N. Huntington, jr., president of the Morris Plan Corp.

He said it provided arbitrary and unnecessary regulations and represented a concealed effort by the Reserve Board to extend its powers over State banks.

Huntington said that although he saw "no virtues in the bill," would not oppose a "reasonable" measure for regulating bank holding companies.

Interest-Free Loans to Staff

New York, March 17. (AP).—Some 800 AFL electiricians here can borrow interest-free money now to help buy homes or automobiles under a $250,000 loan fund financed by their employers.

Harry Van Arsdale, jr., business manager of Local 3 of the International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers, disclosed today that the New York Electrical Contractors Association had agreed to make the loan fund part of its new contract with the union.

In asking the employers to set up the fund, the union contended that encouraging home ownership would stimulate prosperity for both building contractors and workers, including those in the electrical trade.

France Ratifies U. S. Arms Accord

Paris, (Saturday) March 18 (U.P.) The Council of the Republic, France's upper house, ratified overwhelmingly early today the arms aid accord with the United States. The vote was 292 to 20, with the Communists opposing.

The vote followed Thursday's approval of the pact by the National Assembly by a heavy vote. The accord will provide for U. S. arms aid to France of almost $500,000,000 during the current year.

Church Schools 'Bursting at Seams' Here With Some Enrollments Topping 1000 Pupils

By Martha J. Hall
Post Reporter

Large Sunday school enrollments, in several cases totaling more than 1000, are to be found in many Greater Washington Protestant churches.

Officials of several churches report their church schools are "bursting at the seams," with more children registering each week.

According to the Washington Federation of Churches, the greatest problems in crowded Sunday schools are in residential areas and suburban churches.

Small Downtown Classes

Many of the churches in downtown areas, where fewer children live, have comparatively small enrollments, a federation official said.

At Chevy Chase Presbyterian Church, an enrollment of over 1200 children and adults means that every available space is in use for classes on Sunday morning. One group has been meting in the unheated basement of the church office building, which is now being refinished for permanent use.

The Rev. Franklin B. Gillespie, minister of education at the church, said that although the enrollment has almost reached the "saturation point," the church is still accepting additional children each week.

Enrollment in the Sunday School of Westmoreland Congregational Church was 60 children last April when the church moved from 1410 Columbia rd. nw. to Westmoreland cir. nw. Since then it has grown to more than 350, with four or five new students added each week, the Rev. Edmund R. Strait, associate minister, said.

Greatest portion of the children are in the 4 through 10 age group, he said. In spite of the fact that space is at a premium, Mr. Strait said, the church will take care of additional children, "even if it has to run two Sunday school sessions."

Mrs. Harold Kelleran, director of the Department of Christian Education for the Episcopal Diocese of Washington, said Episcopal churches in the northern part of the Greater Washington area have the heaviest enrollments.

One-to-Two Ratio

In several of these there is one Sunday school child to every two adult church members. In the midtown churches, on the other hand, the ratio is about one child to 15 adults, she said.

The largest Episcopal Sunday school in the area is at All Saints Church, Chevy Chase, which has nearly 800 children on its rolls. Overcrowding there has been relieved recently by the completion of a new parish house which has complete Sunday school facilities.

A large adult department, in addition to the usual children's work, is found at Calvary Baptist Church, 8th and H sts. nw. Total active membership there is 2005—1018 of which is over 25 years old.

Bruce Fowler, superintendent of the Calvary Church Sunday school, said that average Sunday attendance during the past year has been about 1060. To handle the program the church has 103 teachers, he said.

Bishop Oliver J. Hart To Preach Wednesday

The Right Rev. Oliver J. Hart, Bishop of the Diocese of Pennsylvania, will preach at St. Stephen and the Incarnation Episcopal Church, 16th and Newton sts. nw., at 8 p. m. Wednesday.

Bishop Hart was rector of St. John's Episcopal Church, Lafayette sq., nw., from 1934 to 1940. After the services there will be an informal reception for him in the parish house.

To Cost Million

Work to Start On District's First Mosque

Construction of Washington's first mosque and Islamic institute is expected to begin late in the spring.

Expected to cost more than one million dollars the building will be erected at the corner of Massachusetts ave. and Belmont st. nw.

Plans for the building are being worked out in Egypt by the Egyptian minister of public works. It will be in pure Arabic architectural style.

In addition to a place where Moslems may say their prayers, the building will contain a library housing literature of the Islamic world, paintings and sculpture.

Publication of leaflets dealing with Islamic culture, education and history, is also planned by the Institute.

The mosque is being erected under the auspices of the Washington Mosque Foundation, Inc., which is composed of members of the American-Islamic community.

Funds for the project have been given by the governments of Moslem countries, American Oriental groups, and individuals.

Sessions for Teachers

Church school night, with conferences for teachers and workers in the Sunday school, will be observed Monday beginning at 6 p. m. at Mount Vernon Place Methodist Church, 900 Massachusetts ave. nw.

Society Sponsors Internship To Aid Clergy's Prison Work

CARL EHRHART
. . . Visiting Lorton prisoner

How can a minister best serve the mentally and physically ill? How can he reach the man in prison?

To help prospective clergymen find the answers to these questions the Lutheran Inner Mission Society for the past two years has sponsored an internship program here for a theological student.

Carl Ehrhart, 23-year-old Gettysburg Seminary student, is this year's intern.

During the first part of his nine-month internship, he has worked at the reformatory at Lorton, Va., and at Gallinger Hospital. Next week he will begin three-months training at St. Elizabeths Hospital.

Works With Chaplains

At all three institutions Ehrhart works with the regular full-time chaplains. He assists them in visiting patients and conducting religious services.

Living in the institutions and working with the patients and prisoners, Ehrhart said, has given him an understanding of their problems.

"Just being in the institution helps one to adjust to the situation there," he explained. The ordinary minister, he said, visits the hospital once or twice a week. As a result, he feels uneasy and both he and the patient are uncomfortable.

Often, the untrained minister immediately launches into a discussion of religion.

Shows His Interest

In institutional work, Ehrhart said, the chaplain does not necessarily begin his conversation with remarks about religion. He talks with the patient, shows him someone is interested in his problems.

"Personal contacts with people go a long way in developing that attitude of trust which is necessary for a religious experience," Ehrhart said.

Ehrhart will return to Gettysburg Seminary next fall to complete his theological training.

Similar internship programs for theological students are carried on at many institutions throughout the country under the auspices of the Council for Clinical Training, Inc., New York.

Chicagoan to Lecture On Christian Science

Two lectures on Christian Science will be given Thursday by Ralph E. Wagers of Chicago at the Fifth Church of Christ, Scientist, 1238 31st st. nw.

He will speak on "Christian Science: Its Revelation of Divine Sonship" at 12:10 and 8 p. m.

Donald Rapp, Son of Elder, Dies at 21

Mr. Rapp

Donald Emmerson Rapp, 21, son of Elder George S. Rapp, pastor of the Takoma Park Seventh-day Adventist Church, died early yesterday in Washington Sanitarium, Takoma Park.

Mr. Rapp, who had been ill for the past five years, had been hospitalized for two weeks. Cause of death was given as cancer.

A student at Washington Missionary College, he had undergone 20 operations but associates said he was ever cheerful although he knew death was imminent.

He was active in extra curricular activities of the college until his illness forced his withdrawal last September. His main interests were sports and music.

Mr. Rapp was born in Johnstown, Pa., and received his early schooling in Philadelphia.

Surviving are his parents, with whom he lived at 917 Flower ave., Takoma Park, and a brother, Dr. Edwin R. Rapp, of 9950 Cherry Tree lane, Silver Spring.

Funeral services will be conducted Sunday at 2:30 p. m. by Elder Charles S. Longacre, associate pastor of the Takoma Park Church, at the church, Carroll and Willow aves. Interment will be in George Washington Cemetery.

Boston University And Kent State Choirs to Sing

Choirs from Kent State University in Ohio and Boston University will be heard at services here Sunday.

Dr. Houghton

The Boston University Glee Club, under the direction of Dr. James R. Houghton, will give a concert of sacred music at 8 p. m. at Hamline Methodist Church, 16th and Allison sts. nw.

The 60-voice choir, composed of students from several divisions of the university, is on its annual spring tour.

Kent State's a capella choir will sing at 4 p. m. at the Washington Cathedral at a service attended by Robert LeBruce Chapter, Order of De Molay.

The choir, directed by Caro Carapetyan, will sing at 8 p. m. at Foundry Church (Methodist), 16th and P sts. nw.

Archbishop Pleads For Europe's Needy

Reminding his listeners that millions of persons overseas are still homeless and suffering, The Most Rev. Patrick J. O'Boyle, archbishop of Washington, appealed last night for support of the Bishops' Fund for the Victims of the War.

Speaking over Radio Station WRC, Archbishop O'Boyle said men, women and children, without help from the United States, will know only a "hopeless year" in 1950 while Catholics celebrate a Holy Year.

Collections for the $5,000,000 national goal of the Bishops' Fund will be taken up Sunday in all Catholic churches in the Washington Archdiocese.

Shock Softened in U. S.

"Thanks be to God," Archbishop O'Boyle said, "for us Americans, the shock of war has been softened with the passage of some five years.

"But in many countries overseas, the war might well have been raging only yesterday. For many, there are no homes still. The sorry meals of soup and boiled potatoes that are their mainstay would be rejected by us as unfit even for our household pets. For too many wretched people life today is nothing more than a miserable existence with little or no hope in sight."

The Archbishop said the ones in need of help include Poles who were forced into Hitler's labor battalions; Ukrainians, Lithuanians, Latvians, Estonians and Czechs who fled from Russian domination. He said 11 million persons, including some of German origin, are among the displaced multitude needing aid.

Regardless of Nationality

Since 1943, he said, Catholic Bishops of the United States have sponsored two overseas relief agencies which administer aid regardless of nationality or religious beliefs of the needy. He said that in seven years, 303 million pounds of foodstuffs, medicines and clothing have been distributed, with 571 shipments of supplies in 1949 alone.

"We cannot go ourselves directly to France, Germany, Austria, Italy or Korea," he said. "But we can give to the Bishops' Fund, which is administered for the benefit of all needy persons."

He pointed out that in the spiritual renewal of the Holy Year, "not one of us, having done penance and refreshed our souls, can thereafter go on selfishly alone, taking no interest in the welfare of those around us."

To Give Religious Drama

"Were You There?" religious drama based on the spiritual "Were You There When they Crucified My Lord?" will be given at 8 p. m. Wednesday at Woodside Methodist Church, 8814 Georgia ave., Silver Spring.

Federation of Churches Marks 30th Birthday . .

Bishop Sings 1st Pontificial Mass Sunday

The Most Rev. John J. Russell, new Bishop of Charleston, S. C., will offer his first Solemn Pontifical Mass at 10:30 a. m. Sunday at the Church of the Nativity, 6000 Georgia ave., nw., where he has served as pastor since 1948.

Assistant Priest of the Mass will be his brother, the Rev. W. Joyce Russell, pastor of St. Francis de Sales Church, Benedict, Md. The sermon will be preached by the Very Rev. Ignatius Smith, O. P., Dean of the School of Religion at Catholic University.

Deacons of Honor will be the Rt. Rev. Monsignor John P. McCormick, rector of Catholic University, and the Very Rev. Monsignor Paul Tanner, Assistant General Secretary of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

The three assistants at the Church of the Nativity—the Rev. Sylvester M. Hoffman, the Rev. Walter J. Norris and the Rev. Thomas J. Grodavent, also will participate in the services.

The Rev. Walter Schmitz of Catholic University and Mr. Thomas Kane, a student at St. Mary's Seminary, Baltimore, Md., will be the other two masters-of-ceremonies.

Irish Honor Vinson Here

St. Patrick's Day mass at St. Patrick's Church, 10th and G sts, nw., the oldest Catholic church in the District.

St. Patrick was hailed as a "beacon of inspiration and courage to all mankind" in the sermon by Bishop Bryan J. McEntegart of Ogdensburg, N. Y. Under the influence of the Gospel as taught by Patrick, the ancient Brehon Laws of Ireland became models of justice and charity, Bishop McEntegart said.

By Archbishop O'Boyle

Archbishop Amleto G. Cicognani, apostolic delegate, presided at the mass, which was celebrated by Archbishop Patrick J. O'Boyle of Washington.

Members of the Ancient Order of Hibernians and the ladies auxiliary marched to the church from Carroll Hall, 924 G st. nw., where they were joined by the Irish War Veterans and other Irish-American groups.

Representative Barrett O'Hara (D., Ill.) took up the cudgels in defense of the Navy as he addressed a wreath-laying ceremony of Post 17, Irish War Veterans, at the statue of Commodore John Barry in Franklin Park at 14th and I sts. nw.

During the years, he said the American Navy "has been noted for the independence of its officers and their impatience at times with civilian supervision."

Economy Drive, Too

He noted that Barry was the first American naval commander "to lock horns with a civilian authority that stood then much in the position of our present office of the Secretary of the Navy." He was also the first "to run head-on into an economic drive," said O'Hara.

O'Hara and W. A. Hickey, 85-year-old Spanish American War veteran of the Philippine campaign, placed a wreath at the statue. Hickey, who lives at 5520 Parkland ct., District Heights, claims the honor of being the oldest Irish war veteran member in the country.

In another Post 17 ceremony, Representative Eugene O'Sullivan was the speaker as a wreath was laid at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier. A Third Infantry honor guard and bugler participated. Invocation and benediction were given by Lieut. Col. John J. Mullaney, Walter Reed Hospital chaplain.

The partition of Ireland was referred to by Sean Hayden of the Irish Legation as "the one source of discord," as he addressed members of the Almas Temple as guest of honor at the Shriners' St. Patrick's Day luncheon.

The national flag of Ireland is banned by law in the six counties of northeast Ireland, Hayden said, though even the flag of Soviet Russia may be flown there at will.

Last night, music vied with oratory as numerous organizations held St. Patricks Day dances in various parts of the area.

Irish Prime Minister Scores Partition

Dublin, March 17 (AP).—Irishmen celebrated St. Patrick's Day with a tear and a smile today while their Prime Minister called for "bold and generous policies" to wipe out the threat of European communism.

Throughout the Emerald Isle, bagpipes skirled and the shamrock was carried high to commemorate the anniversary of the bishop who brought Christianity to Ireland 1500 years ago.

Uppermost in the thoughts of many of her leaders was the wish that the six northern counties of Ireland still allied to the British crown would join the festivities next St. Patrick's Day.

The Northern Ireland government had banned for the third year in a row celebrations of the anniversary.

"With all our history behind us and with an unshakeable resolve," said Prime Minister John A. Costello of Ireland in a radio address, "we shall never forget about the partition of our country until that partition is ended."

Truman Sends Message To Irish President

President Truman yesterday sent St. Patrick's Day greetings to President Sean T. O'Kelly of Ireland. His message said:

"The people of the United States join me on this national holiday of Ireland in expressing to your Excellency and to the people of Ireland sincere congratulations and hearty good wishes."

Father Mundell Gives Senate Prayer

A Washington-born priest, the Rev. Joseph Joshua Mundell, gave the invocation in the Senate for St. Patrick's Day. Father Mundell is stationed at St. Benedict's parish in Greensboro, N. C. He is the son of Dr. and Mrs. J. J. Mundell of 1616 Rhode Island ave. nw.

Shamrocks 'Wormy,' Ruled Out of Mails

Many a son of Erin spent a gloomy St. Patrick's Day yesterday because the Government thinks the old sod is all right—in its place.

It is definitely not all right attached to shamrocks shipped in the mail. They might contain golden nematodes, a sort of microscopic snake known as the eel worm.

Because eel worms are destructive of Irish potatoes, the Agriculture Department is scrutinizing tens of thousands of shamrocks intended for celebrants of St. Patrick's Day in this land.

"I'd rather not go into that," said an official of the Division of Foreign Plant Quarantine of the department, when asked about the widespread controversy surrounding surplus Irish potatoes in America.

But he did say that Plant Inspector L. L. Spessard has spent two days at the postoffice, behind a mountainous pile of bright green packages, looking over many a four-leaf clover.

Upwards of 4500 have come into Washington, but "that's a drop in the bucket compared to the 40,000 or 50,000 that have been received in New York," he said.

The golden nematode hasn't taken root in this country, except in a few spots on Long Island.

Nor does it have anything to do with phytophthora insestans, a parasitic fungus that caused the potato famine in 1846 in Erin and sent so many Irishmen to this country to earn their living.

But it's quite as destructive, said the Agriculture Department, and destined for certain death on arrival in the mail.

Meanwhile, many a Murphy and Muldoon hereabouts must wait for his shamrock from the old sod without the old sod—perhaps until April Fool's Day.

was given a bleak picture of the city's strained water distribution system.

Near Breaking Point

E. A. Schmidt, head engineer of the Washington Acqueduct, emphasizing his overloaded facilities —"almost to the breaking point" —commented:

"If we have a long, dry, hot summer, some people are going to be short of water."

He said he recently placed his personnel on a round-the-clock shifts "to step up my facilities for next summer."

Engineer Commissioner Gordon R. Young has repeatedly warned Congress of the city's water shortage threat — not in supply but through a distribution system breakdown—and yesterday detailed his long-range expansion plan.

It will require, he told the subcommittee, a 23-million-dollar interest-free loan from the Treasury and 24 million dollars more raised from water taxes to permit a prompt start on replacing and enlarging mains and pumping facilities.

To Ask "Radical Changes"

If legislation authorizing the Federal borrowing is approved by this Congress, he told the committee, he will return to request "radical changes" in water-fund appropriations. The pending supply bill carries $2,233,000 for water-system capital outlay.

Other top spending requests pushed by municipal officials yesterday included:

1. Civilian Defense setup for Washington: Gen. Young said the Budget Bureau soon will forward a $30,000 supplemental request for an "inexpensive" civilian organization. It would call for a $10,330-a-year fulltime director and four assistants, with the bulk of work performed on a collateral basis by permanent District employes.

2. Anacostia Bridge: The Senate group was urged by General Young to approve a $4,083,600 outlay for a new Anacostia Bridge, location of which is the center of the row between the Commissioners and the National Capital Park and Planning Commission. The House District Committee is considering a bill that would fix the site at E. Capitol st. NCPPC wants the bridge located at Massachusetts ave. se.

Asks to Earmark Fund

Young called the bridge "the most important large item in our entire capital outlay program," but in event Congress fails to resolve the inter-agency conflict, Young asked the Senate to earmark the $4,083,600 for nearly a dozen specific street paving projects in the District.

3. In a surprise move, Fowler informed the Senate subcommittee another supplemental appropriation of $15,800 will be asked to cover "administrative expenses" for the District Redevelopment Land Agency. This agency was created by the District Slub clearance act of 1945, but has been inoperative because Congress has consistently denied funds for local slum clearance work.

4. Senators gave enthusiastic backing to the Board of Public Welfare's proposal to spend about $1,600,000 on a welfare institution building program. Fowler said "I think we will be making more progress in the welfare field this year than we have made in many past years."

Welfare Director Gerard M. Shea stressed the urgency of providing better care and accommodations for the city's aged and infirm.

Throughout the current hearings, Senator Lester C. Hunt (D. Wyo.), principal Senate author of the District sales tax, has been checking the Commissioners' plans for launching welfare, school, health and highway permanent improvements.

5. Water and sewage officials urged large outlays for storm and relief sewers. They singled out a $500,000 item for relief sewers in the Piney Branch, nw. area where a flash flood caused extensive damages last August 7.

Congressmen Inspect Proposed Bridge Sites

Representative James C. Davis (D., Ga.) led an on-the-spot Congressional inspection tour of the two sites proposed for the next bridge over the Anacostia.

Davis heads the District subcommittee in charge of street and bridge legislation. It is considering a bill for a bridge at East Capitol st. It is backed by the District Commissioners and opposed by the National Capital Park and Planning Commission, which favors a bridge at Massachusetts ave. se.

With Davis on the 90-minute inspection tour were Representatives John J. Allen, jr. (R., Calif.) and James W. Wadsworth (R., N. Y.) and William N. McLeod, jr., clerk of the House District Committee.

Braves Cuff Parnell But Bosox Beat Them, 9 to 5

Sarasota, Fla., March 17 (AP).—Picking up eight of their runs in clusters of two the Boston Red Sox in the five-game intra-city series with the Braves, knocked off the National Leaguers 9-5 today before 2585 Payne Field fans.

Joe Dobson did a workmanlike job in the first five innings for the American Leaguers and drew credit for the pre-season decision.

He was followed by Mel Parnell who was treated somewhat more roughly but managed to finish the game.

Warren Spahn, tagged with the loss, worked the first three innings for the Tribe and was followed by Normie Roy, Ernie Johnson and John Antonelli. None of the Braves' pitchers was particularly effective.

Pep Retains Crown in Dull Fight

By Jack Cuddy

New York, March 17 (U.P.).—In a 15-round fiasco, Willie Pep of Hartford, Conn., kept his world featherweight title tonight by jabbing at skinny, awkward Ray Famechon of France until he won the unanimous decision before 12,106 at Madison Square Garden.

It was probably the worst featherweight title fight in history. The fans booed thunderously in nearly every round.

Famechon, champion of Europe, marched toward Pep in every session but the Frenchman didn't know what to do on the few occasions when he did catch up with him.

Famechon Awkward

Famechon—a tall, skinny-legged, brown-haired chap with broad, bony shoulders — kept missing punches with his long arms, and then failing to fight at close quarters when he did have a chance to punch "will-of-the-wisp."

There wasn't a single knockdown during the bout. Pep was thrown to the canvas in a wrestling maneuver in the eighth round, and shoved half way through the ropes in the tenth session.

Famechon, who claimed never to have been knocked off his feet in 177 amateur and 60 previous professional bouts, was nearly floored in the sixth when Willie landed left-right-left punches to the chin. The Frenchman jumped back about 5 feet with the last punch, but he did not go down.

$67,000 Gross Gate

Pep kept the Frenchman off balance with left jabs and occasional right crosses and then would hold or spin the invader around. This brought one boo after another from the crowd which included a large contingent from Pep's home State.

Later on Famechon caught on and gave Willie the Wisp a little of the same. When the bell sounded for the end of the fight the fans, who contributed to a gross gate of $67,141, let loose with a barrage of boos.

Cooper Beaten In Semiwindup

New York, March 17 (AP). Featherweight Jimmy Cooper, of Washington, dropped a thrilling eight-round decision to Gaetana Annaloro, of Italy, on the semiwindup to the Willie Pep-Ray Famechon title fight here tonight.

May Be Out Only 3 Weeks

Dr. Bennett Tells Meyer His Elbow Is Chipped, Not Broken

Baltimore, March 17 (AP).—Dr. George Bennett today told Russ Meyer, Philadelphia Phillies' pitcher, he didn't have a fractured elbow after all but a less serious chip.

The noted bone specialist advised Meyer to return to spring training camp at Clearwater, Fla., and try heat treatments and rest.

"He said even if it were necessary to cut out the chip I would be out only two or three weeks," the happy righthander said. He said he was planning to leave as soon as he could get transportation.

When Meyer arrived today to see Dr. Bennett his very promising career was clouded by a Florida physician's diagnosis that his right elbow was fractured. The Florida doctor had said Meyer would be out for "two or three months."

Browns Thump Giants, 10 to 7

Phoenix, Ariz., March 17 (AP).—The lowly St. Louis Browns walloped the New York Giants, 10 to 7, in an exhibition baseball game here today.

The New Yorkers picked up a couple of gift runs in the third inning to take a temporary lead. An error by Alvin Dark let in three unearned tallies in the fifth, putting the Giants behind.

Indiana State Gains NAIB Final

Kansas City, March 17 (AP)—A short side shot by Sophomore Bob Gilbert with 40 seconds left insured the Indiana State Sycamores of Terre Haute a 73-69 victory over University of Tampa tonight and a spot in the finals of the National Intercollegiate (NAIB) tournament.

Indiana State meets Central Oklahoma. In the finals, Oklahoma defeated Central College, 57-54.

Caps Play Pistons At Uline's Tonight

The Caps, assured of a playoff berth, close out their regular season in an 8:30 engagement with the Fort Wayne Pistons tonight at Uline Arena.

The Caps, third in the Eastern Division with 31 triumphs and 36 defeats, have won three of five games with the Pistons. Fort Wayne is third in the Central Division with a 39-27 record.

Philadelphia, March 17. (AP).—The Philadelphia Warriors clinched at least a tie for fourth place in the Eastern Division of the National Basketball Association with an 85-59 triumph over the Washington Caps before 1500 fans here tonight.

The win was the second for the Warriors in six starts with the Caps this season and was only the seventh victory in 26 engagements with the visitors in the all-time records.

The Warriors spurted to a 9-1 bulge at the start, increased its edge to 26-9 at the quarter, 41-26 at the half and 61-37 after three quarters.

Joe Fulks, after some sad performances in recent weeks, paced the Warriors with 24 points. Chick Reiser led the losers with 12.

Five Terp Boxers Gain Final Round

Special to The Post

Columbia, S. C., March 17.—The University of Maryland tonight sent five men into the finals of the Southern Intercollegiate Invitational boxing tournament which end stomorrow.

The Terrapins go into the championship round with 18 points, one less than defending champion Louisiana State University, which also sent five men into the finals.

Terps in the finals are Bantamweight Al Glass, Featherweight Andy Quattrocchi, Middleweight Bob Gregson, Senior Welterweight Don Oliver and Heavyweight George Miller. They all won decisions.

Quattrocchi Won By Forfeit

Glass exchanged long-range jabs with East Carolina's Leon Smith for two rounds, and finished fast to gain the finals. His foe will be South Carolina's Pete Campassi, who outpointed L. S. U.'s Mike Pastor.

Quattrocchi, who drew a first-round bye, won by forfeit tonight when his opponent, Citadel's Hugh Cotton, failed to make the weight. Andy takes on defending champ Ted Thrash of L. S. U., who tonight decisioned Ellerson Fowler of the Gamecocks.

Gregson's clever counterpunching earned him the nod over Miami's Jim Bernardo, and the Terp captain takes on L. S. U.'s Lloyd Jones for the title.

Oliver Wins Slugging Match

Oliver won a slugging match from Citadel's Ray Heatley.

And in the last bout of the night, Fuller floored Miami's John Donahue in the third round to win a decision. He meets L. S. U.'s Blackie Howell.

Paul Kostopoulos of Maryland dropped a decision to Virginia lightweight Grover Masterson. Terrapin Bill O'Brien was outpointed by Citadel's Tom Miggins in a welterweight scrap, and Bob Smith of Maryland was decisioned by L. S. U. light heavy Jack Dyer.

Michelson Boomed For Penn State Job

Pittsburgh, March 17 (U.P.).—Johnny Michelosen, coach of the Pittsburgh Steelers, was boomed tonight for the head football coaching job at Penn State.

Local Alumni sent a resolution urging that the school's advisory board consider Michelosen a candidate for the job when it meets tomorrow at State College, Pa.

Plays Bradley in NIT Tonight

NCAA Names City College District 2 Team for Tourney

New York, March 17 (AP).—City College of New York today was named as District Two representative to the National Collegiate Athletic Association basketball tournament which gets under way in New York March 23.

The CCNY squad which meets Bradley in the final of the National Invitation Tourney in Madison Square Garden tomorrow night, was the unanimous choice of the three-man District Two committee.

City College won 17 and lost 5 during the regulation season and has won 3 NIT games. Coach Nat Holman's fast-breaking Beavers shunted aside San Francisco, Kentucky and Duquesne to reach the finals of the NIT.

The 89-50 triumph over Adolph Rupp's Kentucky Wildcats was the worst defeat ever inflicted on a Rupp-coached team. Basketball experts described it as one of the smoothest performances in the 13-year history of the tourney.

But even with all this Bradley is favored to justify its ranking as the best college basketball team in the country by cooling off City College in the NIT finals.

The finalists will take the floor at Madison Square Garden at about 10 o'clock (EST) after Duquesne and St. John's, the semifinal victims, settle the issue for third place. The program starts at 8.

Ohio State will meet the District No. 2 team in the first game at 8:15 p. m. (EST) next Thursday night while Holy Cross and North Carolina State tangle in the second game. The draw was made late today in New York City.

Other teams in the NCAA competition next week, are Holy Cross, District One; North Carolina State, District Three, and Ohio State, District Four. The winner of this eastern half of the NCAA draw will meet the western champion for the 1950 NCAA title.

Joe Haynes Tagged for All St. Louis Runs in 5th

By Shirley Povich
Post Reporter

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 17—The St. Louis Cardinals today joined the lengthening list of clubs who are making it ignominious for the Nats.

They came up with four runs in the fifth inning and collected a 4-3 victory—the Nats' fourth defeat in five exhibition games.

For Bucky Harris, the consolation was that only one of his pitchers—Joe Haynes—was pounded. The others, Sid Hudson and Rookies Conrado Marrero and Jim Pearce, were a refreshing contrast to what Harris had been viewing among the Washington pitching staff since the Grapefruit League got under way.

It was no comfort to Harris, though, that Haynes blew a three-run lead in the fifth, or that his young men ended up with only seven hits. Particularly was it dismaying in the seventh, eighth and ninth innings when the Nats put the tying run on base against Harry Brecheen but couldn't nudge it home.

Bilko Comes Through

Steve Bilko, rotund rookie first baseman of the Cardinals, up from Rochester, was the fellow who mostly bedeviled the Nats. It was he, who, with two out in the fifth, singled to left against Haynes and drove in the tying and winning runs.

Before that, three of the old and respected Cardinals, Marty Marion, Red Schoendienst and Stan Musial had blasted out hits against Haynes in that fifth, and he also issued a couple of walks that set the stage for Bilko's blow.

The Nats were an impotent crew after the fifth inning, getting only one hits off Ted Wilks and Harry Brecheen. Al Evans got that one, in the eighth, and moved Clyde Volmer, who had walked, to third with one out. A bit later Brecheen filled the bases with a walk to Hal Keller, but in this crisis, Sherry Robertson bounced to the pitcher and there was a force-play at the plate. With the bases full, Eddie Yost lined out.

Robinson, Mele Fail

Brecheen put the tying run on at the start of the ninth with a walk to Sam Dente before anybody was ou, and Stewart sacrificed Dente to second. But Eddie Robinson popped up and Sam Mele struck out and the Nats were a gone gang.

The refreshing item for the Nats was the 3-inning pitching stint of Sid Hudson, who breezed past the Cardinals. He allowed two hits, but bothe were infield affairs, and one technical. The second hit Hudson allowed occurred when Garagiola's infield bounder hit Kazak on the leg between first and second for an automatic single.

Rookie Marrero took a 1-inning turn in the sixth and put the Cards down one-two-three. And in the seventh and eighth, 6-foot-6-inch Pearce faced only six batters. He struck out Mierkowicz and Bilko in succession in the eight on called strikes.

Bobby Bats in Two

As usual, the Nats were off in front, belting Max Lanier for two runs in the first inning. Eddie Robinson scored 'em both with a triple to right after Yost singled and Noren walked. Robinson's blow was a line drive that scooted past Musial who attempted a shoe-string catch.

Robinson also drove in the Nats' other run, in the fifth, but that was under highly different circumstances. After Dente and Noren singled to open the inning, Robby bounced into a double play, as Dente scored from third.

IN SHORT . . . The Nats' seven hits were divided among seven different players . . . tomorrow the Nats move into Tampa's Plant Field for a game with the Reds that will wind up their current three-day invasion of Florida's west coast . . . it will be the big test for Rookie Bob McChesney, the left-handed Texas collegian, who will start the game and win a Washington contract, if he looks impressive . . . it will be a complete rookie pitching front, with Bill Davis and Buzz Dozier, up from Charlotte, also slated to hurl against the Reds . . . today's crowd of 1740 fans was the smallest of the Grapefruit League season in St. Pete . . . when a National League umpire signalled "ball" while Sam Mele was batting and then flashed a "strike" signal, Mele had words to say, and you couldn't call him Mele-mouthed at that point

Kramer Brushes Off Gonzales In a Jiffy

By Morris Siegel
Post Reporter

Jack Kramer defeated Pancho Gonzales at Uline Arena last night, which is hardly news.

It was the seventy-first time the two-time former United States amateur tennis champion had trimmed he California-born Mexican on their current cross-country tour. Scores were 6—2, 6—3.

Gonzales, last year's American amateur titlist, has won only 20 of the 91 matches.

Victory over Gonzales apparently is becoming monotonous to Kramer, but he added a new note to his latest success last night by brushing off Pancho in only 21 minutes. It was his quickest triumph of the tour.

In contrast, Bobby Riggs, whose promotion drew 2186 customers on its second showing here in five months, took an hour before losing to the other Pancho—two-handed Segura in the first singles match. Scores were 9—7, 6—1.

There's not better way of describing Kramer's superiority over Gonzales than by using Kramer's own words: "Gonzales is a good tennis player, but I'm better."

If Gonzales owns any edge, it's in service. The swarthy boy can really fire the ball across the net, but he's to erratic to cope with Kramer, who rarely makes an error.

Unlike the Riggs-Segura opener, there were no long rallies in the Kramer-Gonzales match. It was boom-boom, point — usually Kramer's.

Promoter Riggs, who substituted himself in place of Frankie Parker when Segura began beating the latter too regularly, is finding the little Ecuadorian his master also. Segura has beaten Riggs five out of six times.

GET 1 ADD— . . . . . .

Kramer and Frankie Parker teamed to beat Gonzales and Segura 6—4, 10—8, in the doubles finale.

Besselink, Gibson Tie at 69, Snead 72

Jacksonville, Fla., March 17 (AP). A young man of 25 and a veteran of 40 tied for the lead in the Jacksonville Golf Open today.

Al Besselink of Detroit and Leland Gibson of Kansas City fired three-under-par 69's and they were good enough to overshadow the better-known names of the game. Should either of the first-day leaders continue on to win top prize of $2000 it would be the first major pro victory for him.

But they'll need three more good rounds over the tight 6508-yard Hyde Park Course to pull away from a closely packed field. Fifteen other players were under par at either 70 or 71. Another 15 were even par and well within striking distance.

Middlecoff, Fazio Post 70s

Cary Middlecoff of Ormond Beach, Fla., defending champion and one of the prime favorites, stood at 70. So did young Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex.; Chick Harbert of Detroit; George Fazio of Washington, D. C.; Bill Nary of Los Angeles and Vic Ghezzi of Inwood, N. Y.

Just two strokes behind the leading pair were Dave Douglas of Newark, Del.; Bob Toski of Northampton, Mass.; Jerry Barber of Overland, Mo.; Lew Worsham of Washington, D. C.; Elroy Marti of Houston, Tex.; Art Wall, Jr., of Pocono Manor, Pa.; Al Krueger of Beloit, Wis.; Bob Hamilton of Landover, Md., and Bob Gajda of Detroit.

Co-favorite and top money winner of the year, Sam Snead of White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., was one of those posting par 72.

Scores of the leaders:

Leland Gibson	33	36—69
Al. Besselink	34	35—69
Cary Middlecoff	35	35—70
Fred Hawkins	35	35—70

Babe Takes 78 But Hikes Lead to Five

Augusta, Ga., March 17. (AP).—Mildred (Baba) Didrikson Zaharias spent an unhappy 78 shots covering the second round of the Titleholders Golf Tournament today, but despite her poor putting, she increased her lead to five strokes.

The babe, with a two-day total of 150, kept well in front of Claire Doran who found more trouble still and took an 80. Miss Doran—Latin and physical education teacher in Cleveland high Schools—had a 36-hole total of 155 on the Augusta Country Club's rough 6619-yard course.

Mary Lena Faulk from Thomasville, Ga., and Dot Kirby of Atlanta shot the best golf of the day. Both had 77's. However, Mary Lena's did the most good. She moved into a two-way tie for third place with Edean Anderson of Helena, Mont.

Their two-day totals are 156.

Professional Louise Suggs, another Georgian from Carrollton, got a 78 and Carol Diringer of Tiffin, Ohio, shot a 79 for 157 totals.

Neither of the tournament's crowd-attractors — Marlene and Alice Bauer—paid off their good galleries with championship golf. Marlene shot a miserable 81 and big sister Alice, who is the smallest girl in the meet, had an 80.

Marlene is in a 4-place tie with 160 strokes and Alice's total is 163.

The leaders:
(A) Mildred (Babe) Zaharias, 72-78—150.
Claire Doran, 75-80—155.
Edean Anderson, 77-79—156.
Mary Lena Faulk, 79-77—156.
Carol Diringer, 78-79-157.
(A) Louise Suggs, 79-78-157.
Helen Sigel, 77-81—158.
Dorothy Kirby, 81-77—158.
Peggy Kirk, 82-78—160.
(A) Patty Berg, 82-78—160.
Marjorie Lindsay, 80-80—160.
Marlene Bauer, 79-81—160.
Mary Agnes Wall, 82-80—162.
Estelle Lawson Page, 80-83—163.
Alice Bauer, 80-83—163.

Prep and Highs Stars Play Benefit Today at Uline's

By West McLean
Post Reporter

The All-Prep squad will count on experience to even the series with the All-Highs in the fourth annual high school basketball classic at Uline at 3 p. m. today.

Two of the Prepsters, Gonzaga's Mike Nolan and Roger Kingsbury of St. Albans, will be making their third appearance in the game while St. John's two Bobs, McLindon and MacDonald, are back for the second time. The High's captain, Tony Sgro of McKinley Tech, is the only repeater among the high players.

The Washington Caps will pick the outstanding players for both teams and the players will receive trophies.

The game is sponsored by the Big Brothers Club for the benefit of the Boys' Club Work Fund.

A preliminary game will be played at 1:30 between Safford-Chandler and the Georgetown Branch of the Boys' Club of Washington.

The All-High and All-Prep Squads are selected by sports writers with the coaching assignments going to Dutch Usilaner of Tech for the Highs and Joe Gallagher of St. John's for the Preps.

Virginia Boxers Host To Catholic

Charlottesville, Va., March 17.—Virginia boxing fans will see their two Eastern Intercollegiate Boxing Association champions in return matches against their final round opponents when Catholic University invades tomorrow night.

Last week at Syracuse two Virginians, 130-pounder Allen Hollingsworth and 155-pounder Joe Miragliotta, won Eastern boxing championships by decisioning Catholic U. boxers in the finals. Hollingsworth won over Jack Redmond while Miragliotta decisioned Bucky Ennis after the hard-hitting Cardinal had fought his way to the final with two knockout wins.

It will be the final match for the Cavaliers. Catholic will send some of its squad to the NCAA championships April 1 at Penn State.

Terp Matmen Win AAU Title; Gallaudet 2d

The University of Maryland's first string nosed out Gallaudet, 49-46, last night to win the District of Columbia AAU wrestling tournament at College Park.

Gallaudet held a 46-45 advantage going into the final match, but had no heavyweight representative to protect its small margin.

Although Maryland's Chris Mathews lost the heavyweight final to Georgetown's Mike Carra, he earned four points for the Maryland first string to decide the title.

Following the leaders were Terps, 18, Georgetown, 13, Old Liners, Terps (second string) 6, Catholic U., 4, and St. Albans, 4.

FINAL ROUND—(Winner places first in tourney and scores six points; loser places second and scores four points.)

115 POUNDS—Paul Snyder (Gallaudet) pinned Don Loker (St. Albans), 4:07, half Nelson and Crotch.

121 POUNDS — Camille Desmarais Gallaudet) decisioned George Lawrence (Md.), 8-0.

128 POUNDS—Larry Saionts (Maryland) Pinned Ralph Kazic (Gallaudet), 4:45, reverse bar arm.

136 POUNDS — Bernie Chimielewski (Md.) pinned John Gabler (old liners), 8:23, half Nelson and body press.

145 POUNDS—Dean Swaim (Gallaudet) decisioned Jim Flynn (Georgetown), 3-0.

155 POUNDS—Joe Adleberg (Md.) decisioned Bill Holl (Catholic U.), 1-0.

165 POUNDS—Jack Shanahan (Md.) decisioned David Halberg (Gallaudet), 4-1.

175 POUNDS—Tony Furnari (Md.) decisioned Andrew Vasnick (Gallaudet), 8-3.

191 POUNDS—David Carlson (Gallaudet) won by default over Jack Piersol (Terps).

UNLIMITED—Mike Carra (Georgetown) won over Chris Mathews (Md.), 3-3, referee's decision.

Police Boys Club Titles Decided Today

The 120-pound and the unlimited divisions of the citywide Metropolitan Police Boys' Club Basketball League championship playoffs will be decided today at Police Boys' Club No. 4 gym.

In the 120-pound division, Club No. 4, unbeaten in winning the first half title, and Club No. 5, with a perfect record of four games in taking the second half, will clash for the championship, starting at 11 a. m.

The unlimited crown will be settled at 3 p. m., with Club No. 12 meeting Club No. 5.

D. C.-Owned Horse Wins With Ease

By Walter Haight
Post Reporter

Charles Town, W. Va., March 17. They teased the green—greenbacks of course—into the mutuel windows on the chances of Kerry Airs this St. Patrick's Day and, begorrah, if they didn't collect the green. It would be nice to report that Kerry Airs' jockey was wearing the green but he was attired in red and white.

Kerry Airs, paying $3.80 as the favorite, raced in the colors of E. D. Talbert, Jr., of Washington, D. C., and reached the finish line two and a half lengths in front of Mrs. L. A. Whiteley's Westover Gal. Four additional lengths back came W. E. Bridge-Forth's Bachelor Belle, third in the field of eight.

Willie Downs did the riding and hustled the 3-year-old all the way. Bachelor Belle and Westover Gal made several bids to get to the flying leader but both weakened. The others in the field were always outrun.

Considerable work by the track crew, plus a strong wind and a bright sun, served to put the track in good condition after yesterday's snow. Kerry Airs was clocked in the excellent time of 0:49 4/5 for the about 4½ furlongs.

The day's secondary feature proved a thriller with C. P. Brockdorff's Tufton getting up in the concluding jump to win from Mrs. W. I. Jones' Cedar Brand. J. E. Allison jr.'s Love My Gal was third after setting virtually all the pace and then tiring.

Woodie Kirk rated Tufton early, sent him to the outside and then put him to a strong stretch drive. Cedar Brand disposed of Love My Gal but lacked staying power to stave off the public choice which paid $4. Tufton was clocked in 1:19 for the about 6 furlongs.

2 of 3 St. Patrick's Day Hunches Win

Two of three St. Patrick's Day hunches yesterday finished on top.

At Charles Town Kerry Airs won the feature sixth race and paid $3.80, $3.00 and $2.80.

Irish Sun won the sixth race at Gulfstream and returned $4.30, $2.90 and $2.50. Irish R. M. finished out of the money in the third at Gulfstream.

Two other horses, Kitty Kilts and Eireann were scratched at Charles Town.

San Franciscan Pays $3500 for Destroyed Horse

San Bruno, Calif., March 17 (AP).—Johnny Williams of San Francisco paid $3500 for a dead horse yesterday.

Here's how:

Both Williams and Jack McElroy put in a claim for John's Regards, entered in the fifth race at Tanforan. Gordon Glisson got the even money favorite off to a two length lead. But John's Regards fractured a left foreleg and had to be destroyed.

Under racing rules, a claim stands if the horse starts. So Williams and McElroy shook dice to decide which "won."

King Loses 1st Boys Bout in 4 Years to Manion

Mike King, 80 pounder from Georgetown Branch Boys Club, lost his first fight in four years as Art Manion of Police Boys No. 11 outpointed him last night in the Junior Golden Gloves semifinals at Fort Myer.

There were only two TKO's on the 21-bout program. Dave Horseman, Prince Georges Boys Club 120-pounder, stopped Charles Paugh of Police Boys Club No. 10 in 45 seconds. Denny Kendall of Prince Georges stopped Albert Hines of Eastern Branch in the third round.

Prince Georges placed six men in next Thursday's finals which will be held at the Eastern Branch gym.

Warrenton Hunt Races Set Today

By Harry De Mawby, Jr.

Warrenton, Va., March 17.—The fourteenth annual Warrenton Hunt point-to-point races will be run tomorrow at Clovercroft, estate of Gen. Arthur Harris, three miles south of here on Springs rd.

The races will begin at 11 a. m.

In keeping with its tradition, the Warrenton Hunt Club, committee for the races, delayed its announcement of the site until 3 o'clock this afternoon.

Eight entries have been named for the individual race over about 5 miles of natural hunting country. They are F. H. Prince jr.'s Lacey, Nicky Arundel's Pinky Par, Amy Hitchcock's Sheriff Downs, Wesley Dennis' Lucky, Albert P. Hinckley's Bimlyn, Mrs. Ruth Kobzina's Princess Marka, W. L. Rochester jr.'s Babnik and J. Mallory Nash's Lord Gay. All will be ridden by their owners.

Thus far only two teams have been entered in the pair race over six miles, Mrs. Ely Atherton riding her own Belle and Sally Spillman aboard War Snob pitted against a pair owned by Albert P. Hinckley with Mrs. Amory Lawrence on April Fool and Capt. Peter Dregon of the British Royal Navy riding Damask.

The Harkaway Hunter Trials will be held at Mr. and Mrs. Amory Lawrence's "Harkaway" in Warrenton, Va., next Wednesday with four trials listed for the foxchasers beginning at 1:30 p. m. and on Thursday, March 23 the annual Blue Ridge Hunt Point-To-Point meeting will be held on Wheatley Farm, Berryville, Va., with four races carded starting at 1 p. m.

U. S. Hockey Team Gains Revenge, 4-2

London, March 17 (AP).—The United States reversed form sharply tonight to whip favored Sweden, 4 to 2, in the World Amateur Hockey Championships. The U. S. team had previously lost 8-3, to the Swedes in the preliminary round.

The United States plays tournament favored Canada tomorrow night.

Canada defeated Switzerland, 11-1, and Britain whipped Norway, 4-3, in other championship matches today.

Bill Bennings Says:

At Charlestown

Dear Folks:

Dave (Publicity) Woods of Laurel sends me a kidding wire about my line regarding customers reporting at Bowie instead of Laurel for next Saturday's Maryland opening. Frank Cronan, who beats the press guns for Bowie, showed me a request from Washington's No. 1 sports announcer for "four press badges to Bowie's spring meeting." By the way, nominations for Laurel's stakes will be announced Sunday. Charles Town's track crew did an excellent job. Despite the deep snow, the racing strip was labeled "good" for the Friday program. Leeds Riely and John Briscoe supervised the work. Horses were working on the strip just after 9 a. m. However, I can't go for a report that dust was flying during the running of the first race. See you on the rail.—BILL.

Talbert, Borotra Win in Nationals, D. C. Woman Loses

New York, March 17 (AP).—Billy Talbert of New York and Jean Borotra of France, first-seeded among the domestic and foreign players, respectively, advanced to the third round of the national indoor tennis championship today.

Talbert vanquished Ubert C. Vincent of New York, 6—2, 6—2 and slashed to a 6—1, 6—0 decision over Frank Chiapponi of Long Beach, N. Y.

Tony Trabert, seventh-seeded, of Cincinnati, also moved into the third round by defeating Paul B. Remmey, jr., of Lewisburg, Ohio, 6—2, 6—1.

Robert Freedman of Springfield, Mass., defeated Macolm Fox, Baltimore, 6—3, 6—2, in a first-round game.

In the women's singles, first round, Mrs. Ann Gray of Washington was defeated by Judy Atterbury of New York, 6—4, 6—2.

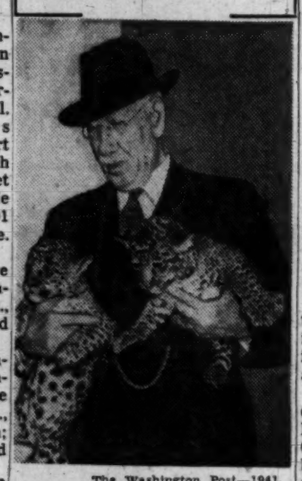
She is survived by her husband and five children. Funeral services will be held in Provo Monday.

Was Head Keeper

Blackburne, Zoo Pioneer, Dies at Home



The Washington Post—1941
WILLIAM H. BLACKBURNE
. . . In characteristic pose

William H. Blackburne, who brought the first animals to start the Washington Zoo and was its head keeper for 53 years, died Thursday at the age of 93 at his home at 1410 Harvard st. nw. He had been ill for several months.

Mr. Blackburne was still vigorously active when he retired at the age of 87, in 1943. His life had been filled with his love of animals, and his exciting adventures with them.

In 1891 Mr. Blackburne brought the first animals from the Smithsonian to Rock Creek Park to start the Zoo there. From these few animals he saw it grow to include 3000 mammals, birds and reptiles.

It was Mr. Blackburne who in 1904 employed a young cadet from Staunton (Va.) Military Academy who stopped in for a temporary job and stayed to become the Zoo's director—Dr. William Mann.

Mr. Blackburne is survived by his widow, Nettie Hagley Blackburne.

Services will be at 7 p. m. today at the Chambers funeral home, 1400 Chapin st. nw. Burial will be in a family lot in New Canaan, Conn.

E. A. Gimbel, Merchant, Dead at 84

Philadelphia, Pa., March 17 (Spl.).—Ellis A. Gimbel, pioneer merchant, philanthropist, and executive of a vast department store chain, died early today at his home here after an illness of four days. He was 84.

A native of Vincennes, Ind., he was educated in this city, but returned to Vincennes to learn merchandising in his father's store there. In 1887, with his father and six brothers, he shared in opening the first large Gimbel store, in Milwaukee. The Gimbel organization now includes stores there, in Philadelphia, New York, Chicago, Detroit, Beverly Hills, Calif., and Miami, Fla.

Mr. Gimbel's annual circus parties for orphans and underprivileged children, and his Thanksgiving Day parades have become Philadelphia institutions.

He was active in many civic and charitable activities, being especially interested in the blind. Mr. Gimbel was the last surviving brother of the family. His wife died in 1948. With him at his death were a son, Ellis A. Gimbel, jr.; a daughter, Mrs. Fridolyn Graham, and a daughter-in-law, Mrs. Richard Gimbel.

Albert E. Crandall Dies; Internal Revenue Agent

Albert Earl Crandall, 38, an Internal Revenue Bureau Inspector, died unexpectedly Wednesday in St. Petersburg, where he was stationed.

Mr. Crandall, a former Washington resident, was an Internal Revenue Bureau agent for 17 years. He had been in Florida for nearly a year.

He was born in Annapolis and trained for the Naval Academy at Annapolis High and Eastern High School here. However, an accident during a year of Navy service in 1929 forced him to give up that career.

Mr. Crandall is survived by his widow, Ethel Geren Crandall; a six-year-old son, Albert Earl Crandall, jr.; and a married daughter, Mrs. Jacqueline Ryals, all of St. Petersburg; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James H. Crandall, 4919 Ashby st. nw., and a sister, Mrs. Marian McMichael, 636 N. Harrison st., Arlington.

Funeral services will be held at the Mattingly Funeral Home, 131 11th st. se., Monday at 2 p.m.

Card of Thanks

BREEDEN, CLARENCE. We wish to express our sincere gratitude to all who helped by sympathy, kindness and flowers to lighten our grief during the illness and death of our dear brother, CLARENCE BREEDEN.

163,000 Civilian Jobs Cut Out Since August By Defense Agencies

The military agencies have wiped out 163,000 civilian jobs since last August which is 28,000 more than had been planned.

In addition, Gen. Joseph T. McNarney told a House Civil Service subcommittee that economy studies were continuing and that further cuts were probable. He estimated savings in civilian salaries alone at about half a billion dollars a year.

McNarney, Defense's economy "expediter," was called before the subcommittee headed by Representative Williams (D., Miss.) to reveal in detail how the mass reduction was handled. The subcommittee is studying overstaffing in Federal offices and it hopes to persuade other agencies to follow Defense's employe-cutting example.

McNarney first explained that his management committee had been given the power to order reductions. He observed that someone must be made responsible because a lot of good recommendations are made and never followed.

"The easy way to reduce staff," McNarney said, "is simply not fill vacancies, as it's always hard to fire people."

He explained that the first big Defense reduction was forced by a ceiling on its budget. "But now," McNarney added, "we've swung over to the engineering approach. We have expert management engineers looking over our offices and establishments to see where economies can be made in order to get the maximum out of the Defense dollar."

The four-star general denied reports that the military agencies had fired civilians and filled their jobs with uniformed people.

He conceded there was some "empire-building" in Government—a practice of supervisors building up their staffs in the hope of gaining higher salaries for themselves.

McNarney said the personnel people could be helpful in spotting overstaffing. The Defense agencies, he pointed out, have 1 personnel employe for every 90 workers. He said he wanted this ratio extended at least to 1 to 100. His committee, he said, would soon begin a personnel management project to study all phases of civilian personnel.

GPO PAY RAISE: A 2 percent wage boost for 2600 Government Printing Office employes was okayed yesterday by Public Printer John J. Deviny. The increase will go into effect tomorrow. The new rates also provide a 15 percent differential for night work.

Covered by the order are laborers, semiskilled workers, and others who weren't included in the pay boost given about 3000 craft workers two weeks ago. The 2 percent increase is in line with the skilled worker boost.

NOTES: David Bernstein, a writer, has been appointed assistant to Federal Security Administrator Oscar Ewing . . . J. Edward Henderson is retiring from the Army's Adjutant General's Office after 32 years of service. . . Representative Patterson (R., Conn.) has introduced a bill to give postal employes the same annual and sick leave benefits as other Federal workers . . . Max Abel has resigned as secretary-treasurer of the growing National Association of Retired Civil Employes.

PROTEST: It's estimated that 98 percent of the postal custodial employes who are covered by the President's No. 18 reorganization plan would have their salaries cut from $20 to $740 annually.

The prediction is made by Ross A. Messer, legislative representative of the National Association Postoffice Maintenance Employes, who hopes to get the plan defeated in Congress.

The reorganization plan would transfer many Federal buildings now maintained by the Postoffice Department to General Services. With few exceptions, postal salaries are much better than those GSA would be allowed to pay under the Classification Act.

D. C. Racial Conditions 'Disgraceful', Says Waring

Issue Must Be Met Head On, Carolina Judge Declares in Hitting 'Gradualism'

Federal Judge J. Waties Waring, whose stand on the race issue in his home state of South Carolina has brought threats of impeachment, said that conditions in Washington "are even worse than in my part of the country."

He told an unsegregated audience of 400 persons at the Willard Hotel that "the only way to meet the issue" of racial discrimination "is to meet it head on."

In the District of Columbia, he said, it is "disgraceful."

The United States District judge, a native of Charleston, S. C., and his wife were presented citations at the annual dinner of the American Council on Human Rights, a group of Negro fraternities.

Judge Waring's ruling from the bench that Negroes be admitted to the South Carolina Democratic primary touched off a storm of protest in 1947. At present, he is the target of a resolution passed by that State's House of Representatives, which has approved a $10,000 appropriation to finance impeachment proceedings against him.

"Here we sit within a stone's throw of the Capitol, where Congressmen meet and talk and talk and talk," he declared, while conditions remain "disgraceful."

"I believe it is even worse here than in my part of the country," Judge Waring said. "At least, in my State, a good many of the people don't know any better."

He urged the Council on Human Rights to exert its influence on Congress and the White House to bring about legislation insuring equal rights. In effect, he told them their plea should be similar to his order opening the Democratic primary to Negroes: "You've got to do it."

The solution lies in "a status created by law," with the aid of the courts, Congress and the Executive Department, he added.

The "great danger" does not lie with "the Talmadges, the Thurmonds, and those of the Bilbo and Rankin stripe," he declared.

"They are simply filled with hate, greed, prejudice and fear—every one of them trembling in his shoes, for fear that decent people are some day going to kick them out."

The fact that the South is witnessing "outrages, klan parades and cross burnings" is "one of the best signs that the people are aroused," Waring declared.

He called it "the infection breaking out and coming to the surface," where the problem can be dealt with openly and publicly.

In accepting her citation, Mrs. Waring asked that the Negroes stop thinking of her as white. "Let's all be one," she said. "My Negro friends are my best friends; only I don't think of them as Negroes. Will you all help by not calling me white?"

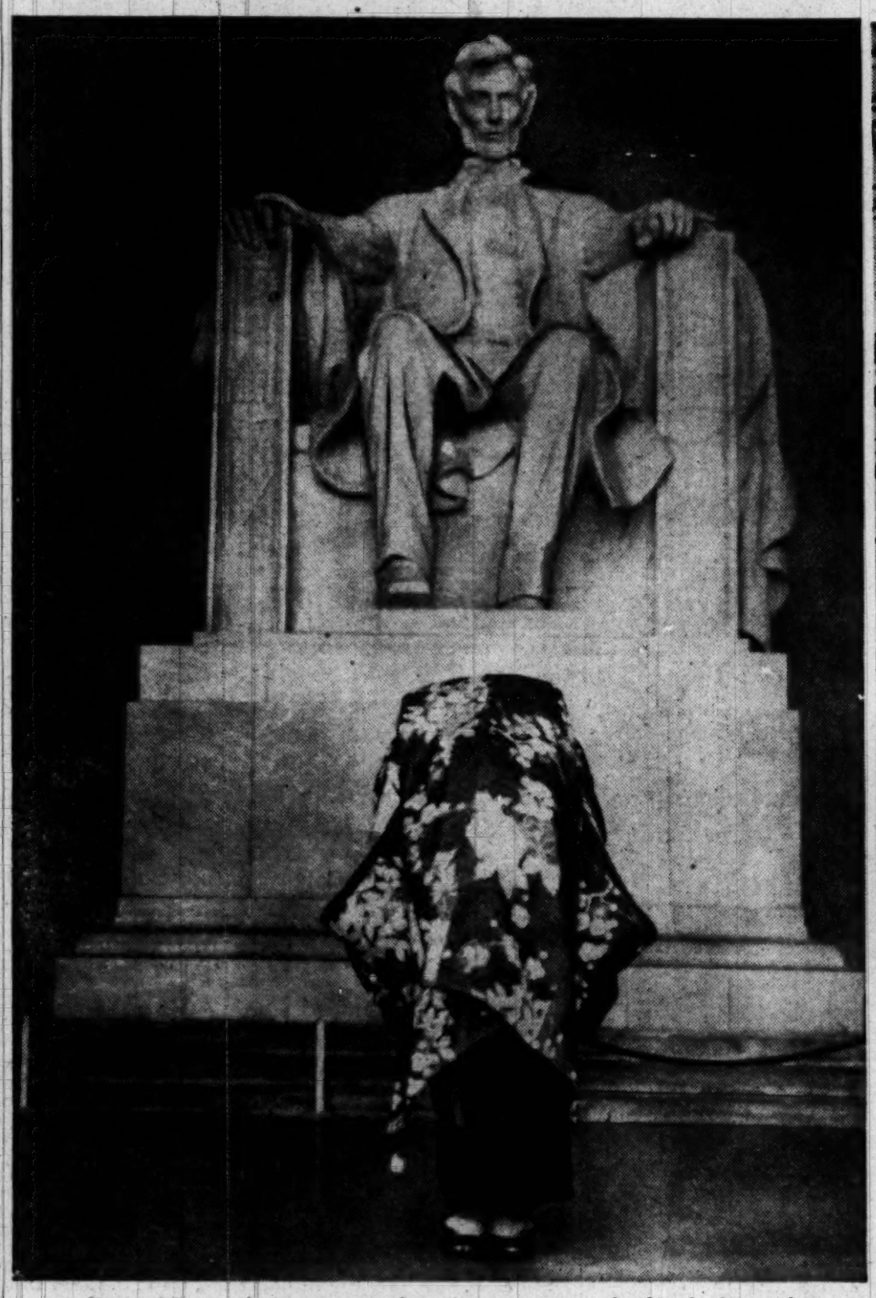
Little Rainbow Tours Nation's Capital..



Mitsue, following Japanese custom, bows in reverance at the Lincoln Memorial

High spot of tour was visit to the Japanese cherry trees

Charles DelVecchio—The Washington Post
With husband-to-be, Mitsue thanks Senator Holland

Mitsue Bows to Emancipator, Likens Monument to Fujiyama

Mitsue, which means "Rainbow," and Carrol started out to see the town.

She looked as fragile as the finest doll. More earthily, her fiance described her waist size: "three beer bottles around."

Wrapped many times about this waist was a gleaming obi, or sash. On her tiny feet were Japanese sandals.

"It's 555 feet high, which is 111 times as high as you," Carrol described the Washington Monument.

"Like big pencil," she said as she looked.

Carrol knows almost no Japanese, Mitsui almost no English. To lovers this is absolutely no handicap as he found out when he met and wooed her while she was a waitress and he American director of a horticultural project in Japan. Then he spent a year getting a bill through Congress to get her here.

The car approached the Lincoln Memorial. "He make emancipation for dark people," Carrol said.

"But Washington," asked the little Ranbow quizzically, "he number 1 man?"

"Yes. But Lincoln, he Number 2."

"Washington Number 1 man. Lincoln Number 2 man," Mitsue repeated this lesson in American history.

A nice thing happened after she had bowed to Lincoln and was coming down the steps from the Shrine.

A little girl—little by American standards though bigger than Mitsue—rushed impulsively up to her:

"May I say welcome to this country?"

The girl who had arrived only this week in a strange land caught the meaning. Gratefulness welled up in her brown eyes, her hand went around the girl's waist.

The girl identified herself as Mary Knauth, age 12, from New York.

"You were in Tokyo Monday," Carrol said as the car drove on. "Your mother and father . . . I think they cry for my little pigeon to fly away . . ."

"May-be," the little Rainbow's voice said. "But mother . . . she still happy. And I . . . I happy . . . I so happy."

She was overjoyed at the Japanese cherry trees, her graceful hands softly caressed them. Then it was over to lunch where the talk got onto children and she blushed, like another charm, and finally said: "I want . . . one doozen . . . one doozen children . . ."

Senator Expresses Consensus

And blushed 16 times more when everyone laughed.

Then it was a triple-dip "is a da cremo" cone, her favorite American food. Then over to the Capitol to deliver wedding invitations to Vice President Barkley and Speaker Rayburn, who signed the bill to bring Mitsue here.

Senator Holland of Florida, who sponsored the special Act of Congress, came out on the steps to shake hands.

"I . . . very happy," was all the Rainbow could say again.

Whereupon the Senator from Florida delivered himself of Capitol Hill's incontrovertible statement of the week.

Said the Senator, as he replied:

"She's very easy to look at."

Civil Service Building Site Proposed as Parking Lot

Merchants Hear Ideas for Providing More Spaces; Joint Action Advocated

Organization of a merchants' group to finance and operate a network of parking spots in the downtown area was recommended yesterday.

The principal parking lot proposed would be a giant facility on the site of the present Civil Service Commission Building, between 7th and 9th, F and G sts. nw.

The proposals were made at a joint meeting of the District Motor Vehicle Parking Agency and the Merchants and Manuacturers Association in the District Building.

Civil Service Site Desirable

Maury L. Nee, association vice president, said downtown merchants "should seriously consider making an investment in parking facilities."

The Civil Service Building site, "now a natural barrier to commercial traffic," Nee said, could be converted to a parking facility readily accessible to 70 percent of the downtown shopping area.

The present building is old and only partially occupied, with about 300 Government workers there, he estimated. These could be transferred to other Federal buildings, he said.

Charles T. McGavin, member of the Parking Agency staff, said the Civil Service Building site would afford 182,000 square feet and could house 2000 cars in a multi-deck parking structure. He said shopping facilities on the ground floor could help carry operating expenses. A 1946 survey showed 81,000 workers and shoppers in the vicinity each week day between 1 and 2 p. m., he added.

California Cooperation Cited

Traffic Director George E. Keneipp, a member of the Parking Agency, praised the interest shown by the merchants, relating how Oakland and San Francisco, Calif., retailers got together, leased space and operated parking facilities. Washington retailers are similarly faced with loss of trade to suburban stores as the result of parking difficulties, he said.

Keneipp said the city needs about 8000 more parking spaces in the downtown area between Massachusetts and Pennsylvania aves., 5th and 19th sts. nw.

Keneipp said proposals for underground parking at Franklin Park, Lafayette and McPherson squares and the Mall were impractical because of insufficient potential income.

Would Lease City Land

L. A. Poole of Parking Services, Inc., criticized the District Commissioners for failing to give his organization a decision on leasing city-owned land with potential parking space for 12,000 cars. He said the Western Market site at 21st and K sts. nw. could take 2050 cars.

Several merchants promised cooperation after plans had been prepared for specific projects. To help the Parking Agency prepare these, Charles M. Upham, Agency chairman, asked the M & M to appoint a committee of merchants.

Among those present at the meeting was W. H. Kelley of the staff of the House District Committee, which recently started an investigation of Washington's parking rules and rates.

48% of Drive Quota Reached By Red Cross

First Lady Attends Luncheon Reporting Receipt of $608,376

The Red Cross drive in the Washington metropolitan area yesterday reached 48.11 percent of its $1,039,000 goal.

Mrs. Harry S. Truman and Mrs. Georgia Neese Clark, Treasurer of the United States, were on hand as volunteer workers reported that 108,031 gifts, totaling $608,376, had been collected to date.

To the volunteers, who gathered at the United States Chamber of Commerce for their fifth report luncheon, Mrs. Clark described the Red Cross as "a truly international organization."

"The Red Cross is the world's good neighbor," she declared. "No matter what the emergency, we know the Red Cross will come across with the help needed."

After the reports were made, Daniel W. Bell, local general chairman, reminded workers that this year's drive still lags behind last year's, when 65.84 percent of the total goal had been collected at the same period.

Later, he issued a statement calling the situation a "real challenge" but reminding volunteers:

"The Red Cross faced similar challenges in the past and always came through with flying colors. We will not be content to do less this year. The next two weeks are crucial, we are faced with the necessity of redoubling our efforts if we are to achieve a success, which can only be made possible through the individual efforts of all."

Fined $500

4 Sentenced In Neglect of 8 Children

Four persons were each sentenced to a year in jail and fined $500 in Arlington Juvenile Court yesterday, for allowing eight children to live in virtual squalor at 2224 N. Frederick st., Arlington.

Convicted of contributing to the neglect, dependency and delinquency of minors by Arlington Juvenile Court Judge Hugh Reid, were: Lester Martin and his wife, Melvina, both of 2125 L st. nw.; James T. Parker, 838 New Hampshire ave. nw.; and the Martin's 19-year-old daughter Catherine, of the Frederick st. address. The complaint came from county welfare authorities.

Execution of the sentences was suspended until March 31, to give the four a chance to make adequate provision for the children "in decent homes," Judge Reid said.

The youngsters, who range from 5 months to 13 years, are among a dozen persons who inhabit the sagging frame house on N. Frederick st. The 12 share 3 beds.

Four of the minor children are the Martin's, 3 are the children of the Martin's oldest daughter, Catherine, and the eighth is Parker's 13-year-old daughter.

The structure, described as "unfit for human habitation" by Arlington Building Inspector Andrew Jenson, is without light or water and has no toilet facilities.

Lester Martin, a janitor at the Glebe Courts Apartments, accordiny to Judge Reid, testified he paid $4 a month rent for the shack to a Washington woman.

Convict Loses Leg as Result Of Snowstorm

Slips in Road Spreader; 49 More Accidents Listed; 4 Break Wrists

The Washington area slipped, skidded, sanded, and finally melted yesterday out of its heaviest snowfall this year and apparently is headed into some more wintry weather.

Except in shaded spots, the 3.1-inch snowfall of Thursday night and early yesterday disappeared under the sun's rays and a brisk wind which blew yesterday afternoon.

Convict's Leg Amputated

Charles Jenkins, 26, of Sperryville, Va., a convict in State Prison Camp 30, near Fairfax, lost a leg yesterday as a result of the storm.

While unsacking chemicals in a highway truck on Route 50, near Pender, he was pulled into the spiked spreader when an overshoe became entangled. His leg was mangled and a cutting torch was necessary to get him free. The leg was later amputated at Arlington Hospital. Jenkins is serving the sixth year of a 8-year sentence for felonious assault.

Those treated for fractured wrists, at Alexandria Hospital, were Michael Sterman, 8, of Route 1, Alexandria, in Fairfax County, who fell from a sled; Dorothy Wright, 12, of 206 Belle View blvd., near Alexandria, who slipped on ice.

49 More Auto Accidents

Also Mrs. Melle Seaton, 59, of 3002 Adams st. ne., who fell on Channing st. ne., near Bladensburg rd., and Jerome Kinkowstein, 58, of 1015 N st. nw., who fell near his home. Both were admitted to Emergency Hospital.

In the District, police received through the night until 11 a. m. yesterday, reports of 49 auto accidents in addition to 42 reported earlier. None was serious.

The weather forecast for today was for a low of 35 early in the morning, windy and turning colder through the day, still colder tonight.

Cherry Blossoms Lag, May Miss Festival

Cherry blossoms apparently won't be out for the cherry blossom festival on March 31, April 1 and 2.

Edward C. Kelly, special assistant to the superintendent of National Capital Parks, said yesterday that "they're still in winter condition. It would take two full weeks of exceptionally warm weather to bring them out, and it's not likely we'll get it."

No Penalty for Refusing Pay On Streetcars, Judge Decides

A streetcar passenger who refuses to pay his fare is violating the law but there is no penalty provided for such violation, Municipal Judge Frank H. Myers ruled yesterday.

Myers' opinion was voiced as he dismissed charges of violating Public Utilities Commission regulations lodged against a Harvard University graduate student.

The student, an attorney, Bayles Fox, of 1909 19th st. nw., had tendered an allegedly invalid transfer to a Capital Transit Co. motorman last February 5. The transfer was refused and fare demanded. Fox declared he would not pay the fare unless the motorman gave him a receipt.

The motorman, B. J. Dean, 903 Little st., Alexandria, himself a member of the Baltimore bar, told Fox he had no authority to issue a receipt.

The argument continued for two blocks. A policeman was summoned and Fox placed under arrest. He was later freed on $5 collateral pending trial.

Fox, defended by Attorney Frank Reeves, specifically was charged with violation of a PUC order which provides: "That no person . . . shall board a streetcar or motor bus for hire without paying the established fare or presenting a valid transfer . . ."

In granting a defense motion to dismiss, the court found that although the defendant was guilty of the offense charged "no penalty is provided by statute or law for such offense."

Sections of the District Code providing penalties of up to a $200 fine for violations of PUC regulations were deemed by the court to refer only to public utilities or to "an individual, firm, or copartnership engaged in public utility operation . . ."

Assistant Corporation Counsel Clark King, who prosecuted the case, sent a copy of the opinion to Corporation Counsel Vernon E. West. West said later that the matter was under study by experts on PUC regulations.

A spokesman for the Capital Transit Co. said that company attornys were studying the opinion. He said that in somewhat similar cases in the past, disorderly conduct convictions had been obtained against persons who refused either to pay fares or leave the conveyance.

For Flimflam On Lee It's a Cell for Kee

The way that Isaac Kee, 36, got out of the hoosegow last December put him back yesterday for four months to a year and a day.

It seems that Kee and a man named Charlie Lee were cellmates at the No. 2 Precinct stationhouse, both charged with being drunk. There was money present among Lee's possessions to pay $10 collateral, but when Lee's name was called, Kee responded briskly, signed Lee's name and left, along with $38 that Lee had.

Judge Goldsborough of District Court found Kee guilty of forgery and imposed the sentence.

In another sentencing, Robert Henry, 18, of 1129 Vermont ave. nw., received two to ten years in prison for manslaughter in the fatal shooting last January of Ignacio Butler, 15, of 738 7th st. se.

William M. Douglas, 18, of 462 Casey's ct. sw., received from three to ten years for robbing a junk dealer of $35 at the shop at 221 I st. sw.

Tire-Changing Crashes Cars; Woman Hurt

A motorist's courteous attempt to help a lady in distress ended in two accidents yesterday, one of which caused serious head injuries to an Alexandria woman.

In critical condition at Arlington Hospital yesterday was Carolyn F. Jordan, 36, of 1636 Fitzgerald lane, Alexandria.

It all started when Buster Austin Greer, 26, of 2814 S. 8th st., Arlington, spotted an unidentified lady in distress, on Shirley hwy., near the Pentagon shortly before 7 a. m. and stopped to help her change a tire.

Mrs. Jordan, traveling east on Shirley hwy. behind Greer, then skidded on the ice into the rear of Greer's car. She parked her car and walked around to investigate the minor damage she had caused, police said.

At this point, according to police, a car driven by Robert Harry Groves, 23, of Presidential Gardens, Alexandria, skidded into Mrs. Jordan's car, knocked her down, and skidded on into Greer's parked car.

Mrs. Jordan was taken to Arlington Hospital by the Arlington Rescue Squad, and an emergency operation was performed yesterday.

2d GU Pilgrimage To Rome Announced

A second Georgetown University Holy Year pilgrimage to Rome has been announced by the Rev. Hunter Guthrie, president of the university.

The tour will leave New York by air on July 2 and return by air on August 9. Total cost of the trip, which is limited to Georgetown students and faculty, is $924.

D. C. Gas Sales Set New Peak In February

By S. Oliver Goodman

Washington Gas Light Co. yesterday reported that February sales of 22,333,311 therms was the best single month's total in the company's 101-year history.

Last month's sales were 20 percent larger than the 18,598,862 therms in February, 1949. The previous record month was in December, 1949, when 20,753,830 therms were used.

For the first two months this year, gas sales aggregated 42,824,445 therms, also a new peak for that period and 12 percent more than in the same 1949 period.

A spokesman for the company attributed February's heavy consumption to 'more normal' winter temperatures and the steady expansion in gas use for heating.

The company's growth over the past decade is graphically illustrated by these figures:

	Gas Sold (Therms)	Meters In Use
1940	84,401,647	190,267
1941	97,923,573	206,378

Coffee Prices Cut 2c A Lb. by Gen. Foods

New York, March 17 (AP).—General Foods Corp. today trimmed prices of vacuum-packed and bag-packed coffee 2 cents a pound.

An official of the National Coffee Association said the cuts reflected lower prices for green coffee beans.

After abnormally high buying activity in coffee last November and December when prices were climbing rapidly, purchasing all the way down the line from consumer to roaster fell off sharply, he said. Coffee backed up in the supply channels and depressed the market.

Grocery Sales Show Drop in January

Retail grocery store sales totaled $1,860,000,000 in January, a drop of 412 million dollars from the peak reached the previous month and 84 million dollars under January, 1949, the Commerce Department estimated today.

Chain grocery retailers accounted for 741 million dlolars of the sales. Their turnover was 165 million dollars below December and 66 million dollars under January, 1949.

With the State Societies

Tennesseans Bringing 'Shoe Shine Boy'

By Nicha Souré

YOU'VE probably sung the "Chattanooga Shoe-Shine Boy," but have you ever seen him?

The Tennessee State Society will have the rhythmic lad on their amateur hour and square dance session on March 25. The "Chattanooga Shoe Shine Boy" is 15-year-old "Bo" McCann who was elected to this honor in a contest held in Chattanooga March 11. He has been treated to a trip to New York and will stop off in Washington to sing on his way home.

Miss Alma Allen, Tennessee's princess in the Cherry Blossom Festival, will be among the singers in the amateur hour.

Old-fashioned fiddling and comedy skits will also be included in the show which starts at 8 p. m. in the National Press Club. A reincarnation of "Aydelotte's Show," which toured small towns in the South 40 years ago, will be one of the skits. Mike Hunnicutt, formerly of Knoxville, Tenn., will be master of ceremonies.

TONIGHT is a big night on the State Society calendar.

Missourians will dance in the West ballroom of the Shoreham Hotel with Dave McWilliams orchestra furnishing the music for dancing at 10 p. m.

The "Golden Slippers" under the direction of H. L. Kemp, will be the intermission entertainment. The guests will be received by the president of the society, Clarence McCune, assisted by Mrs. Eric G. Jansson.

In the large ballroom of the Shoreham, the Tar Heels will be staging their gala "Mad Hatter's Ball." Dancing tonight will be from 10 p. m. to 1 a. m. with the grand march of the Mad Hatter a feature.

Prizes will be awarded to the funniest woman's hat, the funniest man's hat and to the two hats showing the most ingenuity.

'TIS a WEARIN' O' THE GREEN for Nebraskans tonight.

As Clifford Sandahl, president of the Nebraska State Society, says of the dance in the Continental room of the Wardman Park Hotel, 9:30 p. m.: "Sure, and it'll be a grand affair, with that fine broth of a lad, Jack Morton, a'leadin' his orchestra. Be sure, now, that you invite all your Irrish frinds, wither they be Irrish, Nebraskans, or furriners."

Hosts and hostesses for the dance will be former Senator and Mrs. Edward R. Burke, Lieut. Gen. and Mrs. Alfred M. Gruenther, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Jarrell, Mr. and Mrs. Stanfield B. Johnson, Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Francis P. Matthews, Mrs. Ann Moore, Representative and Mrs. Eugene D. O'Sullivan and Lieut. Col. and Mrs. W. Denver Wilson.

Yates

MISS MISSISSIPPI in the Cherry Blossom Festival will be Miss Sally Wilie, a sophmore at Marjorie Webster Junior College. The 19-year-old Magnolia Stater is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. M. Wilie of Clarksdale, Miss. Studying liberal arts at Majorie Webster, Miss Wilie is interested in basketball and photography. She was chosen to represent her home State by a spin of the wheel of fortune at a recent Mississippi State Society dance

THE ARKANSAS STATE SOCIETY will stage its final square dance of the season at the Palisades Club house tonight at 8:30. Caller for the dance will be Dr. Wiley Goodsell and his Rocky Mountain Band will furnish the music.

THE VERMONT ASSOCIATION of Washington will hold a meeting and dance at the Washington Club, 17th and K sts. nw., at 8 p. m.

The brief business session will include the election of officers. Plans will be announced for the annual Sugar Party when the Vermonters of the area and their initiated guests indulge in a traditional "sugaring off."

Schreiber to Talk

"The Father's Role in the Family" will be discussed by Dr. Julius Schreiber, psychiatrist, at the meeting of the Brightwood Home-School Association, Monday, 8 p. m. The meeting will take place at the school, 13th and Nicholson sts. nw.

Mary Washington Alumnae to Hold St. Patrick's Day Tea

The Washington Alumnae Chapter of Mary Washington College of the University of Virginia will give a St. Patrick's Day tea this afternoon at the home of Mrs. Suzanne Sugg, 3143 Key blvd., Arlington, between 3 and 5 p. m. All area alumnae, their husbands and friends are invited to attend. Those interested may call Chestnut 0822.

The monthly luncheon meeting of the chapter will be held on March 25, in the banquet room of the New Athens Restaurant, 1741 K st., nw. at 1 p. m. Levin Houston 3d, instructor in piano at MWC, will present a musical program including everything from Bach to boogie-woogie.

Woman Who Made Princess' Dress to Open Own Shop

Do you remember Mrs. Lois Guerrieri?

Just in case you don't: She's the Washington mother who was invited to—and attended—Princess Elizabeth's wedding party in 1947 after making a dress and sending it to the royal bride-to-be.

Well, she's about to achieve a life-long ambition. She's going to open a dress shop next week at 1611 Good Hope rd. se.

Mrs. Guerrieri began making doll dresses at age 5. Now 35 and mother of four she loves dressmaking no less.

Love for dressmaking brought her considerable local fame back in 1947.

After sending the dress to Princess Elizabeth and getting the invitation, Mrs. Guerrieri was sent to London by The Washington Post to cable back her experiences. They included talking to the Queen of England and meeting the King at the tea party at St. James Palace.

She seems even more excited about this shop she's to open.

"It's something I've always wanted," she said yesterday, moving-in day.

Irish Share Fun With Other Nations

By Elizabeth Maguire

IT WAS a great day for the Irish yesterday.

The memory of St. Patrick was honored at a number of parties, including a dinner-dance at the Chevy Chase Club. Green flowers were placed around the rooms of the club, and the orchestra varied rhumbas and sambas with Irish jigs.

The retiring Minister of Ireland, popular Sean Nunan, attended the dinner given last evening by the Friendly Sons of St. Patrick at the Mayflower. An honorary member of the society, the Minister was invested at the dinner with a gold medal. In the course of the evening he also dropped in on the dinner given at the Mayflower by the Ancient Order of the Hibernians.

An international note also crept into society. Hugo Gouthier, Brazilian Counselor, was given a farewell party by Mr. and Mrs. Blake Clark, and the Ambassador of Thailand and Princess Wan Waithayakon gave a dinner for the Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. Willard L. Thorp.

Chapmans Entertain

A reception was given by the Secretary of the Interior and Mrs. Oscar Chapman for the visiting Governor of Puerto Rico and Mrs. Munoz Marin, the Chapmans entertaining at their home at the Westchester.

In the gathering were Gov. Ernest Gruening of Alaska, the chairman of the Philippine War Damage Commission, Frank Waring; a member of the commission, John O'Donnell, and Mrs. O'Donnell; the director of the Division of Territories, James P. Davis; the Commissioner of Puerto Rico and Mrs. A. Fernos-Isern; and members of the House and Senate.

Another lovely party yesterday was given by Mr. and Mrs. Emil Hurja. Guests were invited to view a new portrait of Mrs. Hurja by Alexander Clayton.

Assistants of the hostess, who took turns presiding at the tea table included Mrs. Parker West, Mrs. Karl Mundt, Mrs. Richard B. Clayton, Mrs. John E. Peurifoy, Mrs. M. Robert Guggenheim, Senhora Manuel Rocheta, Mme. Gregor Bendz, Mrs. Marcella DuPont, Mrs. Eric Johnston, Mrs. Morris Cafritz, Mrs. Lothrop Stoddard, Mrs. Thomas Richard Cowell, Mrs. Leslie L. Biffle, Mrs. Harold Walker, Mrs. Gustav Stewart.

THAT Vice President Alben W. Barkley didn't know his wife's first name was revealed in a recent radio quiz program. The question was asked "What is Mrs. Barkley's first name?"

"Even the Vice President didn't know it was Elizabeth," Mrs. Barkley said. Everyone, including the Veep, thought it was Jane, but Mrs. Barkley was christened Elizabeth Jane Rucker.

To avoid being called Lizzy, she explains, she dropped the name Elizabeth while in school.

Mrs. Barkley will give a tea for her daughter, Miss Anne Hadley, the first week in April. Miss Hadley is coming home for spring vacation from Sophie Newcomb College in New Orleans. A luncheon will be given by the Vice President and Mrs. Barkley on Monday in the Vice President's office at the Capitol

Pakistan's UN Delegate Honored

A. RAHIM KHAN, Pakistan's permanent delegate to the United Nations and representative of Pakistan on the UN Commission to Libya, was the guest in whose honor the Ambassador of Pakistan and Mme. Ispahani entertained yesterday at a reception. Begum Khan shared honors with her husband.

The Ambassador of Argentina, Jeronimo Remorino, has sent out invitations to a black tie reception on Tuesday, at 8 p. m. in honor of the Minister of the Treasury and President of the National Economic Council of Argentina and Mrs. Ramon A. Cereyo.

The Ambassador of Italy, Alberto Tarchiani, yesterday presented the Star of Solidarity to Mrs. Truxtun Beale in gratitude for her help in restoring monuments in Italy, particularly in Venice.

Sir Henry Knight Is Entertained

SIR HENRY KNIGHT, United Kingdom member of the advisory commission of the Near East agency for relief, was the guest last evening of the Minister of Lebanon and Mrs. Charles Malik, who entertained at a dinner in his honor. The visitor has been widely feted during his short stay at the capital. Next week he will probably tour Tennessee and the TVA.

Sellouts Underline Gayety's Success

By Richard L. Coe

HITHER, THITHER AND YARN: Tonight the curtains close on the first run of Washington's revived "live" theater, and proof of its success lies in the Gayety box-office figures—orchestra floor and first balcony sellouts have been the rule . . . Watching the curtain calls the night it snowed was an invigorating experience, and the audience seemed pleased as it tramped up those thick new carpets Manager Bernie Ferber's invested in . . . Bernie's delighted and states that while producers were wary at first, they're warming up . . . "Ninth st. isn't as bad as some people seem to think. The transient trade just hasn't been here since the war ended and that's one reason why burlesque died; we just didn't get any more drifters after 7 o'clock at night. We're really a respectable neighborhood and the nice folks who come here seem almost surprised" . . . Susan Peters, bless her, get a week's rest, during which she'll drive to Atlanta to play theater in the round on top of that hotel, a highly successful venture . . . She'll do "The Glass Menagerie" there and at three other spots . . . Playing one-night stands and split weeks is rugged for anyone, and Susan's wheelchair makes it lots tougher . . . But she doesn't complain and audiences seem to like as well as sympathize with her, a grand gal.

KATHARINE DUNHAM, touring Europe with her own troupe, a sensation in Genoa, where the Commie mayor was so fascinated with her that he cut a strike committee meeting to go to the reception our consul tossed for her . . . As in Scandinavia last fall, with the Howard Players, the Commies are flabbergasted to find that the American Negro isn't as bad off as they're told, and the fact that they're honored as artists by our own Government destroys a pack of nasty propaganda.

A MODERN Annie Oakley gets here Monday. Dot Lind, prepping you on "Annie Get Your Gun," will shoot it out with Champ Arthur Cook, the rifle expert, at the University Club . . . Officials celebrating the thirty-eighth anniversary of the Girl Scouts inspected the Warners short on "Women of Tomorrow" and found it good . . . The Jewish Community Center Childrens Theater will play "Cinderella of Loreland" for Community Chest agencies connected with children's activities tomorrow afternoon . . . Boys of Landon School gave "The Soul of a Professor," a one-act Cornell experimental theater offspring, with Theodore Bledsoe and William Butler heading the cast.

YOU CAN NOW SEND in your mail orders for the Gayety's "A Streetcar Named Desire," which opens a three-week run, starring Judith Evelyn, April 3; see tomorrow's ad . . . "Death of a Salesman" has opened to huzzahs in Vienna and Copenhagen, the latter city's Politiken critic, Harald Engberg, writing: "Illusion grew up from the stage in all its strange, grotesque, darkish beauty. It was America and it was everywhere" . . . Clarence Derwent, back from Florida's Rollins College on his way to Kansas to play Shylock with the students; he may do it on the citronella circuit, "to prove that this classic is not anti-Semitic."

THAT ZITHER music in "The Third Man" has prompted a heavy zither market at the Vienna shops; everyone wants one . . . There's also a hefty comeback of ukuleles, one New York company selling 2500 a day made of plastic with nylon strings; "they can be played under water," is the boast . . . Jack Parr wants to know what's holding up his movie contract; "If I don't get the part soon, I'll commit television." . . . Why do composing rooms insist on putting an extra E in Fredric March's first name?

WILL BING CHOSBY'S "pendy op" hold up "Bing Crosby Day" at Front Royal, Va., April 1, when his "Riding High" is slated for its world premiere? . . . I hear via Baltimore that Bob Hope has early reservations at Johns Hopkins . . . Guess who may replace Lilli Palmer after she leaves "Caesar and Cleopatra"? . . . Paulette Goddard . . . Latest thing in comic books: the plays of W. Shakespeare, out soon; well, the Lambs did it, too. . . . Cinema 16 tonight repeats Eisenstein's Mexican film, "Time in the Sun," at the Institute of Contemporary Arts, 1322 New York ave.

EVELYN FREYMAN of the Olney Theater is Ed Moore's WGAY guest at 12:15 today and she'll pay tribute to her ailing partner, Redge Allen, whose GI loan started the handsome plan that's proved such a success; Redge, now in Emergency Hospital, insisted on "Theater for All" . . . Both the Little and the Dupont will be showing "Birth of a Ballet," backstage with the Sadler's Wells company, as a short with "Tight Little Island" opening Wednesday . . . Sol Hurok has the fall tour of the English company all booked, without Washington . . . Doesn't want to play Consty Hawl; don't blame 'em; nice if the Strand deal could accommodate 'em; let's hope, but I doubt that tight bookings will allow.

SIDNEY LUST'S Beltsville Drive-In opens tonight with "Twelve O'Clock High" . . . Donald Kirkley, in the Baltimore Sun, finds Holmes Alexander's "Aaron Burr," premiered by the Vagabonds, "very high in substance and promise among the original scripts produced in the history of Baltimore's little theaters" . . . Georgetown U. winds up its "Ah, Wilderness!" tonight at Holy Trinity Auditorium, 36th and O, the Mask and Bauble's ninty-sixth year . . . George Washington's Players are rehearsing "The Warrior's Husband," to open April 20 . . . Maud Howell Smith taking time form the "Bal Boheme" of the Arts Club to learn her lines for "Dodsworth," to be given at the end of April by the Masquers of Roosevelt Center . . . It was the College of William and Mary which played "No More Peace" at Mary Washington College's International Theater Month opening.

Cap. Transit Proposes New SE. Service

Capital Transit Co. yesterday applied to the District Public Utilities Commission for permission to establish regular-fare rush-hour bus service over South Capitol Street Bridge.

The PUC stated last Monday, in refusing permission for an extra-fare express route across the bridge, that it would approve one at regular rates. In fact, it indicated it would investigate the need for such service if CTC didn't apply for it.

PUC Chairman James H. Flanagan said the application would probably be cleared with other District agencies and approved early next week. A CTC spokesman said the service could start a week after PUC approval.

Capital Transit has said use of the new bridge will reduce traveling time for some Southeast residents by 15 minutes.

The route sought extends between Livingston Manor in Southeast near the District line to downtown Washington over South Capitol st.

It is called express, although three stops have been added to those listed in the application for extra-fare service. They are on South Capitol st. south of Portland st., at the Naval Photo Laboratory, and at M st.

Buses will be operated at 10 to 15 minute intervals, the application said, leaving from Livingston Manor between 7 a. m. and 8:30 a. m., and from downtown between 4:35 p. m. and 6:10 p. m.

Walking transfers will be issued so passengers can make connections with Congress Heights buses at 1st and Atlantic sts se., the application stated.

95th Infantry Meets

The first business meeting of the Ninety-fifth Infantry Division Association will be held today, 8 p. m., in the Green Room of the Shoreham Hotel. Former members of the division are invited.

Insp. Talley To Retire From Police Force

Metropolitan Police Inspector Clarence Talley, 54, veteran of nearly 33 years in the department, was ordered retired yesterday by District Commissioners because of a heart ailment.

Talley

He has been on sick leave for three months from his duties as assistant superintendent in charge of the uniformed division. An examination last month showed he was suffering from coronary heart disease and hypertension.

After March 31, effective date of the retirement order, he will draw a monthly pension of $302.13 from the Policemen and Firemen's Relief Fund.

Talley is the police member on the District Boxing Commission.

Budapest Quartet Superb In Opening of Spring Series

By Paul Hume

The Budapest String Quartet returned to the Library of Congress last night to open its annual spring series of concerts under the Whittall Foundation.

The great quartet sounded its best in every way. In intonation, nothing could have bettered its playing in Mozart's E Flat quartet of the Haydn series. For rich, balanced sound, the account of Brahms' A Minor Quartet was perfect.

And in the third quartet of Paul Hindemith his opus 22 dated 1922, the Budapest men gave a clear, relaxed version of a fascinating piece of writing.

In speaking of fascination, one can mean something like the Hindemith, with its problematic rhythms and harmonic structure. Or one can mean the endless fascination bound up in the unceasing miracles of Mozart's richest inventions, such as the late E Flat quartet.

In 1922, Hindemith was still experimenting in both form and content. He used a repeated bass figure more than he does in his later writings. And his music had a thicker texture than we hear in it today.

All of this was recalled in the expert way the music was played last night. The slow movement over the steady bass was one of the truly impressive moments of the concert.

Mozart makes such strict demands upon any who perform his music, in whatever form, that to produce a perfect sounding reading of such a sensitive thing as his quartets is a rare achievement. But it is the kind of thing the Budapest Quartet can always do.

5000 Attend Exposition at Maryland U.

Everything from pint-size radio transmitters to the latest house-building techniques were exhibited yesterday by University of Maryland students at an industrial open house in College Park.

An estimated 5000 spectators streamed through the all-day exposition, where they saw how silk is screened and ornate cabinets constructed. They crowded five deep around students who fashioned molds from sand, then poured white-hot aluminum to form castings.

There were demonstrations of metal work, plastics and leather carving, linoleum block printing, machine-shop practices, welding and a number of new visual teaching aids.

The project was planned and conducted by students of industrial education, who acted as lecturers at the various exhibits. All types of student handicraft were on display.

Civil action No. 394-50. ORDER FOR PUBLICATION. The object of this suit is to establish of record the title of the plaintiff by adverse possession in and to: Part of lot numbered six (6) in square three hundred sixty-five (365), better described in complaint and taxed as lot eight hundred seven (807) in square 385, unimproved. Also unimproved lots lettered "A" and "B" in George I. Hall's subdivision in square 385 as per plat recorded in Liber R.W. at folio 129 in the office of the surveyor for the District of Columbia. On motion of the plaintiff, it is this 13th day of March, 1950, ordered, that the defendants, the unknown heirs, alienees and devisees of John McAleer, deceased, and Samuel Stewart, deceased, cause their appearance to be entered herein on or before the first rule day occurring one month after the day of the first publication hereof, otherwise this cause will be proceeded with as in case of default—provided a copy of this order be published once a week for three successive weeks in the Washington Law Reporter and The Washington Post, good cause having been shown why any longer publication is unnecessary (s) R. B. KEECH, Judge. A true copy. Attest: (Seal.) HARRY M. HULL, Clerk. by HELEN F. STRAUSS, Deputy Clerk.

March 18, 25; April 1.

ACREAGE—Attention builders! We have 4 excellent tracts ranging in price from $1,400 to $2,500 an acre; also 1-acre lot at $1,500. ASK-US REALTY CO., OX. 2659, GL. 1252.

HOW would you like to have a perfect setting for your future home—a setting that is far more beautiful than where our White House is located and also more beautiful than where George Washington's Mt. Vernon home is located. This homesite is located directly across from the entrance of Congressional Country Club. Just drive up and down River Road and look at the beautiful homesite, then put your car in low gear and ride right up on the hill and get out of your car and look around on it. This hill has about 16 acres in it. Generous financial aid is available to build a nice Colonial home on this hill. Price for the hill is 18c a square foot.

Ex-Teacher Charges Divorce Bars Job

Private Schools

VA Charged With Waste In Education

The Veterans Administration yesterday was charged with "waste, bad judgment and favoritism" in administering GI education.

The charge was made by Hiram N. Rasely, president of the National Federation of Private School Associations, at the group's second annual congress at the Statler Hotel.

"The Veterans Administration is trying to make private schools the goat to cover up its own mistakes," Rasely told the 400 "fighting mad" delegates attending the convention.

Dr. J. S. Noffsinger, executive director of the federation, said the trade school men are "indignant" over charges made by the VA of widespread abuse by trade schools in the GI program.

He referred to the report made by the VA to Congress in January which cited 258 examples of what it described as abuses. Names of the schools were not given.

Noffsinger said that a survey of 41 approved State agencies brought out only 14 serious cases of abuse.

Delegates who are spending much of their time on Capitol Hill during the three-day convention which opened Friday received support of this view from Representative Olin Teague (D., Texas).

The Texas Congressman in an interview with the Associated Press said the VA charges were "false and distorted." He demanded that VA name the schools, "place the blame where it belongs and clear those schools which have done a good job."

Teague is one of the sponsors of a "GI reform bill" that would modify certain VA practices in the administration of the educational bad judgment and favortism" in administering the federation, is expected to come to a vote in the House Friday.

It would provide funds for inspection and supervision of trade schools by State-approving agencies and would set standards for determining "fair and reasonable" compensation for schools training GI's.

At the closing session today the federation will discuss methods of recruiting civilian students after expiration of the GI program.

Because a man has trouble with his wife, he can't get a job teaching school, it was charged yesterday.

John Mills, former teacher of printing at Stuart, Eliot and Langley Junior High Schools, told a Board of Education committee through his attorney that school officials were using "fine technicalities" to keep him from getting his job back.

Attorney William E. Owen said the real reason was a divorce action brought against Mills by his wife, Mrs. Geraldine Harmon Mills. A limited divorce was granted by the court.

The former teacher said that school officials had even gone so far as to change requirements for the appointment of printing teachers to prevent him from qualifying for reemployment.

Mills, appearing before the board's complaints and appeals committee, asked to be reinstated as a teacher or be permitted to retake an examination that would place him on a list of teachers eligible for appointment.

Mills said he resigned during the divorce action on advice of his lawyer.

School officials explained a teacher can be reinstated only if he has a rating of "excellent" over a five-year period. Mills has four such ratings and one of "very good," it was said.

They pointed out that although Mills once passed the qualifying examination and taught in the schools for seven years, he no longer is eligible to retake the test. Requirements for admission to the examination were raised last spring and Mills lacks the proper college credits. It was denied that the standards were raised to keep Mills out.

Bristol GOP To Name Lady For Congress

Bristol, Va., March 17 (Spl.).—A Republican nominating convention will meet here Saturday to name a Bristol housewife the party candidate to oppose Representative Thomas B. Fugate for Congress from the Ninth Congressional District.

She is Mrs. Hazel Goodpasture, wife of the owner of a truck sales agency here and for many years an active figure in Republican affairs.

Fugate will be renominated by a Democratic convention on March 25.

In a statement today, Mrs. Goodpasture said she "is not actively seeking the nomination," but "stands ready to further the interests of the party."

Eight other possible contenders for the nomination have withdrawn, assuring her of the party's backing.

Bogley Loses Appeals Plea In Zone Fight

Annapolis, Md., March 17 (AP).—It will be up to the Montgomery County Council to settle an "unending" zoning dispute in Bethesda, the Court of Appeals has ruled.

Upholding a decision by Circuit Judge Stedman Prescott of Montgomery County, the court on March 9 dismissed an injunction suit by Samuel E. Bogley.

The decision was a setback for Bogley in his battle for a commercial-zone classification on a tract he own in Bethesda as the site of three proposed stores.

By throwing out the lawsuit, the court left it up to the county council to make a final ruling on the question. The decision was "without prejudice . . . to any proper judicial proceeding after action by the council."

In a unanimous opinion, prepared by Judge Charles Markell, the Appeals Court said:

"This appeal from a decree dismissing a cross-bill is one step in a zoning case that comprises administrative proceedings which, though diligently prosecuted, seem unending.

"The bone of contention is an improved parcel of land, containing less than an acre, bounding on old Georgetown Road and Greentree Road in Montgomery County."

A tumble-down house and a grocery store, listed as a "non-conforming" structure put up before zoning, occupy the land. It was reclassified from "A" residential to "D" commercial in 1948.

Neighbors in 1949 went to court in an effort to void the reclassification and also filed an application with the county council for a reversal of the reclassification. Bogley filed a cross suit to prevent the council from reversing the reclassification.

At Armory

7500 See Scouts Open Exposition

Washington area Boy Scouts, big, little, and medium-sized, made the pages of their Scout Handbook come to life last night as the mammoth Scouting Expedition opened at the National Guard Armory.

More than 7500 spectators jammed the armory to see the 237 stationary exhibits and numerous others performed on stage and roped-off arena.

Pancakes fried, apples baked, spectators tasted, ham radios crackled, breeches buoys zoomed through the air to rescue Scouts stranded on the Armory balcony and signal towers shot up 30 feet in the air as the show got underway.

On stage, bloodthisrty Indians did a snake dance, complete with live snakes as a forlorn white settler burned at the stake.

Executive Chairman William Armstrong called it "the greatest show ever put on by boys." He said advance ticket sales indicated an attendance of more than 20,000 today, the last day of the exposition. The show will run from 2:30 to 10 p. m.

Aid to Turkey Effective, Says U. S. Envoy

A new vitality, a moral distaste for communism and simple, voluntary cooperation are making the Truman doctrine and ECA aid effective in Turkey, the United States Ambassador to that country said last night.

Turkey, Ambassador George W. Wadsworth told the conference of the Middle East Institute at the Shoreham Hotel, bears out the general statement on the Middle and Near East that "there's no place in the world where a well-directed effort can accomplish so much at such a modest cost."

Since the Truman Doctrine began in 1947, Wadsworth said, Turkey's "first-class army" has improved while, during the same period, 100,000 men have been demilitarized and 30,000 animals have been sent back to farm work.

This has been accomplished with an expenditure of less than a quarter of a billion dollars in American money and a half billion dollars worth of American military equipment, Wadsworth said.

With ECA aid, he said, the United States is trying to boost Turkey's exports by 60 to 70 million dollars annually so the nation can sustain a defense budget which currently demands about half of its annual revenue.

Gradually, Wadsworth concluded, the conviction is mounting among the Turks that their country is a part of the West. "I feel if ever there's another world war, Turkey will be on our side."

'Conservative' Fairfax Budget Made Public

A tentative Fairfax County budget of $3,472,205 for the fiscal year starting July 1 was made public yesterday by the county supervisors.

Termed "conservative" by R. M. Loughborough, county executive secretary, the budget does not call for an increase in the tax rate on real estate and personal property of $3.19 for each $100 assessed valuation.

No funds are included for construction of county or school buildings.

In releasing the proposed financial structure for the coming fiscal year, the supervisors scheduled a public hearing for 10 a. m., April 26, at the county courthouse, Fairfax. The budget will be advertised for 30 days before the hearing.

The $3,472,205 budge tis $139,171 more than the amount under which the county will operate through June 30, Loughborough said. The increase will be met without raising taxes, he said, through additional reassessment revenue.

Schools will take up the great part of the budget. A total of $2,670,902 is earmarked for school operation, debt and capital outlay. Of the $3.19 per $100 assessed valuation, taxpayers will spend $2.65 of it on schools, according to the executive secretary. The figure is the same as the current one.

Largest increase in the budget is a $224,340 jump to pay salaries of 50 new teachers and $100 increases to all teachers.

Police costs increase $37,862 under the tentative budget to $195,480. Public assistance jumps $17,887 to a total of $76,243, Loughborough said.

6 Plays Listed In Tournament Finals Today

Six plays in two divisions of a city-wide one-act play tournament conducted by the D. C. Recreation Department have been selected as finalists in the tournament it was announced last night.

The six will be replayed today in competition at the auditorium of Coolidge High School, 5th and Tuckerman sts. nw., beginning at 1:30 p. m. The outstanding play and outstanding player in each class will be chosen and trophies awarded.

A total of 37 plays were entered in the tournament. Competition began at Coolidge High in the sub-junior class and at Taft Junior High in the junior class last Monday.

Sub-junior finalists are: Janney playground, "The Golden Glove," directed by Joan Austin; Stoddert playground, "The Gooseberry Mandarin," directed by Violet Jacques; and Montrose playground, "The Dyspeptic Ogre," directed by Faith Daiak.

Junior finalists are Hillcrest Recreation Center, "Bachelor Girl," directed by Edith Preston; Powell Recreation Center, "Park Light," directed by Ina Schneider; and Kalorama playground, "A Major Operation," directed by Herbert Malone.

After All, Does Macy Help Gimbel?

The operator of a local parking lot has posted a sign which says:

"Yes, We Have No Bananas—And No Nickels For Parking Meters."

GIVE-AWAYS

"Two housebroken 9-month-old kittens; I find it's too much to feed them and a hungry husband to boot. P.S.: I don't really boot him." (Woodley 9032 before 8 a. m. or after 6 p. m.)

"Six adorable 5-week-old puppies; chubby rascals; their mother is part-collie." (Ashton 6516.)

POP GETS HIS PIE

"My poem about my wife being the champion talker got me in the doghouse," writes Rhymster Pop Grey. "So I wrote the enclosed, to square things, and she liked it so much she not only forgave me but promised that if you print it she'll bake me a lemon pie."

I don't see why my doing something should earn a lemon pie for somebody else. But nevertheless, here's the poem:

I loved a lassie, long ago,
A little thing in calico.
Though 40 years have come and gone
Grandma and I go on and on.

NEXT?

Now that everybody and his uncle is seeing flying saucers, Lois LeClair of 5708 Colorado ave. nw. wonders when we're going to start seeing flying cups to match.

ON BEING A PUBLIC SERVANT

One of my constituents sends in an irate report about an illegally parked car assigned to one of our District Commissioners.

The complaint is that the car pulled up in front of Beckers and a fashionably dressed woman alighted and entered the store. Then the chauffeur strolled off to do some window shopping of his own—and let the car stand in a "No Parking" zone, where it blocked traffic for 45 minutes.

I can understand why Joe Citizen might get pretty testy about such a minor occurrence.

When Jo. wants to buy something at Beckers, he must first find a parking place for his car. You see, the District doesn't hire a chauffeur for Joe.

So Joe goes round and round the block, and when he's thoroughly frustrated, he heads for a parking garage. But chances are that, even though he's finally ready to spend some money to park his jalopy, the garage is filled and can't accept any more cars.

Then Joe sees one of our officials park where Joe may not, and Joe sizzles. He says to himself:

"If they'd hire a chauffeur for me, I'd be very happy to have him drive me to my destination, and then pick me up again at some appointed time. I'd have a little more consideration for the citizens under my jurisdiction, and try to set them a better example."

It's not a serious thing, of course. But I do think Joe has a good point.

MAIL BAG

Dear Bill:

Please tell your friend Ham Fisher that he had an error in a recent Joe Palooka strip.

He said that George Washington threw a dollar across the Potomac. But it was not the Potomac; it was the Rappahannock.

Bobby Dameron,
612 Spottswood st.
Fredericksburg, Va.

Dear Bobby:

That's the way I heard the story, too; so it's you and me and the history books against Fisher.

Incidentally, Fisher is no longer my friend. I've crossed him off my list because he's been too tight to make good on his promise to send me an autographed Palooka original for my 5-percenter wall.

As a matter of fact, you might say Fisher is so tight that he is the only man in America who can make a dollar go farther than it did in George Washington's time.

Bill

PERSONAL NOTES

Angry Housewife: If your complaint had been signed, I'd have asked the captain of the precinct to investigate. But I don't think it's fair to ask for such action on the basis of an anonymous letter.

Mrs. J. J. Kaplan, 312 Peabody st. nw.: Inasmuch as the firm does business by mail, it might be a good idea to complain to the Post Office. Postal inspectors are notoriously hardboiled about gyp artists who use the mails.

STREET (CAR) SCENE

Russell "Dutch" Willard of 809 Gail ave., Rockville, Md., assures me that this conversation really took place between a streetcar operator and a woman passenger:

SHE: How much is the fare?

HE: The cash fare is 13 cents.

SHE: May I have a transfer, please?

HE: Sure thing.

SHE: Will you tell me where to get off?

HE: Where are you going?

SHE: Don't be impudent. That's none of your business.

Starts Sunday

O. S. Colclough To Be Honor Guest At GWU Dinner

Oswald S. Colclough, dean and a graduate of the George Washington University Law School, will be honor guest at the annual dinner of the GWU Law Association dinner, Saturday at 7 p. m. at the Mayflower Hotel.

Other features of the banquet will be a speech by Dr. Cloyd H. Marvin, president of the university, and the presentation of the Alumni Award, given to a graduate "in recognition of a distinguished career reflecting honor upon the George Washington University Law School."

4 Injured in Crash

Annapolis, Md., March 17 (AP).—Four youths were injured early today when their car overturned and burned on Ritchie hwy. Flames gutted the sedan after it struck a guard rail. Treated at Anne Arundel General Hospital were Carl Hilprecht, 19, identified as the driver; Ed L. Drury, 19; Charles Meiklejohn, 18, and Theodore Parkinson, 21.

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

Money Lender Joins U. S. Heroes

By Drew Pearson

A forgotten hero of the Revolutionary War, an unspectacular money lender, will soon be immortalized not far from Washington, Lincoln and Jefferson. He was Haym Solomon, the little Jewish patriot who raised the money to fight the Revolution but died penniless without ever receiving a dime back from the Government, whose freedom he financed.

Pearson

Now, after all these years, a memorial is about to be erected in Solomon's honor. This was authorized by Congress 12 years ago upon a motion by Guy Gillette, then Congressman but now Senator from Iowa.

It was left up to private citizens, however, to raise the subscriptions, so the project lay dormant until this year. Now a Haym Solomon Memorial Society has been formed to raise the money, and the chief thing remaining is to have the Commission of Fine Arts approve a design.

Note—At one time George Washington pulled Solomon out of a synagogue to scrape up the cash to meet the army payroll. Solomon also paid Jefferson's and Madison's board bills so they could attend the first Continental Congress.

Senator on Rampage

Stormiest figure on Capitol Hill is North Dakota's fearless Senator "Wild Bill" Langer, who roars at the Senate like an enraged bull moose, is not afraid of the political odds, and kicks his heels at Senate tradition.

No one can predict what Langer will do next, but the Democrats are still burned up over his latest surprise. Out of the clear blue, Langer recessed the Senate the other day right in the middle of its proceedings.

Since the Democrats are steering the Senate, it is Majority Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois, who is supposed to set the quitting time—not Langer, who is a lone-wolf Republican. For a moment, however, not a Democrat was on the floor. And Langer, glancing in both directions, saw his chance to move for a recess. As no one objected, there was nothing the presiding officer could do but recess the Senate.

As the bells rang out this news, Lucas stormed into the Senate chamber where Langer was grinning like a boy who had let school out early. Ignoring Langer, Lucas marched up to Senator Pat McCarran, Nevada Democrat, who had just poked his head in the door to see what was happening. As judiciary chairman, McCarran was in charge of the pending legislation, and it was his responsibility to keep a watch on it.

"I have told you at least six times that you should have somebody on the floor at all times to watch this," Lucas stormed at McCarran. "Your committee is in charge of this legislation."

"Don't you think it would be a good idea if we had a majority leader present once in awhile?" McCarran snorted back.

Angrily, Lucas stalked off. "I guess I'll have to sit here 24 hours a day," he muttered.

Tongue-Lashing

Lucas waited until the next day to give Langer a scolding.

"While I know my friend from North Dakota has voted quite often with Senators on this (the Democratic) side of the aisle," he said, "and I think it was Mr. Drew Pearson who said the Senator would become a Democrat—I did not know that he had gone quite so far as to try to take over the majority leadership of the Senate.

"I think it will be regrettable if the time comes when a Senator cannot indulge in a bit of frivolity, or take a nod or a wink, or perhaps have his attention distracted by some newspaperman in the hall, without some other Senator taking advantage of his absence.

"I know from previous experience," continued Lucas, "that the Senator from North Dakota frequently conceals himself in a parliamentary bush, and at the proper time strikes out with the sharp edge of the wedge . . . (but) I do not want to be ambushed any more by my friend from North Dakota."

Soviet Radio

The American Embassy staff listening to the radio in Moscow hears a fantastic story about what goes on in the United States.

The radio report gives a version of life in the United States which the Kremlin hopes the Russian people will believe. Here are a few samples:

"In the American towns, one man in seven is starving, and three-quarters of the population do not make a minimum income and cannot make ends meet . . . The position of the unemployed is most ghastly . . . Millions of American farmers are leading an impoverished life, wandering about on the roads of the United States . . . The impoverished United States masses are turning to Soviet Russia . . . Tens of millions of American people live in terrible slums . . . Only the rich can afford proper medical care in the United States . . . Enormous unemployment, stark misery and the specter of hunger compel thousands of Americans to travel up and down the country all the time to find occasionally some menial work."

This is an accurate sample of Soviet broadcasting as picked up by American intercepts.

Inside story behind this fantasy is that the Kremlin is desperately trying to take the minds of the Russian people off their own low standard of living and create distrust of the fabulous United States.
